COURAGE gets ready to rally

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

Area politicians, social service workers, educators, law enforcement officials, religious leaders, and concerned parents gathered together in the Grayslake community room to attend the Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment (COURAGE) meeting. Guest speakers Michelle Adams, of Prevention Services/In Touch, and Laurel Dahl, of Fighting Back Task Force, spoke to the audience about Prevention Programming.

"Prevention is not about stopping something," explained Adams. "We are trying to create something. We need to develop a program that will decrease the risk factors."

Dahl talked to the audience about some of the risk factors which may propel young people into gang activity and drug use. She then went on to describe how to reduce the risk factors by developing a strong family and community unit.

Specific risk factors from the family unit, community, school, and peers were discussed. Dahl and Adams then discussed how these units can be used as protective factors instead of risk creators.

According to the two, in order to have a successful prevention program, many different types of community members need to be involved in the program. Most importantly, children themselves must be involved.

"The youth programs that are most successful are the ones that involve the kids from the start," said Adams. "If youth are not involved from the beginning, they will not come to the programs."

The COURAGE group is a four community endeavor dedicated to the education, prevention, and intervention of gangs in Lake County. Lake Villa, Antioch, Grayslake, and Lindenhurst are pooling their resources to stem the flow of gang activity.

Currently, the group is funded and organized through the Lindenhurst Community Partnership. The Partnership was originally formed to help deal with societal issues such as drug and alcohol use and gang activity.

During the meeting, Linda Bergin, acting assistant chairperson of COURAGE, discussed the need to make a formal request to all of the villages involved to begin to contribute funds to the organization. The possibility of grant money from the Illinois DCFS and the Christian Youth Network will be explored. In the meantime, while the group is establishing its organizational form and funding needs, Paul Baumunk,

Emmons school prepares for March referendum

Lakeland Newspapers

Emmons School had its first of a number of planned meetings to get the building referendum drive off the ground. At the preliminary meeting, which included school board members, Superintendent Matt Tabor, and many parents, enrollment projections were presented to illustrate the need for 10 to 14 more classrooms.

Emmons School is one of the two single school independent districts in the Antioch area. The district has experienced a large increase in its enrollment this year. According to Tabor, the increases are a result of homeowner turn-over of

Lakeland Newspapers

Floyd Horton, 100 years-old, finally joined the ranks of VFW Sequoit Post 4551 on Sept. 22. Horton, a 60-year resident of Antioch had been a member of the American Legion for many years.

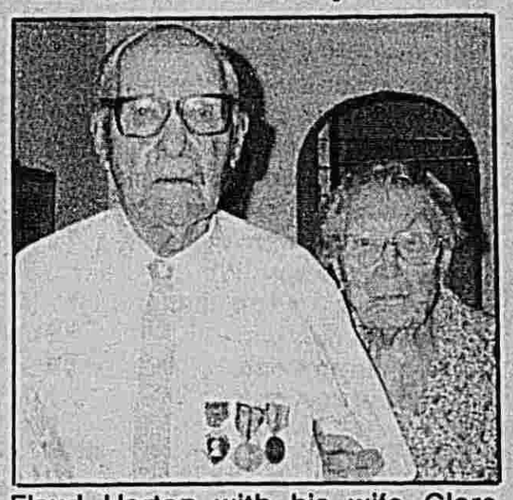

Horton was honored at the 75th Anniversary Commemoration of World War I Veterans. During the ceremony, Horton received a commemorative medal to honor his service in that war.

"They sent us a driver and a car," said Horton. "They lined up military personnel carrying 48 star flags."

The commemorative medal is patterned after the World War I Victory medal which was awarded to US Service personnel who served in the war. In addition to the commemorative medal, Horton also holds a purple heart and medal of freedom.

Horton and his wife of 70 years live in Antioch, and Horton's status was brought to the attention of VFW officials after the anniversary. Apparently, Horton was under the impression that membership in the VFW was by invitation only.

When the misunderstanding was brought to the attention of Al Himber, Public Relations Director of the post, Horton was sworn in by Commander John Kurinec. Horton is the only living World War I member of the post.

Gang-type graffiti sprayed in high school

LAKE ZURICH—Lake Zurich High School's Homecoming week was marred by gang-like graffiti sprayed in several areas throughout the school. Lake Zurich police reports indicated a "responding officer observed several drawings showing respect for the Latin Kings," a prominent Chicago gang, on Oct. 7. Deborah Bruemmer, LZHS assistant principal, said drawings were found in the main gym, the upstairs boys bathroom and an upstairs hallway. She believes the drawings are an isolated incident, as they have not been repeated. The walls were repainted on Monday and no suspects have been identified.

Legislators to address issues at Oct. 23 forum

LIBERTYVILLE — The Illinois state income tax and the problems facing the State of Illinois will be the subjects of a legislative breakfast to be held at 10 a.m. Oct. 23 at the Libertyville Township Hall, 359 Merrill Ct.. Those invited include: State Senators William Peterson, Grace Mary Stern, David Barkhausen and Adeline Jay Geo-Karis; State Representatives Verna Clayton, Lauren Beth Gash, Al Salvi, Virginia Fiester Frederick, Andrea Moore and Robert Churchill.

New school district won't be on ballot

LAKE VILLA— A proposal for a unit school district comprising Lake Villa and Lindenhurst kids from K-12 will not make the March ballot. Supporters say more time is needed to combine two questions into one. They said lining up expert witnesses and holding three hearings is going to be a difficult task in one year. The district also needs to negotiate with other districts it would take students away from.

Corp proposal infuriates mayor

FOX LAKE—"Maybe we'll be allowed to have a pier, maybe we won't," said Fox Lake Mayor Ken Hamsher. The mayor was speaking about what he heard on the news earlier the evening of the village board meeting. Being influenced by environmentalists, the Army Corp. of Engineers along with Waterway Management in Springfield, may not allow any new piers on the Chain O' Lakes and the Fox River, and may reduce the number of boats, 350 to be exact, permitted on the water, according to newscasts.

Lindenhurst Trustee hates voter survey

LINDENHURST—Trustee James Betustak was critical of a survey by Lakeland Newspapers of voter opinion on the current Antioch Community High School referendum. He said the survey was unfairly biased because it had a higher percentage of Antioch residents and not enough of Lindenhurst residents. He said the results were skewed and damaged the efforts of the citizens committee. The survey was taken of 500 residents in both day and night, about 44 percent of survey responses were from Antioch, 36 percent Lindenhurst and 30 percent Lake Villa.

Pancake breakfast to raise funds for SEDOL

VERNON HILLS — The 2nd annual pancake breakfast and raffle to benefit the John Powers Center for the Hearing Impaired will be held from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Oct. 17 at Hawthorn Junior High School. The Center is part of the Special Education District of Lake County and serves over 70 students in-house and another 260 at area schools. The event is sponsored by Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers Restaurant in Vernon Hills and put on by the Parent Teacher Organization of SEDOL. Proceeds will fund school activities and supplies.

Committee sets rally for two school referendums

WAUCONDA—The Wauconda Unit District 118 referendum committee is holding a question and answer seminar concerning the two referendums that will appear on the Nov. 2 ballot so that residents can learn more about the referendum and why district officials feel it is needed. The seminar will be held on Oct. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wauconda High School cafeteria, 555 N. Main St.

Township officials plan luau, name new officers

Lakeland Newspapers

A Hawaiian luau complete with a roasted pig will be featured in conjunction with the annual Township Officials of Lake County dinner.

On Friday, Oct. 15, officials from all eight county townships will be on board at Maravela's in Fox Lake for what is usually a brief dinner/meeting, according to Grant Township Supervisor Gordy Kiesgen.

This year's event happens to include exciting and fun plans, said Kiesgen, and the night will host a parade of officials from every corner of the county, including State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis of the 31st district, Representative Al Salvi of the 52nd district, and Representative Robert Churchill, district 62.

The invite-only dinner party beginning at 6 p.m. will have a section when the township officials on a proposed 1993/1994 slate will be announced.

Among those who will be granted new titles are Phil Leable, Benton Township Highway Commissioner, president; Steven Stanger, Deerfield Assessor, vice president; Faith Sage, Libertyville Township Clerk, recording secretary; Barb Coppel, Deerfield Township Clerk, corresponding secretary; and Sue Hanson, Lake Villa Supervisor, as treasurer.

Directors to be crowned include Richard Harland, Antioch clerk; Gerald Kristan, Avon assessor; John Mullen, Cuba trustee; William Donnan, Ela trustee; Barbara Tonkery, Fremont clerk; Gordy Kiesgen, Grant supervisor; Frank Kaiser, Newport clerk; Charlie Fitzgerald, Shields supervisor; Dave Anderson, Vernon highway commissioner; Joe Dada, Warren assessor; Gerald Beyer, Wauconda trustee; Pat Morris, Waukegan assessor; and Truman Hudson, Zion supervisor.

Car crashes through wall and into store

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

A Round Lake Beach woman suffered minor injuries after she drove her car through a brick wall and into the Eagle store in Round Lake Beach.

The accident occurred on Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 6:40 p.m. The driver, Wendy Novak, 31, 1414 Turnbull, was treated and released from the Condell Hospital. No one else was injured in the accident.

"She reported getting dizzy as she left Rollins and entered the Eagle Parking lot and the next she the remembers when she woke up, she had drove through a 4 foot wall," said Sgt. Harry Kramond of Round Lake Beach Police.

"She must have been going at a high rate of speed to go through a 4-foot thick brick wall," Kramond said.

"We turned and saw it coming through. It happened so fast there was no way to see it, said Eagle Manager Joe Doyle.

The dog food is piled along the wall so no one could see the car coming, according to Doyle.

"All of the sudden the dog food was being pushed forward and you heard a huge noise. Broken glass was flying and all of the sudden the dog food was all over followed by a car," Doyle said.

Doyle said there was a 12-foot wide hole where the car came through. He has no estimate of what the total damage is.

There was some smoke in the store but there was no fire, according to Lt. Bill Swift of Round Lake Fire Protection District.

Kramond said the smoke could have come from the driver still pressing the accelerator as she was still unconscious.

No citations have been issued and the accident is under investigation.

Protect Indian mounds for roadway relocation

BY BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

Protection of Indian artifacts and provision for 100 year rains are part of the road building process these days for the Lake County Div. of Transportation.

Director Martin Buehler said county highway engineers had to protect an authentic Indian burial mound and plan for storm water coming once a century in designing the modernization of the county's steepest intersection and one regarded among the most dangerous.

Ready to spring off the drawing board, Buehler regards the $1.9 million project in Grant Township the county's first to deal with such wide ranging compliance requirements as new stormwater management mandates and a cultural resources review required by the Illinois Dept. of Transportation.

The burial site, situated along busy Wilson Rd. near the Rollins Rd. intersection, was authenticated by University of Illinois experts.

To meet environmental protection requirements, the construction area will be seeded with prairie grass, trees and shrubs.

Regarding the project as a model for the future, the soft-spoken highway chief remarked, "That's the way we do things now."

The Rollins Rd. approach will be rerouted slightly southward through a 10 acre woods the county acquired seven years ago. Four homes in the vicinity were purchased and razed to make way for construction that includes installation of highway signals and lowering of the steepest grade in the county highway system.

Road work and construction stormwater retention basins will use approximately 3.1 acres of the woods which will be left in a natural state. The wooded area shields a residential neighborhood.

Dan Helgren, design engineer, described extensive drainage work necessary to insure water quality of nearby Long Lake, a 675 acre recreational body of water located between Round Lake and Fox Lake.

Storm water will be directed through a swale to a filtering basin that will allow for a slow release to another basin that will be planted with marsh grass. Helgren said the system will filter out contaminants and heavy metals collected in rainwater run-off.

Stormwater collected at the intersection ultimately will run into a pond that will be left undisturbed. Buehler emphasized that the entire relocated roadway is beyond the flood plain.

Four guilty pleas in Dundeal

by SPENCER SCHEIN
Lakeland Newspapers

Four Lake Zurich residents involved in a statewide drug ring dubbed Operation Dundeal pled guilty to drug charges and have been sentenced to serve time in the Illinois Department of Corrections.

Paul A. Lopez, 35, pled guilty to one count of unlawful possession of a controlled substance and was sentenced to serve 7 years in prison with credit for time served and good time credit on Oct. 12, a Lake County Circuit Court Clerk spokeswoman said.

Leopold Ischer, 27, pled guilty to criminal drug conspiracy and was sentenced to six years, and Eli Zepeda, 30, who pled guilty to a straight plea of narcotics racketeering and was sentenced to six years, she said.

Richard Ischer, 25, Leopold's brother, entered a negotiated plea of narcotics racketeering on Oct. 4 and was sentenced to serve four years in prison, a spokeswoman said.

Brent Schwarz, 35, also of Lake Zurich, had his case continued for trial on Oct. 18.

The defendants were among 15 individuals indicted in the first statewide grand jury cumulating from a two-year investigation of the drug ring.

Preserves provide haven for endangered species

by CLAUDIA M. LENART
Lakeland Newspapers

A hundred or more years ago, the landscape stretched across Lake County wending from woodlands to prairie to wetland. Many native plants and animals, such as the prairie white fringed orchid and the yellow-headed blackbird, found conditions at these natural sites perfect. They reproduced and proliferated.

But as man and development interceded, the wetlands, the woodlands and the prairies dwindled. Some species disappeared altogether, while others diminished.

Yet, Lake County with its forest preserve system and open lands is still home to many species that are threatened or endangered in Illinois. In fact, Lake County is home to more endangered and threatened species than any other county in the state.

There are 26 endangered or threatened vertebrates and 125 endangered or threatened plants. According to Frank Drummond, wildlife biologist for the Lake County Forest Preserves, an endangered species is any species endangered of extinction in Illinois, while a threatened species is one likely to become endangered.

The wealth of native species in Lake County Forest Preserves has drawn The Nature Conservancy to support the preserves in its $30 million bond referendum campaign. Supporting the forest preserve is one way The Nature Conservancy can meet its mission of preserving biodiversity. The forest preserve has earmarked up to $20 million for land preservation. Up to $10 million is earmarked for improvements and restoration of public use facilities and natural areas.

"Here we are in Lake County with remnants of our national heritage," said Al Pyott, executive director of the Conservancy's Illinois Field Office. "We'll do what we can so these places can be saved for this and future generations."

Outside of this campaign, The Nature Conservancy is involved in helping preserve Lake County's biodiversity yearround through its Volunteer Stewardship Network (VSN).

"The Volunteer Stewardship Network was created by The Nature Conservancy to work with the forest preserves," said Tom Vanderpoel, VSN regional ecologist for all of Lake County. "The Forest Preserves are 100,000 plus acres and they have small staffs who can't do it all. The Nature Conservancy had the foresight that the only way to save it is to get people out there as volunteers."

Volunteer stewards are involved in ecological management, education; they serve as watchdogs and try to recruit volunteers.

Ecological management includes brush cutting, prescribed burning, weed control, seed collecting and monitoring sites.

This fall, volunteers were out collecting seeds of the white prairie fringed orchid, a federally endangered species. They will be distributed to areas throughout Chicagoland for sowing and monitored for five years when, if successful, the plants will produce the beautiful flower.

Of course, long-term success of the species is pronounced if the species begins to reproduce at the site.

Ecologists have had some success with reproduction of the white prairie fringed orchid, however, sowing of the seeds in the wild is tricky and it's speculated that the plant needs a specific fungi to thrive.

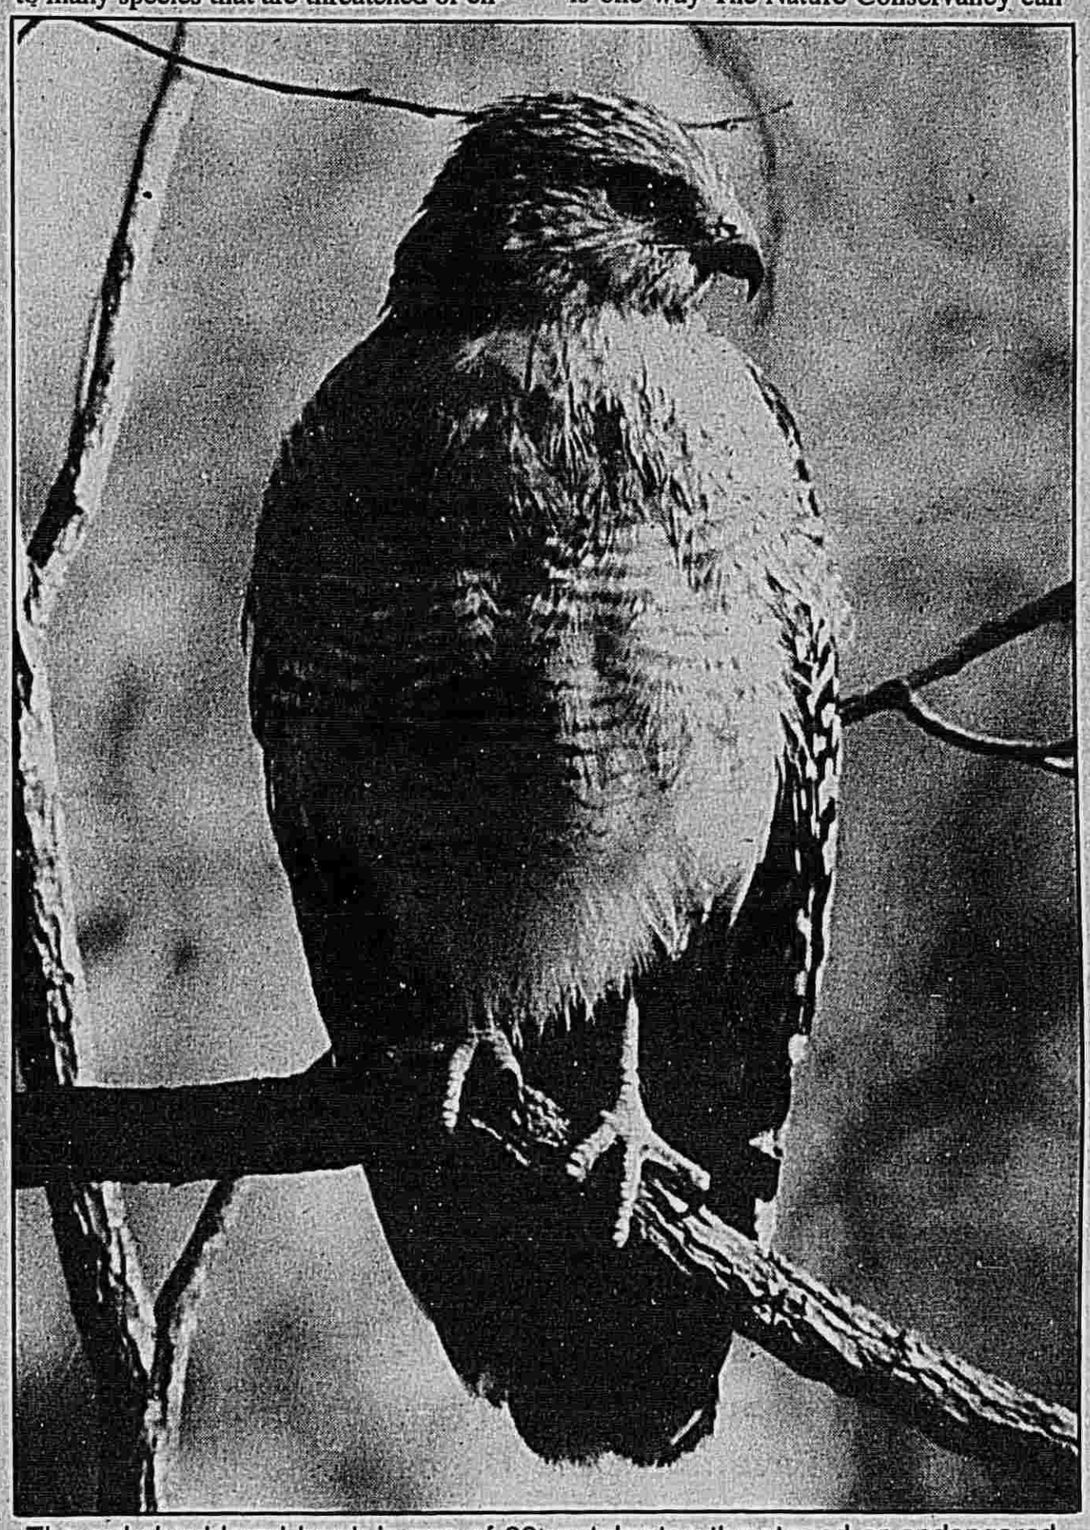

"Had we been here 150 years ago, we might have found the white fringed orchid all over the place," said Vanderpoel. He explained the white fringed orchid is a conservative species. "If there is any disturbance, the conservative species is the first to fall off," said Vanderpoel.

Efforts to preserve animal species involve preserving their habitat. One such species is Blanding's turtle, a state endangered species found in Cuba Marsh. The turtle needs grasslands to survive. Much of Lake County's grasslands have either disappeared to development or have filled up with brush and the non-native buckthorn. Volunteer stewards' job in these situations is to clear away the brush.

"Blanding's turtle lives for quite a few years, but I don't know that anyone has ever seen a baby turtle. That makes me worried," said Vanderpoel.

Restoration of animal and insect species becomes complicated because they often depend on specific plants which have diminished. "It's hard to restore certain animals if you don't have a healthy food chain. Other animals, we will have to bring back in. You have to build up from the bottom of the food chain," said Vanderpoel.

Restoration and preservation of Lake County's rare species involves many hours from devoted volunteers and little by little progress is being made. Vanderpoel, as head of the volunteer stewards, echoed a sentiment that many probably feel. "You have a love of nature and care so much that you can't walk away from the responsibility. Like anything in life, somebody has to step up and do it."

The red-shouldered hawk is one of 26 vertebrates threatened or endangered that lives in Lake County Forest Preserves. If a $30 million forest preserve bond referendum passes, the county would have greater ability to preserve the nesting grounds of endangered species.—Photo by Glenn Jahnke

Savage will not plead insane

by SPENCER SCHEIN
Lakeland Newspapers

Gail Savage remained in foot shackles as she was denied bond and sent back to her cell in the Lake County Jail by Judge Charles Scott.

Savage, 30, charged with first degree murder for killing her three infants in three separate years, beginning in 1990, now awaits a pretrial date of Nov. 10, with the trial set to start Nov. 15.

During the Oct. 6 hearing, Robert Hauser, her attorney, had argued the case against her was weak because there was no proof the three babies had been killed.

Two state witnesses testified Savage had confessed to suffocating the children with a blanket during an interview on Sept. 9.

Dr. Eugene Choi, a pathologist who conducted autopsies on the babies, also testified, saying while he found no internal injuries or trauma to the children, it is unlikely for more than one infant to die of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome within the same family.

He had concluded Michael, the Savage's first baby, died of SIDS on Nov. 5, 1990, after being found in his crib six-weeks after being born.

The causes of death of three-week old Amber, on Feb. 5, 1992, and five-month-old Cynthia on June 26, were left as undetermined.

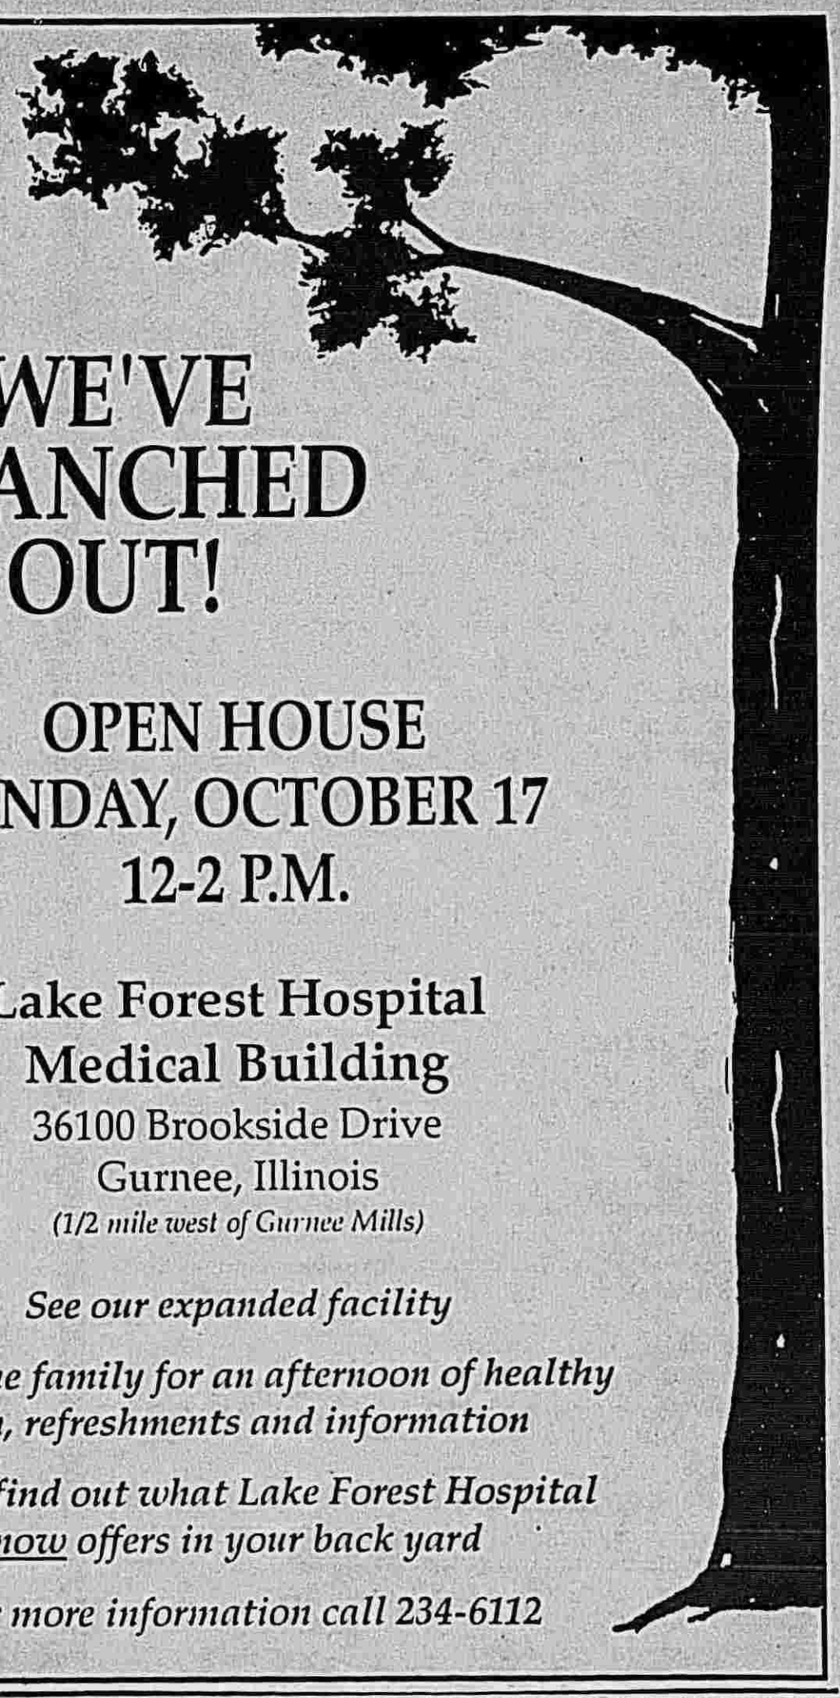

A multi-level agency investigation was started after the third death made state and Lake County officials suspicious.

Hauser indicated he will not use insanity as a defense for Savage.

Assistant State's Attorney Claudia Kasten said Scott granted the state's request for a psychological and psychiatric examination to be conducted.

James Savage, Gail's husband, has not been named as a suspect.

If convicted in two or more of the deaths, Savage would face life imprisonment, as the state has decided against seeking the death penalty.

Home rule

Mayor Ralph Davis, if you are not trying to pass home rule through your silence, then how do you explain about putting it on the ballot? It only gave us 10 weeks to consider it before voting on it.

Who is a moron?

This is to the distinguished gentleman who called me a moron for not realizing that after he put his $.25 in the slot to get his shopping cart, that he would get it back. But, did he ever realize that only a moron would put in the $.25 in the first place. Nowhere else, in any other store, you need to do this. Sir, if you enjoy doing this, you are the moron.

Or an idiot?

This is to the idiot who complained about the cart deposit. If you had noticed, you would get the money back if you return the cart. Didn't you notice there were no loose carts out there to dent your car? Think, buddy.

Not fooling him

When I went to the Antioch High School meeting, there was a banker, a Realtor, many teachers, a part-time school employee who makes $17,000 a year, and some citizens. In my opinion, they are trying to convince people to vote yes in the school referendum by saying that the citizens of District 117 are spear-heading it. Also, what is BEST's address? They bring out the truth. By the way, I think that Lipservice is the best thing that Lakeland has started because they bring out the truth and give people a chance to talk.

Clear view

I live on Route 59 and Monaville. Thank you to whoever cleared off the corner. It is so nice to be able to see when you are making a turn.

Family matters

Wouldn't it be nice if Ann Wienke used her column for something a little more worthwhile. Instead, she writes about her family every time they sneeze. We are sick of her family. There are a couple other families in the area she could write about.

Skillet thief

I am a demo person who works out at the Round Lake Omni. Several weeks ago I left a black griddle on the bottom of a shopping cart. I hope, whoever found it, is enjoying it without the accessories. It should have been turned into the service desk.

Waving victory

I would like to congratulate the flag corps of Fox Lake. They took "best" in flags at the Palos Hills competition. It is about time these girls get their just reward.

Shopping carts?

All this complaining about lazy cops, train whistles, and misspent tax dollars. Fellow Lake Countians, be grateful for the small things in life like the new shopping carts at Omni.

Thanks

I want to say "thank you" to all the moms and dads who, every morning are out there on the road watching the kids at the bus stops. All their efforts are appreciated.

Appreciated boss

Happy Bosses Day to you, Tom, at Remington Industries. You are number one. And, Jenny too. I am from Fox Lake.

A realist

There are so many fake people in this world. I go to Stevenson High School and I try to walk down the hall and not to see one fake person, but it is impossible. Stop trying to impress each other. It really gets on my nerves.

Play on

I would like to congratulate the Grant High School marching band for coming in third at the Oct. 3 contest. Great job. Keep it up kids.

Speedy neighborhood

I am a new resident of the older section of Grayslake. I am appalled at the speed in which cars travel through the streets. Where are the police when you really need them? Let's get on the ball.

Special recreation

Registration has begun for the fall program season for the Lindenhurst Special Recreation Assn. A few of the highlights for this upcoming season include an Early Childhood program on Saturday mornings and the annual Jukebox Saturday Night Dance. Lindenhurst S.R.A. provides recreational programs for people who need special assistance and staff that may not be provided in park district programs in Lindenhurst, Lake Villa and Antioch. For further information regarding S.R.A.-Lindenhurst, contact Bruce Barrett at 356-6011.

Downtown plan

The ordinance amending the downtown section of the comprehensive plan was approved by the Antioch Village Board.

Red ribbon week

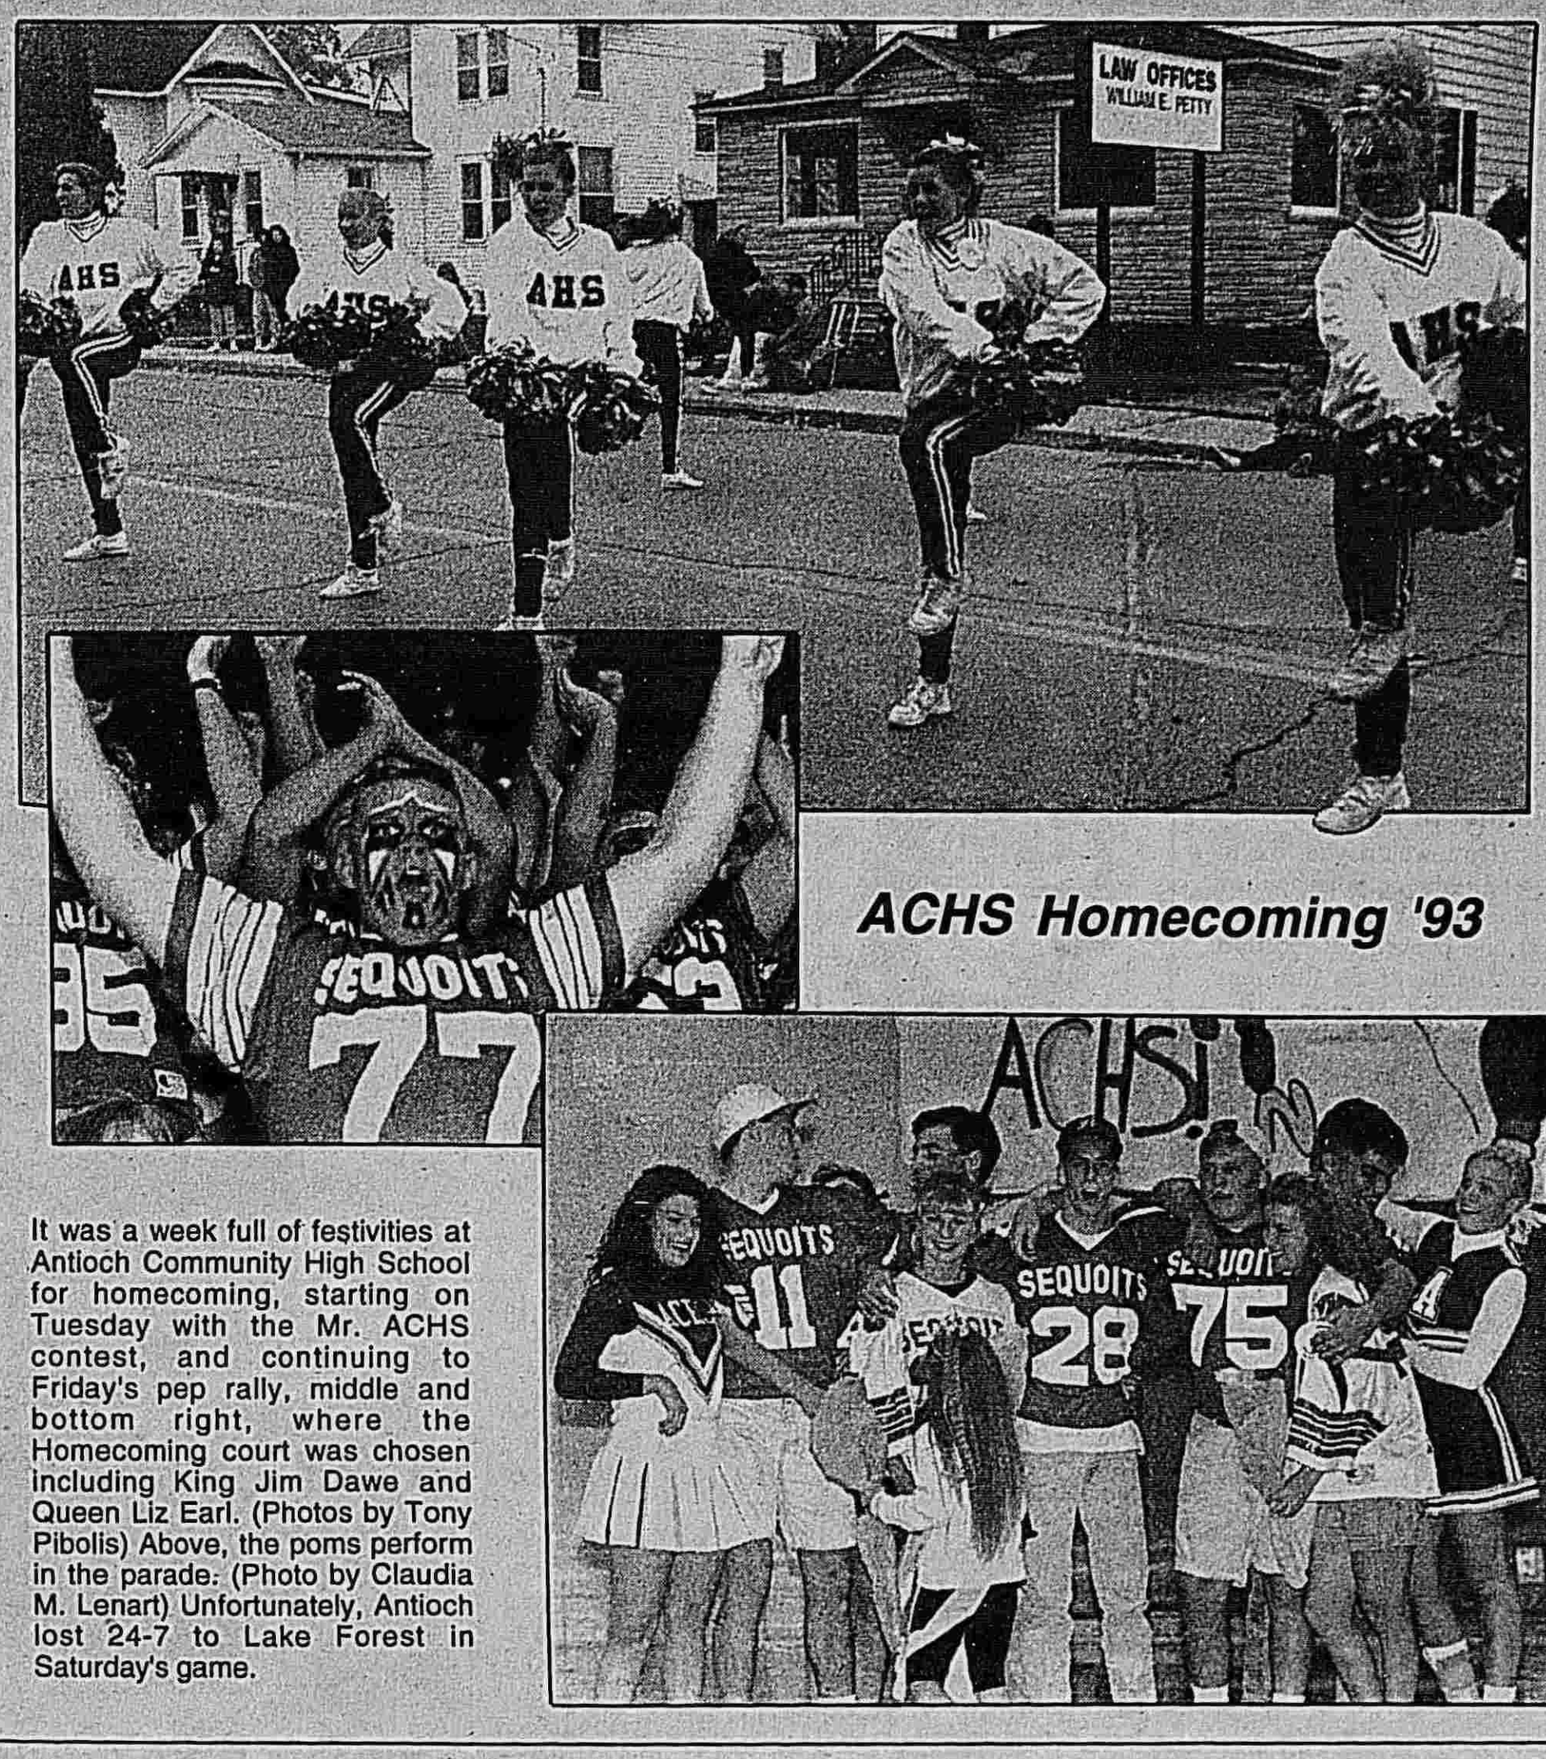

National Red Ribbon Week will be from October 23-31. This year, President Bill Clinton is the honorary chairperson. Red Ribbon Week is aimed at educating, mobilizing, and involving communities to eliminate drugs in the community. It is expected that the Antioch Village Board will issue a proclamation at the next meeting.

Footlights fun

St. Peter's Parish and school is getting ready for "Footlights," an entertainment extravaganza, on the evenings of Nov. 5 and 6, and Nov. 12 and 13. It's 10 rooms of music, dancing, comedy shows, restaurant and a full casino. Lake County's own "Grease" band will perform '50s and '60s. Tickets are available at the door, $8 on Friday and $10 on Saturday. Doors open at 6 p.m. For advance ticket purchase or more information call 395-0274.

Ready to march

It's not too early to think about getting into the Holiday spirit. The Village of Antioch's Annual Thanksgiving/Christmas parade will be held on Saturday, Nov.. 27, at 9 a.m. This year's parade will begin on Hillside Ave. and continue on Lake St. concluding on Orchard St. There is no fee to enter the parade.

ACHS Homecoming '93

It was a week full of festivities at Antioch Community High School for homecoming, starting on Tuesday with the Mr. ACHS contest, and continuing to Friday's pep rally, middle and bottom right, where the Homecoming court was chosen including King Jim Dawe and Queen Liz Earl. Work completed at Abbey Estates

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

According to the developer, DiPaolo Company of Glenview, the repairs necessary for the Abbey Estates subdivision have been completed. The subdivision had been declared an emergency after the developer failed to complete the necessary improvements required by previous Antioch Village Board action.

The subdivision is located on Nelson Road, south of the Wisconsin border. At this time only one house has been built in the project. The area had been experiencing problems concerning inadequate erosion control, storm water drainage, and inadequate street paving.

"The items that were listed have been completed," reports Joe Huber of the Antioch Public Works. "He is actually doing extra work now."

The declaration of emergency would have allowed the Village of Antioch to go in and make the necessary repairs up to a cost of $15,000. These costs would then have been passed onto the developer.

The Antioch Village Board originally declared the area an emergency in June. The resolution allowed the village to bid on the work with a cost limit of $20,000. That declared emergency terminated on Aug. 23, 1993.

However, the developer has completed the necessary repairs and no further action is required by the village. According to Huber, the developer, DiPaolo is excited about building on the sites.

"These are nice, one-half acre lots with city water and sewer," said Huber. "I wouldn't mind living in one of those myself."

Lake Villa Unit School proposal is postponed

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

The proposal for the Lake Villa Unit District won't be on the March ballot.

Supporters of the plan say there are two questions on the ballot and to combine them into one question couldn't be in time for the deadline for a March referendum.

"It's not on the March ballot because legally it's too complicated to combine the two issues in time," organizer Joyce Henneberry said. Even to set up our three hearings and get Ed Gonwa (regional superintendent of schools) and schedule expert witnesses is difficult."

Henneberry said the delay will be both negative and positive.

"It's good because it gives us more time, and bad because it prolongs the issue," Henneberry said.

The original proposal called for two questions on a referendum. One was 'Do you support a unit school district in Lake Villa?' Another would ask if voters support the $25 million to construct a new school. The referendum would have had to pass in all school districts who take in Lindenhurst and Lake Villa students.

The plan calls for a combined district of Lindenhurst and Lake Villa students from K-12 in most of the Lake Villa Township with the exception of the western area. The proposal includes taking the Millburn and Oakland Grade School buildings.

Henneberry said some of the supporters were to meet on Thursday to determine a new timeline.

The proposal may change from its present form as the committee of 10 reviews the plan and meets with other districts.

"We will examine the issue to the fullest. There is an examination process we all need to go through," Henneberry said.

Ann Kakacek is an ACHS teacher who excels

Special award

The name Kakacek has been well known in the Antioch area for many, many years. Ann Kakacek has been an English teacher at Antioch Community High School for almost twenty years. She will be presented an "Award of Recognition" by the Illinois State Board of Education. This award is part of the 1993-94 "Those Who Excel in Education" award program sponsored by the state.

Anyone who has had the pleasure of knowing Ann Kakacek knows she definitely excels both as a person and as a fine, caring teacher. Congratulations, Ann.

Time to shop

How would you like to get a jump on your holiday shopping? You can do this at one convenient location consisting of 50 different mini shops. Stop in at the Antioch Community High School north gym on Saturday, Oct. 23, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to enjoy a shopping spree at the Second Annual Peddler's Alley Craft Fair, sponsored by the Student Assistance Program.

Fifty area arts and crafters will be on hand displaying a large variety of beautiful hand-made items. The proceeds will benefit the Student Assistance Program which is responsible for planning drug-free activities and programs for ACHS students.

Scholars

Antioch Community High School is pleased to nominate the following seniors for the Tandy Technology Scholar Awards, Kin Wirsing, Erica Behling, Jennifer Mosier, Sarah Ayres, Maxine Olson, Amanda Barigat, David Schran and Tim Grabowski. Kin Wirsing is the Tandy nominee for mathematics and Amy Reijonen is the nominee for science.

Recycle

To help generate funds for the beautiful new playground at Grass Lake School, the "Friends of the Playground" committee will be sponsoring a recycling center at Grass Lake School. The first drop off date will be Saturday, Oct. 23 at 8 to 11 a.m.

The following items will be accepted, scrap aluminum, aluminum cans, brass and cooper, and for a small donation old car batteries will be taken for disposal. Plans are in the making to have the Grass Lake School recycling center open the second Saturday of each month. For more information, you may call 395-6972.

The benefits of this recycling program will be three fold, it will help you clean out your garages or storage sheds, help maintain a cleaner, healthier environment and help generate funds for "Friends of the Playground" fund raising committee at Grass Lake School.

Congratulations

Two Antioch High School teachers have been selected to present their research at the National Council of Teachers of English Spring Conference in Portland, Oregon. This research conducted by two veteran teachers, John Whitehurst and Jon Hansen, focuses on promoting more effective learning in the classroom. Their work over the past two years has helped high school students improve their communication skills in both speaking and writing. Congratulations on a job well done.

Semi finalists

Morgan Hirst and Marc Enevold have been named as semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition. They are among a select group of seniors who have received this honor. Morgan Hirst is the son of Margaret and Rick Schmude of Lake Villa and Ron Hirst of Chicago. Marc Enevold is the son of Sharanne and Jack Whitmer of Lindenhurst. They will both continue in the competition toward finalist status. Congratulations and good luck in the next leg of the competition.

Do it

Don't forget the St. Ignatius, All-U-Can-Eat Turkey Dinner this Saturday, Oct. 16 from 4 to 8 p.m. Please remember it will be held at St. Peter's Church gymnasium. The price for a delicious turkey and dessert menu is only $7 for adults and $4 for children. The public is invited, even more than that, the public is encouraged to come. The evening will consist of a delicious dinner, friendly conversation, relaxing music, a white elephant sale and fantastic raffle prizes. Sounds like an excellent way to spend a fall evening. Do it!

Happy camper

P.J. Brankin of Antioch recently spent five days at Camp New Hope in Matoon, Ill. This is Patrick's fourth visit to the camp and he enjoyed bunking in a cabin with seven other boys. This visit was made possible by the Antioch Jaycees who sponsored his trip to camp.

P.J. and his parents, Donna and Ric, would like to thank the Jaycees for their fine efforts on his behalf. Camp New Hope is a fun summer camp for children with "special needs." A participant in the program must be at least eight years of age. P.J. and his new friends at the camp enjoyed swimming, boating, fishing, outdoor education and many sport activities.

Special message

Once again I am very impressed by the loving actions of a young dad. When little Tommy Miller came to Camp Crayon on Tuesday, Sept. 28, he proudly carried a note from his dad. He showed it to his friends, he showed it to Miss Marie, Miss Mary, Miss Lois and also to me. He would put it safely into his pocket, only to take it out again to look at the words he could not read. However he knew what it said as mom or dad must have read it to him, as did each of us.

The note contained a short poem, written by dad, encouraging Tommy to have a good day. At the bottom of the page was a cute piece of art work indicating that Tommy was obviously dad's big, strong boy. As I watched Tommy constantly enjoying dad's loving message, I realized one more time how little it takes to help a child have a good day, to let them know how special they are, and to reinforce how much you care. Great work, daddy Miller, in case you didn't know it you made your son's day!

Siblings

I always enjoy siblings attending the same sessions at Camp Crayon. Little Mikey Lehmann started camp the week prior to his younger brother Stevie. He naturally has taken Stevie under his protective, brotherly wing. The first day Stevie fell asleep laying next to Mikey in our activity circle. The next day when we saw Stevie lay down on his rug mat about to enter slumber land, we suggested he sit up in order not to fall asleep. However, when I saw him eventually put his head on Mikey's lap and Mikey gently stroking his little, blonde head, I could not intervene. I thought so be it, let the little one catch a few winks and in turn give the brothers something to talk about and remember for years to come, "Hey, Steve, remember when we were little and you fell asleep on my lap at Camp Crayon?"

I certainly will, as this is definitely one of those special moments working with the little ones of the Camp Crayon Program that makes the job so personally rewarding.

AARP hears from CAN

At their meeting on Sept. 28, members of Antioch Area Chapter 387 of the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP) heard of the exciting changes to take place in Antioch during the next two years. Jim Myerdahl of the Community Action Now (CAN) organization showed slides picturing the locale of re-development in downtown Antioch. Cooperation of all concerned citizens is necessary to make this project succeed and members were invited to attend the next CAN meeting at the National Bank on Oct. 27. Myerdahl was asked many questions by the interested audience and explained many of the ways that CAN will try to fulfill their suggestions.

Carl McWherter of the First Chicago Bank presented a check to President Horsch for new accounts opened at the bank by members of the Chapter. Nick Egaroff told members the bank will be conducting a 55-Alive class for AARP at the Senior Center in the near future. Watch for further details about this driving class for seniors.

Because members protested the many brown bag days scheduled this coming year, Ellen Courteous, who is in charge of catering parties, agreed to have more catered lunches before regular meetings. A revised schedule will be announced at the next meeting.

Glen Peterson, tour chairman, has planned a trip to a casino in Wisconsin on Oct. 22. He is also planning an Octoberfest trip on Oct. 20 and "Babes in Toyland" for December. Call Glen at (414)857-7492 for further information.

An additional collection was taken for the flood victims of Illinois and brought our previous total up to $100 to be distributed to the flood victims.

Bingo was enjoyed after the meeting adjourned and numbers were called by Winnie Rasmussen.

Youth soccer grows

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

Lindenhurst Youth Soccer has been a success, for more than 13 years thrilling kids and parents alike.

From a beginning group of 120 kids and eight teams in 1980, the league has grown to over 1,100 boys and girls with 70 teams this year. The league utilizes over 200 volunteers to coach, officiate and care for the grounds, according to Ron Wetzel, one of the league founders.

"The kids love to run around and get involved," Wetzel said. "In baseball, especially the younger kids don't want to play the outfield and stand around."

Wetzel said one of the best parts of the league is it gives youth something constructive to do.

"It's good exercise. There's nothing for the kids to do except for sports programs," Wetzel said.

The kids are evenly split between Antioch, Lindenhurst, and Lake Villa. The rest of the kids come from Gurnee, Grayslake, Ingleside and from Wisconsin, according to Wetzel.

From summer to fall, there are 75 games a week on Saturday. The kids are divided by age and play from ages 5-14. The boys and girls teams are separated.

All of these kids have the opportunity to compete and learn the value of teamwork.

"Each kid is required to play at least half a game. They learn to be team members and to get along with each other," Wetzel said.

The skill level of these kids is quite high. There are 13 traveling teams and they compete against some of the best teams in the state.

"We have had several winners in regional tournaments. They are in the feeder program for Antioch High School which is getting better and better," Wetzel added.

The program has seen a steady increase in participation. We have about a 10 to 15 percent increase every year. About 85 to 95 percent of the kids come back the next year."

Games are played at Polley Field, Oakland Elementary and Forest View Park.

To support the league, dues are collected and fundraisers are held. There is a nine-member executive board that handles the scheduling and rules of the league. The board has coordinate the upkeep of the grounds. Also subcommittees with various responsibilities to insure needed organization or work is done.

It costs kids only $40 and they play 15 games a year. Included in the fee is a shirt and shorts.

ACHS board is challenge says Earl 'Bud' Newton

Lakeland Newspapers

Incumbent District 34 school board member Bud Newton enjoys the challenge of working for the community. Besides his position on the school board, Newton is the co-chairperson for Antioch's Arbor Day and a member of the Antioch Commission for the Environment.

Antioch's District 34 has four seats open this year and Newton is one of the two candidates who have declared themselves. Newton, a lifelong resident of Antioch has three children attending District 34 schools. When not doing community service, Newton is a dentist with a practice in Racine, Wisconsin.

When asked why he was rerunning, Newton said, "I enjoy giving something back to the community. It is a challenge." Overall, Newton feels that his experience on the board has been a positive one.

How local schools will meet the needs of students with the continual decrease in state aid is one of the challenges Newton thinks schools must face. Furthermore, he feels that District 34 must address issue of growth in the area.

Earl 'Bud' Newton

Newton feels that his goals have not changed since he began on the school board. "Our number one objective is the quality of education," he explained. "We must prepare students for the future."

Overall, Newton seems happy with the schools in District 34. He points to the high scores achieved by students. "We are doing well," said Newton.

Biel sees overcrowding in lower grade school

Lakeland Newspapers

Aileen Biel, Antioch Community High School Board candidate, is in a position to gauge the future needs of the high school. As a librarian for Antioch Grade School, she sees enrollment increasing and realizes that in the future these same students will be entering ACHS.

"I see the overcrowding down in the grade schools," explains Biel. "We are going to need more space."

Biel is also an advocate of better education. She has voted yes in all the past school referendums. Biel intends to vote yes in the upcoming referendum as well.

"I am in favor of anything that would give kids a better education," said Biel. "To do anything less would just be unfair to the children."

Biel has four children, all graduates of ACHS. They are in varied fields but Biel feels that they all received a good education at the school. According to Biel, when her children attended college they found that they had been adequately prepared by ACHS.

When asked why she decided to run for a position on the board at this time she answer quite frankly.

"I was concerned that a member of the BEST (Better Education/Sensible Taxes) group would run for the positions available, said Biel. "I have lived in this community for many years. It has been good to me and I want to give something back."

Biel is also concerned about the physical structure of the school building. On a recent tour, Biel expressed surprise about the older sections of the school. She feels that even if the Lake Villa Unit School District does gets off the ground, ACHS still needs to do some construction work.

"I know that even if Lake Villa moves out, Antioch Community High School will still need a major renovation."

New park work continues

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

A new park is in the works off Route 173 in Antioch. Heron Harbor has donated and is developing a new park for the community.

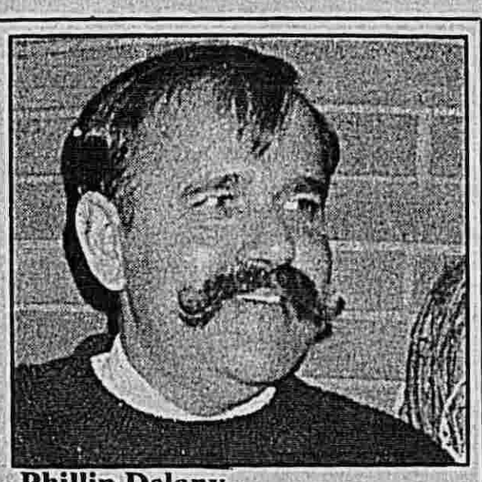

The park will have soccer fields and a pavilion. Some of the work on the new park has already been completed.

"The soccer field has been seeded, "said Tom Small the developer. "The paving will be done next week."

At this time, the park has not been named. It is located on Route 173, just West of Route 59, across from the Jewel Food Store.

A letter, dated Oct. 1 was sent to the Antioch Village Board from Park Board Chairman Don Zeman recommending action be taken because the park improvements had not yet occurred. Tim Well's, village administrator, asked the board to grant a 30-day extension because Zeman had not been made aware of the work in progress.

The grading and gravel work have been done on the park entrance and black topping will begin next week. The board granted the 30-day extension, and, according to Small, Antioch will have a new park by next summer.

Informational meetings set for ACHS referendum

Lakeland Newspapers

In an effort to inform the voting public about the upcoming Antioch Community High School education fund referendum, a series of public meetings will be held. It is hoped that these meetings will increase the voters knowledge of the issues surrounding the referendum.

In a recent poll by this newspaper, some respondents seemed confused by the referendum. Many thought it related to building issues.

"This is not a building issue," said Molly Hughes, ACHS staff member and referendum liaison, in a press release. "Not only is the request of $.27 more pleasing to the pocketbook than the previous request, it also addresses solely educational needs."

Beginning on Oct. 13, there will be meetings held every Wednesday evening at the ACHS Commons at 7 p.m. These meetings will be open to the public and will continue through Oct. 27. There will be a speaker at these meetings and information will be available.

'Not only is the request of $.27 more pleasing to the pocketbook than the previous request, it also addresses solely educational needs.'
— Molly Hughes

The steering committee will be making a presentation to the Antioch Township Board on Thursday, Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. On Monday, Oct. 18 the group will address the Antioch Village Board at the Village Hall at 7 p.m.

On Wednesday, Oct. 20, there will be a meeting at the ACHS Board Candidate Forum at 7 p.m. at the ACHS Commons.

Chamber of Commerce not just for businesses

Lakeland Newspaper

Antioch's Chamber of Commerce is one of Antioch's best kept secret resources. No matter whether you are looking for something to do on the weekend or where to buy discount clothing, the chamber can help.

Many people think that a chamber of commerce is a place where business people gather. But, with the hundreds of maps, pamphlets, and flyers residents could find different attractions 52 weeks a year.

The staff at Antioch's Chamber of Commerce is very knowledgeable of the area and local going-ons. The Chamber prepares a calendar of events and a monthly newsletter.

The office has information available concerning public safety, culture, banking, utilities, television stations, recreation, education, schools, churches, and even demographics.

"We have a lot of new people coming into town," explains Vivian Tauscheck-Dost, one of the Chamber's secretaries. "We provide a lot of tourism information and we are listed in the Illinois Tourism Guide."

Of course, the Chamber still helps new businesses in the area. Nevertheless, it is a virtual untapped resource of current events in the area.

Lindenhurst trustee blasts ACHS referendum survey

by ALEC JUNGE
Lakeland Newspapers

A Lindenhurst trustee criticized a phone survey by Lakeland Newspapers for doing a "disservice" to the referendum.

Trustee James Betustak said the survey was "skewed" because it had a majority of Antioch residents and not enough representation from other areas, especially Lindenhurst. He said the survey is misrepresenting the true feelings of voters on the Antioch High School referendum issue.

"The survey done by Lakeland Newspapers was a disservice to the citizens of Lindenhurst. It took more responses from Antioch which has a negative view and misrepresented the data," Betustak said.

Betustak claimed the results will have a negative impact on the citizen's committee's attempt to pass the referendum.

"There were less responses from Lindenhurst which has supported education in the past. That survey gives the impression it is bound for defeat in the election. It's a skewed survey and is unfair to the citizen's committee who are working hard," Betustak said.

The survey was taken with the cooperation of the citizen's committee who helped draft the questions. Over 500 residents were surveyed. About 44 percent were from Antioch, 36 percent from Lindenhurst and 30 percent from Lake Villa.

In the survey, 58 percent of voters said they would vote no to the referendum while 42 percent said they would vote yes.

Trustee David Erickson said the survey is just that, a sample of what citizens felt on the issue. The survey was taken at day and night for the issue to provide a better cross-section of voters.

"The article expresses the sentiment of the community and should be accepted as that," Erickson said.

The referendum on the November ballot calls for a 27 cent increase in the school's education fund. The education fund has a deficit of $2 million.

It's turkey time early

by MARY FOLEY
Lakeland Newspapers

The 40th Annual St. Ignatius Turkey Dinner is scheduled for Oct. 16 at St. Peter's gymnasium from 4 to 8 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door.

On the menu is, of course, turkey and stuffing, mashed potatoes and squash. Delicious homemade desserts will be available. Beverages include pop, wine, or beer.

The price of the tickets are $7 for adults and $4 for children. Also, carry-outs will be available.

In addition to the dinner, a raffle will be held. A Bear's football jersey, autographed by Steve McMichael is just one of the many prizes. Doug Buffone, owner of the Front Row Restaurant has donated Chicago Bear tickets that will also be raffled off.

Father Eckholm, of St. Ignatius Church hopes that everyone will attend. According to Eckholm, "If you want to go to heaven, you must buy a ticket."

Teacher recognized

Antioch Community High School teacher Ann Kakacek will be presented an Award of Recognition by the Illinois State Board of Education at an awards banquet held in early October. The award is part of the 1993-94 Those Who Excel Education awards program sponsored by the state. Kakacek has been an English teacher at ACHS for nearly 20 years.

Tandy scholars

Antioch Community High School nominated the following seniors for the Tandy Technology Scholar awards. The Academic Top Two Percent nominations go to the top-ranking seniors as follows: Kim Wirsing, Erica Behling, Jennifer Mosier, Sarah Ayre, Maxine Olson, Amanda Baright, David Schran and Tim Grabowski. The Tandy Scholarship nominee in mathematics is Kim Wirsing, and in science, Amy Reijonen. These programs are sponsored by the Tandy Corp.

Navy achievement

Navy Lt. James G. Springer, a 1981 graduate of Antioch Community High School of Antioch recently received the Navy Achievement Medal. Springer was cited for superior performance of duty serving as Air Department division officer aboard the guided missile frigate USS Robert G. Bradley, homeported in Charleston, S.C. While serving as the ship's landing safety officer, he was a key player in the safe and efficient completion of over 600 flight hours while the ship was deployed in support of Operation Desert Storm. Also, he flew more than 200 hours during surveillance operations and multi-national exercises along with developing an effective training and readiness computer program. Springer is currently assigned with Helicopter Anti-Submarine Squadron (light) 40, Naval Air Station, Mayport, Fla. He joined the Navy in June, 1981.

existing homes and new homeowners in the Heron Harbor and Fairway Estates subdivisions.

There are no final estimates on costs or bond issuance's at this time. According to Tabor, the project is in its infancy and most work will not begin until after the first of the year.

"We are still in the planning stages," explained Tabor.

Another meeting is scheduled for Oct. 14 at Emmons School at 7 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is strategic planning to form a citizens steering committee and a number of subcommittees kick-off the referendum drive. It is hoped that the subcommittees will have their first meetings at this time. All community residents are invited to attend.

Rally

Mayor of Lindenhurst, assured the group that funding would continue.

During the start-up phase of the group, a temporary selection committee has been formed to steer the organization until formal elections can take place. Kevin Klahs of the Lindenhurst Police Department agreed to act as chairperson. Linda Bergin will be assistant chairperson and recording secretary will be Laurel Dahl. The temporary treasurer will be Rusty Miller.

The upcoming parade and rally, on Oct. 30 was also discussed at the meeting. The day will begin at the various police department's that will be participating in a torch run. The run will begin in Antioch, through Lake Villa to Lindenhurst, then onto Grayslake. The parade, which is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. at the College of Lake County, will head to Brae Loch, Cambridge, Buckingham, Center Street, and finally to the Lake County Fairgrounds.

At the rally, Mike Waller, the Lake County State's Attorney, will be speaking to the crowd. A representative from the Cook County State's Attorney's Office and Ann Myer, an international speaker, will follow Waller.

Parade forms will be available at each village hall and the Lake Villa Library. Any group or organization interested in participating should pick up a form and contact Linda at 356-6788. There is no cost for participation.

Several committees within the organization are working on various projects. The intervention committee is developing an incidence form to report and identify graffiti.

Model waste center

Landfill of the future being shaped by new owners for use today.

Owners of Countryside Landfill located in a sector of unincorporated territory between Mundelein, Grayslake and Libertyville, have extended an intriguing offer. They will guarantee exclusive use to the county for 20 years in return for permission to expand their facilities on Rte. 83.

At this early date, directors of the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO) still are mulling over the implications of the proposition. Acceptance of the proposal could make their job of finding new landfill space in a locality "starving" for new solid waste disposal facilities a lot easier.

Once a public disgrace and a major migraine for officials and environmentalists, Countryside has been turned into a "state of the art" operation by the new ownership, USA Waste Services Inc. An extensive landscaping program this summer has transformed the ugly mountain of trash into a grassy, tree-topped knoll.

In setting the stage for expansion of the 80 acre landfill into an adjoining 120 acres it owns, USA Waste also has concentrated on eliminating odors and insuring ground water protection along with sprucing up appearances.

Equally intriguing is USA Waste's harmonious relationship with its neighbors, the Prairie Crossing residential and futuristic multi-use development across the highway, and the Village of Grayslake. USA Waste has entered into an agreement with Prairie Crossing to guarantee environmental standards and appearances. The landfill company is negotiating a "host community" agreement with the village.

Adding up everything done to date by the operators of Countryside Landfill equals the "landfill of the future" available to users today.

Pro-business Senate

Republican-dominated body making strides in job creation, eliminating anti-business practices.

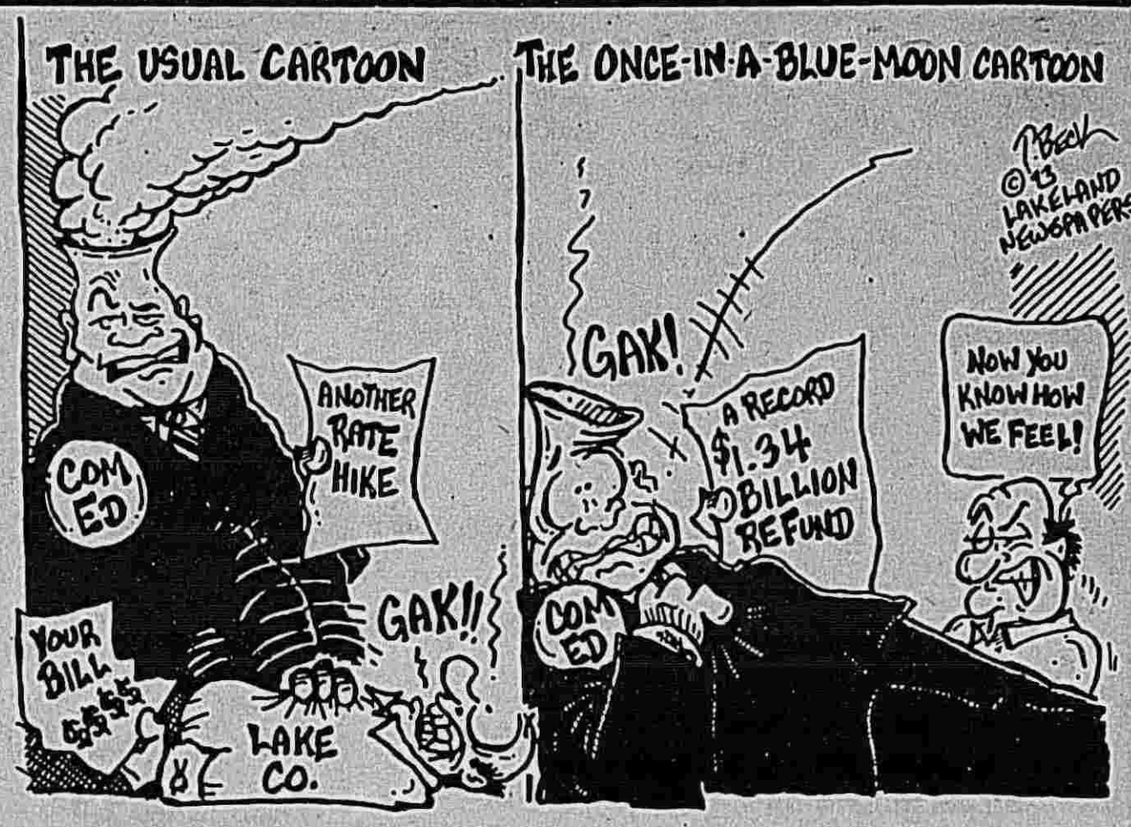

While the news coming out of Washington continues to be glum for business, particularly small and family-owned enterprises, prospects for a brighter business future in Illinois continue to radiate from Springfield.

Observers of legislative proceedings attribute this to the Republican-controlled Senate. The Management Assn. of Illinois, one of the many pro-business lobbying groups in the state capitol, regards the current climate as the best since 1982, the last year current Sec. of State George Ryan was then Speaker of the House.

Through a number of initiatives, the GOP-dominated Senate is originating legislation that will create more jobs for Illinois. One of the heavy hitters in the upper chamber is State Sen. David Barkhausen (R-Lake Forest). Barkhausen has been notable for pushing for product liability reform, a bill clarifying grievance procedures in the workplace where a lawsuit might be filed and protection for employers who are now exposed to lawsuits when they provide truthful information on employment references.

A small group of Senate Democrats who understand the importance of maintaining a healthy business climate is helping the GOP take steps to make sure Illinois is in the forefront of job creation and commercial growth. That's good news for both employers and workers.

Opinions shift in debate over Rte. 53 extension

Party Lines

Party Lines, Lakeland Newspapers' column of political opinion, is prepared from staff reports.

Political winds are ever changing. Just ask Doug Challos, village president of Hawthorn Woods.

Challos describes the shift of public opinion over the extension of Rte. 53 as an example of what he's talking about.

The first-term mayor remarked that he was elected as a trustee several years ago on a ticket of candidates opposed to the planned tollway into the heart of Lake County. "We plowed under the opposition," Challos recalled.

After the passage of time—and the arrival of more new residents— newly elected village president Challos conducted an opinion poll on Rte. 53. Today, 60 percent of Hawthorn Woods residents responding support construction of Rte. 53, Challos reported. With a grin, Challos said he's "moderated" his views on the controversial roadway.

He can laugh---As Sec. of Transportation and later as a White House Aide, Lake County resident Sam Skinner developed a reputation for being humorless and stoic. Skinner became known as "The Hammer" and the "Master of Disaster."

Skinner

Challos

Addressing a group of west Lake County mayors at Fox Lake, the president of Commonwealth Edison president, proved that he can laugh and tell jokes. Skinner spoke the day after ComEd's historic rate dispute settlement and $300 million rebate. "This breakfast should be Dutch treat," the Lake Forester chuckled. Skinner arose and displayed a dollar bill he just found on the floor. "My lucky day."

Skinner cautioned his audience that there's no connection between the famed Exxon Valdez oil spill damage settlement he negotiated while in Washington and the ComEd rate case settlement.

Viewpoint

McRae describes 'kinder, gentler' Forest Dist.

by BILL SCHROEDER

Forest Preserve Dist. president Colin McRae is putting his background in real estate to good use these days as he hits the stump to do his part in selling a $30 million bond issue to be used for land acquisition and development of existing facilities.

"It's not an easy sell," mused the lanky, mustachioed public official who was mayor of Mundelein before elected a member of the Lake County Board and then chosen by Forest Preserve commissioners to serve as president.

"In real estate, you have to have a willing buyer to make a deal."

Talking rapidly with restless intensity, McRae slips naturally into a comparison of today's Forest Preserve Dist. leadership and a past administration that was typified by holding the club of condemnation over landowners in connection with district growth plans.

McRae describes the former administration, which viewed its role as combatting selfish interests bent on turning Lake County into a massive asphalt parking lot surrounded by strip malls and endless strings of cookie-cutter homes, as "fraudulent." That leadership had $60 million worth of land tied up for public acquisition and "no money to follow through," McRae explains.

Forces led by County Board Chairman Robert "Bob" Depke had a lot of "cleaning up" to do, continued McRae, who at one-time represented the four townships of Fremont, Cuba, Wauconda and Ela before the current single member district system was adopted. A strategy used to erase the district's "bad rap" (McRae's words) of employing coercion and costly litigation was to dismantle a land acquisition program the district could not afford and, in effect, "start over clean."

That was the posture of the district McRae inherited from former president Andrea Moore, a key player in Depke's "clean up" crew, now a state representative serving a Libertyville-Gurnee district.

Employing negotiating techniques learned in the real estate industry and repositioning the district as a friend instead of a foe for both the voting public and landowners, McRae said the district has been able to disengage itself from expensive legal entanglements and add acreage with some significant donations. What can be described as a "kinder, gentler" philosophy is the centerpiece of district operations.

Redirection of the district has set the stage for the Nov. 2 referendum where electors are being asked to authorize issuance of more bonds to provide funding for further land acquisition. McRae is optimistic, although he realizes that doubts linger about the district's willingness to deal as a "willing buyer" and the ever present reluctance on the part of many voters to increase taxes.

McRae says the new look and new philosophy of the Forest Preserve Dist. is exemplified by the fact that a real estate developer and an environmentalist are serving as co-chairs of the bond referendum. "Can you imagine that?" he asks in obvious delight.

Many factors including tough wetlands preservation requirements, changing tax laws and the new ways real estate developers do business are bringing about the more amicable climate in which the Forest Preserve Dist. can operate. In the modern world, developers and open spacers can work together, so it seems. Maybe they even need each other.

The district president made a startling observation, again based on his knowledge of the Lake County real estate market. McRae is convinced that there are more willing sellers today than ever with more land available than the Forest Preserve Dist. can afford.

It's a buyer's market. So who needs a club? That's the view of Forest Preserve Dist. president Colin McRae.

Animal visitors deserve treatment as neighbors

by LAUREN R. JANUZ

Twenty-three years ago when I bought my home in Mettawa I made a stipulation to the realtor that "I wanted a home on a quiet little country lane."

The first few years we occasionally saw a deer wander into the yard from the hundreds of acres of vacant land to the back of our property. It was a joy to watch the beautiful animals particularly in spring when they brought their newly born offspring to graze in our yard.

As the years went on we saw the Village of Vernon Hills develop from cornfields to a thriving metropolis of many thousands of people. Lincolnshire developed from a semi-rural area. Libertyville expanded by thousands of homes. The vacant land in Lake Forest went on the block to see $500 to $750,000 homes developed. Lake Bluff built an industrial park. The vacant land along Route 176 in Rondout developed as an industrial park.

Along with this development in the area we saw the Lake County Forest Preserve District acquire hundreds of acres along the Des Plaines river. And with it, the number of not only deer, but raccoons, chipmunks, squirrels, rabbits and woodchucks increased because the wildlife sought refuge in the forest preserve areas and the five-acre zoned property that surround the preserves.

Even the head count of the frogs in our little pond increased as the native wild animals moved toward the adjacent Old School Forest Preserve, Half Day and Wright Forest Preserve areas.

Before long we were buying upwards of 150 pounds of corn a week in the winter to keep the critters in food during the long and cold winters. We resorted to putting a five foot high fence around our vegetable garden and accepted the fact that our beautiful evergreens across the front of the house would see some damage at the hands of the animals.

Commentary

The time we had to spend reseeding our lawn every spring was simply the small premium we had to pay to have a so-called "50 yard box" on nature in our back yard. One winter evening we counted 19 deer grazing in our back yard and captured one photo through our family room window of nine deer enjoying our handout of corn while romping in the snow. We had truly "prime time TV" right in our own back yard as we sat in front of a blazing fireplace and watched Mother Nature's lovable creatures.

One buck, orphaned shortly after birth, was raised by a neighbor in an airline dog carrier in his garage. Eventually that deer, marked by a bright orange collar, grew up and our neighbor removed the collar to return the buck to nature. But what fun it was to go out in the snow that winter and romp with an eight month old deer in the snowbanks who was as tame as the neighbor's dog.

But along with this increase growth in residential and commercial population around us, the number of wildlife that now had lesser area to thrive and prosper in, we heard cries from the residents of Riverwoods and Lincolnshire that the deer were doing horrendous damage to the yards of the $400,000 homes in that area. Soon the Forest Preserve district allowed Sheriff's Department sharpshooters to thin the deer population which was continuing to grow without a legal hunting season on the deer population.

As the deer population begin dwindling the deer that came into our yard became friendlier. This year one of the does had triplets and began bringing her brood to our yard for food within hours of their birth and as we watched the spotted fawns grow into nearly full grown deer this summer we realized that our wild deer now have become almost tame.

As we sat on the patio the deer graze within 20 feet of us in our yard. We learned that the deer love one variety of hosta bushes but have no interest in others.

Those people who have clamored to have the wildlife population reduced by sharpshooters have never realized the enjoyment that watching a wild animal close up can bring. We suggest that perhaps some of these people, who have clamored for a reduction in the wildlife population by sharpshooters, purchased their homes in the wrong area if they don't enjoy the wildlife and would be happier living in a suburb such as Evanston, Wilmette, Skokie, Niles, Glencoe or Kenilworth where the homes are closer together and the wildlife population is much less.

We suggest that it is time to take a long look at the way we're reducing our wildlife population and the long term effect on the decrease of a species of wild animal.

Good reasons for reviewing your tax liability now

Don't wait until the end of the year to find ways to limit your tax liability. The Illinois CPA Society says a midyear review of your tax situation can take the bite out of your next tax bill. This year's tax planning may be a little trickier than in previous years and could be much more critical. As a result of President Clinton's economic plan, Congress is considering many tax law changes that may have an impact on you and your family.

Project income, expenses

Before planning any tax strategy, estimate your taxable income for 1993. Taxable income is the amount of income remaining after you claim all adjustments, itemized deductions or standard deductions, and personal exemptions. The amount of your taxable income determines the rate at which you will be taxed.

Under President Clinton's economic plan, higher taxes seem inevitable, especially if you earn a high income. Single individuals with taxable incomes above $115,000 and married couples with taxable incomes over $140,000 may be subject to a new, higher tax rate of 36 percent. What's more, Mr. Clinton is also recommending a 10 percent surtax on taxable income over $250,000, raising the top tax rate to 39.6 percent.

Track your deductions

CPA's urge you to keep a comprehensive list of your tax-deductible expenses, updating it monthly. Don't overlook expenses, such as charitable contributions, subscriptions to business-related publications, job-hunting costs, and medical expenses like the costs of prescription drugs and insurance premiums. Under the current tax rules, every dollar of deductions you overlook may cost you 28 or 31 cents. What's more, if President Clinton's proposed higher tax rates are adopted this year, overlooked deductions can cost you even more money.

Keep in mind that the value of some of your deductions is tied to your income. For example, miscellaneous expenses, including unreimbursed employee business expenses and costs associated with producing income, are deductible only to the extent that they exceed 2 percent of your adjusted gross income (AGI). Medical expense deductions are also tied to your AGI: They are deductible only to the extent that they exceed 7.5 percent of your AGI.

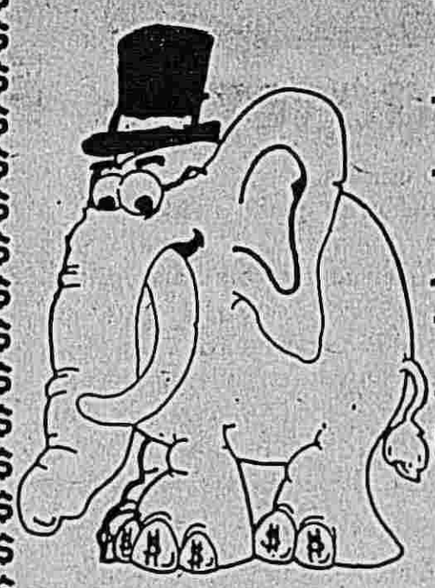

Estimate the amount of money you have spent on qualified miscellaneous and medical expenses over the past six months and determine how close you are to these thresholds. If you are close to the thresholds, you may want to accelerate as many deductible expenses as you can into 1993. For example, if you plan to look for a new job next year, you may want to prepare and print your resume now so you can take the deduction on your 1993 tax return.

Be aware, however, that under current tax law, taxpayers whose adjusted gross income exceed $108,450 in 1993 will see the value of their itemized deductions reduced by 3 percent of the amount by which their income exceeds this threshold. If your income is approaching this amount, you may want to postpone income, such as bonuses, into 1994 so you can continue to receive the full benefit of your deductions.

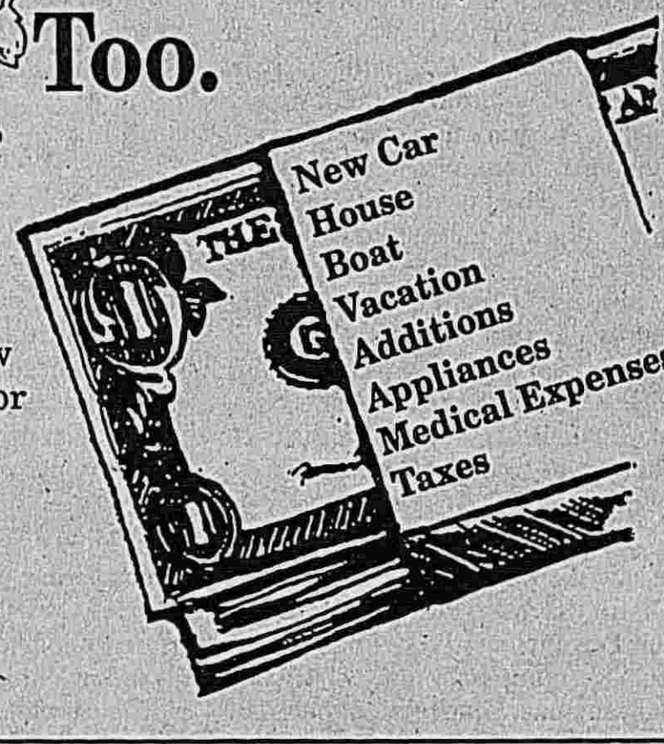

Protect earned income

One way to minimize your tax bill and maximize your earnings is to invest in company-sponsored 401(k) plans, or if self-employed, in Keoghs. These plans enable you to save pretax dollars for your retirement. Your contributions reduce your gross income and the interest earned is tax-deferred.

Banking: Safety and soundness

Do you want to open a personal or business bank account? If so, do banking terms like "capital" bewilder you? What criteria should you use to select a safe and dependable place to keep your money?

You can judge a bank's strength in six ways: by its ratings, level of loans, profitability performance, loan practices, portfolio distribution, and by whether it is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC).

Ratings

Independent rating services such as Moody's Investors Service or Standard and Poor's Corp. can give an overall picture of a bank's stability. These services review financial institutions, municipalities, insurance companies, corporations and foreign interests at least annually, and assign investment grades which are readily available in the financial press. Grades AAA through A are considered excellent.

Profitability performance

A bank's profits arise from its services (like the sale of credit cards), its fees from the origination of loans and from received interest on loans. Banks that report profits consistently in earnings statements published in the local papers and in annual reports are banks with strong management practices.

Loan practices

Too often during the 1980s, banks were saddled with bad loans made for questionable real estate deals or to economically unsound governments. If you scan a bank's annual report, such assets may be disclosed in the footnotes.

Portfolio distribution

Banks refer to their total current loans as their portfolio. Portfolios concentrated in a single industry or geographic region are healthy only as long as that sector remains strong. As a potential depositor, look for a bank with a policy of diversify lending. to improve the liquidity of its balance sheet, a bank can sell its loans to outside investors. A few pertinent questions to the bank's management may be informative.

FDIC

Look for a bank where funds are insured by the FDIC. Regardless of the number of accounts you wish to open, your total deposits will be guaranteed for up to $100,000 at a bank insured by the FDIC. For amounts greater than $100,000 you can retain the safety of FDIC guarantee by assigning your funds to a money manger who will distribute your deposits to several FDIC insured banks.

Review tax

Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) also affect tax-deferred savings. You can contribute as much as $2,000 a year if single or $2,250 a year if you are married to a non-working spouse and file a joint return. If both spouses work, you may be able to contribute up to $2,000 each. The sooner you make a contribution, the longer your earnings in the account can compound tax-deferred interest. What's more, depending on your income and whether you or your spouse participate in an employee-sponsored retirement plan, you may be able to take a tax deduction for your IRA contribution.

Look ahead

CPAs emphasize that you shouldn't let proposed tax law changes throw you off course. By understanding your options and carefully reviewing your personal financial situation, you are prepared to take the steps necessary to minimize your 1993 tax liability.

Walk into Merrill Lynch's tax seminar and walk out with a strategy to minimize your taxes.

Merrill Lynch invites you to attend our free Tax Seminar. You'll learn specific strategies for dealing with the new tax laws, whether as individuals or as owners of small businesses, and how they might affect your investment strategies, exposure to the Alternative Minimum Tax, capital gains, estate planning, and business deductions, for example.

You'll see how your Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant can act as a partner with you and your tax adviser to address your tax situation as part of a comprehensive financial plan designed to help you control your financial future. Call today to reserve your seat.

Because when it comes to taxes, this year can be different.

The difference is Merrill Lynch.

Stable housing market continues as mortgage rates decline

Mortgage interest rates keep falling, but the decline is not setting off the kind of buying surge that lower borrowing costs have been known to trigger in the past.

However, declining mortgage interest rates are almost certainly the reason that home sales in the Lake County area have not followed the cyclical pattern that is usually observed in this market, real estate experts agree.

Normally, home sales here peak in July and trend lower in the fall. But recent sales reports suggest that the normal fall slowdown isn't materializing, says Wilbur G. Luther, senior vice president and regional manager for Baird and Warner, the area's oldest and largest full-service independent real estate company.

"As a result, home sales in this area should be uncharacteristically strong this fall," he noted.

Luther believes consumer concerns about the economy have been having a moderating affect on home sales and prices. Effectively, low interest rates in a soft economy have combined to encourage steady growth while keeping a lid on housing inflation, he observes.

Alex F. March, managing broker in Baird and Warner's Libertyville office, describes a stable marketplace in which buyers are active but unhurried. First-time buyers remain a major and sales are occurring in all price ranges.

Luther says some prospective buyers continued to be preoccupied with timing the market.

"At various times in the real estate cycle, we'll see buyers holding out for lower interest rates. At others, buyers can be observed rushing to get in on the action before home prices move higher in response to lower rates.

"In the current cycle, some buyers are probably waiting for rates to go lower before acting. But we haven't seen the kind of urgency without pricing that has occurred in the past when mortgage rates have moved dramatically lower," he said.

With the current scenario, Baird and Warner executives point out that more first-time buyers are able to qualify for mortgage financing. And, in general, buyers can purchase more house for their money.

From the home buyer's perspective, some phases of the economic cycle will appear to be better than others. But Luther reminds potential buyers that the best time to purchase a home is "when you can afford it."

It rarely pays would-be buyers to put off a home-buying decision until later in the hope that market conditions will become more favorable than they already are. In the past, efforts to outguess or "time" the market have frequently ended in frustration because supply-and-demand dynamics often work against those who make the effort, he noted.

Motorola goes to court over patent

LIBERTYVILLE—Motorola Inc. filed suit in Federal District Court in Delaware against InterDigital in an effort to defuse charges that Motorola infringed certain InterDigital's Time Division Multiple Access patents and hopes the court will find those patents invalid and unable to be enforced. Motorola officials claim that InterDigital was not the first to develop digital cellular service and filed suit to "clear the air over the digital cellular service issue for the entire cellular industry."

WMAQ-TV signs retransmission deal

CHICAGO—WMAQ-TV, the NBC owned and operated station in Chicago, announced it has reached agreement to retransmitt the station's signal on 99 percent of the cable systems in the WMAQ viewing area. Only a cable company in southern Michigan refused to sign the new agreement. Under the terms of the agreement, Lake County cable systems like TCI of Illinois and U.S. Cable, will provide channels for CNBC, NBC's business and talk cable channel and another new channel scheduled for broadcast in 1994.

Lake County native named first woman Continental VP

Continental Bank named Wilma J. Smelcer, a native of Waukegan, executive vice president of its Private Bank. She is the first woman to be appointed as an executive vice president at the company.

"Wilma's years of experience with institutional investors and our corporate customers are invaluable assets to the Private Bank, where we take a business-banking approach to serving the personal banking needs of business owners, executives, active investors and private institutions," said William M. Goodyear, vice chairman of Continental Bank Corp.

A senior vice president at Continental since 1987, Smelcer has managed the banking services, operations and product management of the Private Bank during the past two years. Previously, she held key management positions in many of the bank's commercial and investment banking businesses, the primary focus of Continental's businesses.

Continental, with $22.5 billion in assets, has provided wealth management services through its Private Bank for 137 years. It has $7 billion in assets under management. The Private Bank provides banking and credit, trust, investment management and estate planning services for business owners—many of whom are Continental's corporate banking customers—executives, active investors, wealthy families and charitable organizations. The bank also manages ERISA funds for corporations and institutions.

Smelcer joined Continental in 1973 after receiving her B.A. in Education and M.B.A. in finance/accounting from the University of Illinois. She is a certified public accountant. She also graduated from Warren Twp. High School first in her class in 1967.

Her professional affiliations include: Business Advisory Council, Univ. of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, College of Commerce and Business Admin.; Economic Club of Chicago; Friends of the Red Cross (founder); Banking Research Center Advisory Board, J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Management, Northwestern Univ.; Northwestern Univ. Associates; Metropolitan Planning Council board of governors; The Chicago Network board of directors; and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Wilma J. Smelcer

Smelcer's mother, Carol Kirkpatrick Smelcer, lives in Antioch and is retired from the Lake County director finance office.

Baer Supply Corp. to expand current Vernon Hills facility

Baer Supply Company, a supplier to the woodworking industry of decorative and functional hardware and fittings, shop supplies, tools and machinery will expand its 96,000 square foot facility by 27,000 square feet in The Corporate Woods, Vernon Hills.

Alan Baer, president, cited a major product line addition as the basis for the building expansion. The additional warehouse space will be utilized primarily to inventory Wilsonart brand plastic laminates, Lokweld adhesives and associated products for which Baer has been recently named a distributor for northern Illinois and northwest Indiana. Additional shipping docks are also being added to accommodate Baer's new fleet of delivery vehicles specifically for the Wilsonart products.

Baer was founded in 1950. The company moved from Skokie to the Corporate Woods in1988 due to the excellent environment of the corporate park which includes a good labor supply, according to the president.

Charles Lamphere, president of Van Vlissingen and Co., noted that large and well-planned corporate parks such as The Corporate Woods have the space to allow successful companies to easily expand.

This is the fourth company this year to expand within the park. It is being developed and managed by Van Vlissingen, the oldest commercial real estate company in the Midwest.

Peter Zinni, vice president, described additional internal enhancements being made to the building that will increase Baer's functionality. The company is constructing a 65 seat combination education/training and conference center that will also include two smaller meeting rooms and a reference library.

Baer will also be able to increase the staffing of its inside sales, customer service, accounting and catalog production departments with the addition of eight private offices and an expansion of office work stations from 35 to 51.

High school students invited to join Abbott Explorers Post

Abbot Laboratories invites area high school students interested in math and science to join the Abbott Science Explorer Post. The program, which is open to young men and women ages 16 and older, shows students how math and science are applied in the medical research industry.

Students who participate in the Science Explorer Post are given the opportunity to work with Abbott scientists in some of the most advanced laboratories in the world. The program addresses a variety of scientific topics, with students choosing sessions which most closely relate to their interests.

No pre-registration is needed. Abbott's Science Explorer Post meets at Abbott Park every other Wednesday starting Oct. 20. Dues for the program are $7.

For more information or to register for the program, contact Dr. Bernie Schleicher at 937-0069.

Collins keeps the homefires burning

Lakeland Newspapers

'Tis the season to slow down the pace, to curl up in a chair in front of a glowing fireplace.

And Collins Fireplace and Patio Shop in Waukegan has it all. The family owned business at a new location on 2401 Grand Avenue is a plethora of fireplace and in the warmer months, patio delights.

According to owner Joanne Collins, the business started out small, when she and her husband decided to go into the profession 16-years ago.

The Collins' began with three employees and a rented shop and the knowledge they had gained working with Joanne's family who owns a similar business. Today, they credit that experience with their success and providing them the confidence to start their own business.

"We started out with two fireplaces in the showroom, now we have seven burning ones," said Joanne. And according to Jim Denson of the Waukegan store, presently there are several under construction which will also be functional in the showroom, and there are total of 15 currently on display.

The Collins' son Doug has joined the crew of the store bringing another generation into the family business.

Fireplaces in the past, according to Joanne, have basically been situated in one room of the house. "Now they're putting them virtually in every room," stated Joanne.

From living rooms to bedrooms to kitchens and even bathrooms, people have discovered that fireplaces are "aesthetically appealing to a room and adds beauty and warmth," the owner noted.

Also, the resale value of homes equipped with the picturesque conflagration containers is higher. "They're a sought after item for the resale of a house," said Joanne, who added that they "never lose their value."

Fireplaces have always added radiant qualities to homes, but formerly, they were usually thought of as just that — something nice to look at. A kind of myth, agreed the owner, was that fireplaces don't heat well.

Besides current models being constructed more efficiently, any fireplace has to be helped along, said Joanne. In order to maintain proper efficiency from burning logs, proper damper control is required, explained Wayne Lauritsen, manager of the Waukegan store.

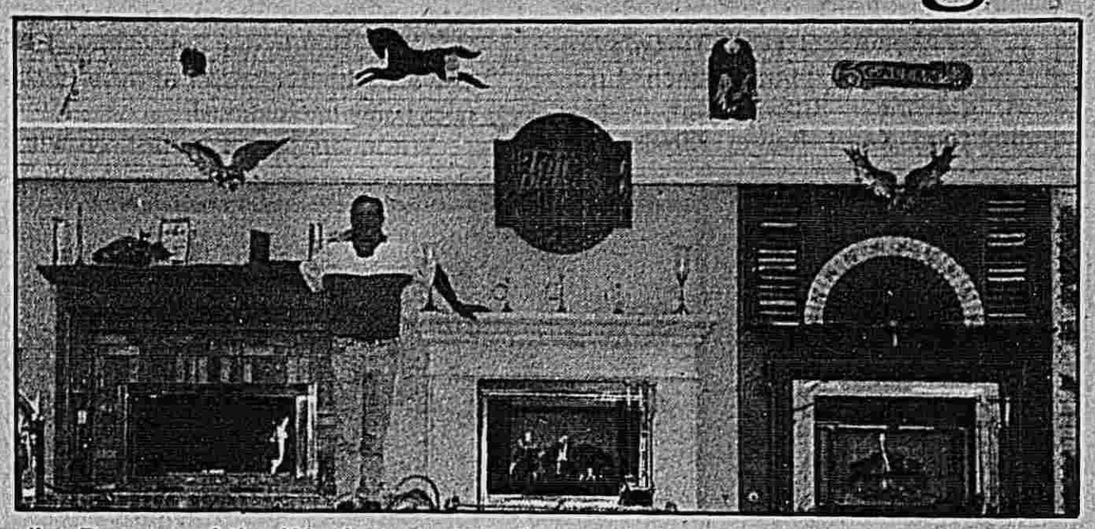

Fireplaces in townhomes, said Joanne, are experiencing "a tremendous increase in activity throughout the nation." Part of the reason, is they are so easy to install, noted the owner.

Collins is looking forward to one of their best seasons, which is commencing right now, and she noted the broad array of goods the store has to offer.

"We sell anything and everything for all types of fireplaces," said Joanne, including glass doors, custom and standard; grates, wood baskets and mantels from wood to marble.

Some of Collins most celebrated lines of factory-made fireplaces, including direct-vent and strictly gas models are Heat-N-Glo; Martin; Majestic; Superior; Malm and Heatilator.

"We started with being a small store and now we basically can suit any customer," said Joanne.

Jim Denson of the Waukegan store demonstrates the warmth and beauty that comes with gas or wood-burning fireplaces. The three models shown are all Martin's, one of Collins Fireplace and Patio Shop's most popular items. — photo by Tina Swiech Quaker Oats (OAT)—Quaker Oats Cereal, Captain Crunch, Life, Aunt Jemima, Rice-A-Roni, Gaines dog food, Ken-L-Ration, Kibbles and Bits, and Gatorade are all household names and all produced by Quaker Oats. This diverse company has made these names common not only in U.S. households, but internationally as well, with 31 percent of their 1993 sales being international.

While no longer a fast growth company, Quaker has been doing several things lately to increase shareholder value and drive the stock price up. Although sales growth is only estimated at 7 to 8 percent annually in the coming years, EPS (earnings per share) are estimated to grow at 11 percent based on higher profit margins. These higher margins will be achieved through cost cutting programs as well as stock buybacks such as their five million share buyback program.

Other positive notes are 90 percent of employees are stockholders, an added incentive to work at peak efficiency.

Vardin's Grove — Lake County's oldest village reflects on the past

by SUZIE REED

Do you know anyone from Vardin's Grove?

In 1835 an Englishman named Vardin settled near a grove in a beautiful area of northeastern Illinois. He was soon joined by a blacksmith nearby. Not long after, a road was built to connect the villages of Chicago and Milwaukee.

On July 4, 1836, a liberty pole was put up by 15 pioneers who named the settlement Independence Grove. In 1837 a post office was established there, but there was another town in Illinois with the same name. So the citizens did the next best thing and named their town Libertyville.

The town is credited with a number of "firsts." The first school house was built in 1836. The first public meeting in Lake County was held in Libertyville "for the purpose of adopting regulations and forming a compact for the purpose of protecting each other in their rights as claimants of the public lands," according to historian E.M. Haines. The first doctor in Lake County settled in the village in 1937.

Familiar names dot the history of the area: attorney Horace Butler, summer resident C.C. Copeland, and Ansel Brainerd Cook, who first lived in Libertyville from 1845 to 1849, then returned in 1866 and again in 1890.

Much of the area history is documented in "Libertyville Illustrated," credited to Copeland and first published in 1897. It was recently reprinted by the Libertyville-Mundelein Historical Society, with photos, names and subjects conveniently indexed and referenced.

More photos and tidbits of history will be found in "A Cook's Tour of Libertyville", a one-of-a-kind cookbook put together by MainStreet Libertyville with the help of the Historical Society.

The Society is appropriately headquartered in the Ansel B. Cook Home, 413 N. Milwaukee Ave. Organized in the 1950's when the building served as the library, "to collect and preserve the historical things about Libertyville, Mundelein and the immediate environs," says Society archivist Marie Janik.

"We do a lot of research for people about different things and places around Libertyville," said Janik. "People often wonder what was on their property before their house was built.

"I've lived here all my life," she said. "There are a lot of things I remember."

Janik found many pictures of stores and businesses on Milwaukee Ave. taken during the turn of the century and included in the "Cook's Tour" cookbook. These photos are also guiding the restoration of the buildings.

She is particularly proud of the Cook House and the way the Society has worked to restore it.

""I like to think it is decorated the way it was when the Cooks lived there. We have a dressing table that belonged to them and we're very proud of Mr. Cook's desk."

The desk has a secret. The person to talk to about that is the very enthusiastic Dean Larson, a dedicated member of the Historical Society.

"Libertyville and Mundelein have been twin communities over the years," he said. "Half of Mundelein is in Libertyville Township. Until 1964 the school districts were together. Libertyville Township Library served both communities."

Many Society members also belong to the Fort Hill Heritage Society in Mundelein.

Larson's pet project right now concerns a large banner that currently hangs in the upper hallway of the Cook Home.

"The Wide Awakes were an organization formed to protect and support Republican candidates running for office," he explained. "They carried coal oil torches in campaign parades and wore oil skin capes to protect their clothing.

"Libertyville won the banner from Chicago. In the 1858 election they had the largest percentage of marchers compared to the number of Republican votes cast. We also have two coal oil torches."

The banner, which cost around $100 new, is in need of restoration. It will take between $8,000 and $9,000 to do the job properly.

The Society is preparing documentation to apply for a grant to restore and exhibit the banner.

"It's the most priceless treasure the Society has," said Larson.

He and another member spent eight hours one weekend trying to assemble a composite photograph to send in with a grant application.

Larson, Janik and other faithful members of the Historical Society can always be found at the Cook Home at the times it is open to the public, Sunday afternoons during the summer and in early December for the Victorian Christmas.

The Society presents programs on local history at the Cook Memorial Library at 7:30 p.m. on the fourth Monday of each month , September through May in the large meeting room.

Descendants of the Cook family have toured the home in the past. A number of them will be in Libertyville later this month.

"We decided we'd like to have a little seminar. We'd like to know more about them," said Marie Janik.

The meeting is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Oct. 23 in the community room of Cook Memorial Library. Anyone interested in the history of the Cook family in Libertyville is welcome to attend.

Copies of "Libertyville Illustrated" are available from the Libertyville-Mundelein Historical Society for $7. "A Cook's Tour of Libertyville" ($20) can be found at many area businesses as well as the office of MainStreet Libertyville.

Stranded at O'Hare? New Book May Have Answer

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

There's a hot new book out which has received favorable reviews in the Chicago Tribune, USA Today and publications across the country and abroad. Even my hometown paper, the Kenosha News, recently reported on the unique travel guide entitled "Stranded at O'Hare".

I, however, am going to give you some insight on the author, as well as the book, since I know her better than anyone else to whom she has granted an interview.

Having been stranded at many airports, I've always felt there's got to be something to do other than re-reading my copy of People Magazine while eating an overpriced hot dog and drinking a $2 Coke. But how do you find out about life outside the airport? Forget your Frommer's Guide. It's targeted for someone who's spending a week here, not trying to kill eight hours.

That's where "Stranded At O'Hare" comes to the rescue. This 90 page book suggests you stow your luggage in a locker (page 87 tells you where and the cost) and get out of the airport.

Had enough airline food? Starting with page 47 you'll find 21 pages of restaurants near the airport listing not only cuisine, price range and phone, but which cab to take and what the fare should be.

I'll bet you didn't know right at the airport's edge is a Russian nightclub where Russian is spoken as freely as English (page 76) or for an $8 five minute cab ride, you can kick up your heels to a country/western band. (page 74).

On page 66 you'll find out how to save $10 on a cab ride from O'Hare to downtown Chicago, as well as how to get to Midway by subway or bus.

If "Stranded at O'Hare" is not at your book store yet, give me a call and I'll get you a copy.

The author of "Stranded at O'Hare" is a woman who had a good idea, as many of us do. The difference is she did something about it. She not only wrote "Stranded At O'Hare", but rather than worrying about who would publish it, she formed a company and published it herself. Her name is Kelly Warnken, my "little sister."

'Zorba' a celebration of life

Critic's Choice

Apple Tree Theater's tiny Highland Park stage seems to expand in its season opener of "Zorba," a big, effusive production that celebrates life—and death.

Adapted from a book by Joseph Stein (in turn, taken from Nikos Kazantakis' "Zorba the Greek"), with music by John Kander and lyrics by Fred Ebb, "Zorba" perfectly casts Peter Siragusa in the title role.

His brassy voice and take-charge manner is suitable for the role of an aging Greek jack-of-all-trades who refuses to grow old in spirit and who enjoys the moment and can squeeze the most of whatever opportunities come his way.

Zorba's lust for life is contagious, spreading to his newfound boss, the straight-laced Nikos (Robert Kahn), a writer who has come to Crete to try to resurrect a long-abandoned family mine and to find himself.

Peter Siragusa (left) in the title role and Robert Kahn as his disciple, Nikos, in "Zorba."

"Zorba" tells the tale in colorful words, lively dance and song (sometimes scintillating, sometimes not) of the pair and their ill-fated romances, with Hortense (Suzanne Petri) a fading French innkeeper and with the Widow (Rengin Altay), a much-sought-after local beauty.

Ann Arvia merits applause for her winning part as leader of a Greek chorus that reinforces the joys and sorrows Zorba, et al, encounter.

Apple Tree has made efficient use of its tiny space to create a multi-purpose set that evokes a feeling of Greece in the 1920s.

"Zorba" runs through Oct. 31. For tickets call 432-4335.—by TOM WITOM

Spend 'An Evening in Acapulco'

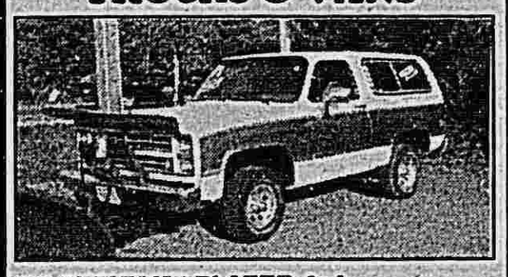

On Friday, Oct. 29, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Govas of The Country Squire in Grayslake are sponsoring a gala fundraiser for The Hogar Infantil Marsh Orphanage located in Acapulco, Mexico. A hurricane swept through Acapulco this past July and totally damaged most of the orphanage's buildings and their contents. All proceeds from ticket purchases will go to the orphanage. Included in the evening's entertainment will be The Mark Anthony Orchestra, a five-piece Mariachi band and traditional Mexican dancers. Cocktails start at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $25. For information or ticket sales call Karen, Dennis or Jan at 223-0121.

Reel World

Michelle Pfeiffer, Daniel Day-Lewis

'Innocence' splendiferous saga

With the outlandish costs of today's top notch movie productions, only a director with the reputation of Martin Scorsese, along with stars of the magnitude of Daniel Day-Lewis and Michelle Pfeiffer, could have pulled off a film as lavish as "Age of Innocence."

This story of an extramarital love affair by the standards of the Victorian era in which it takes place, is as much a film event as "Ben Hur," "Gone With the Wind," etc. and as such, not a movie to be missed.

Day-Lewis and Pfeiffer, both married, are passionately attracted to one another. The consumation of this attraction is prevented both by the Puritanical customs of the day and the extremely clever banding together of an entire family to prevent it.

Pfeiffer, one of Hollywood's most talented actresses, turns in another of many fine performances as the femme fatale countess and Day-Lewis is properly pained from the film's start to finish. But we just didn't feel that the chemistry between these two was steamy enough to justify the ad claims.

Winona Ryder is exceptional as Day-Lewis' purposeful wife, whose frail Victorian exterior masks a woman of strength and purpose.

From past experience, and despite the fine performances, we fully expected the vapid people, and dull to dreary era to put us to sleep.

It is Scorsese's perfect direction and his grandiose attention to detail on the highest level that steals the picture and keeps the audience's attention.

On the basis of what we felt was a missing grand passion, we rate "Innocence" only four out of five stars. "Innocence" carries a PG rating.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Though a partner is in an upbeat mood, you may have so much to do now that you won't have much time for each other. Don't be picky with a family member. A new business inspiration has you excited. Watch spending this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A new work opportunity looks promising, but you may have trouble concentrating on what needs to be done. Little details may bog you down. A domestic matter requires your attention toward the end of the week. There's something magical about a pleasure outing this weekend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Extra expenses are likely to arise in connection with pleasure interests this week. Though fun opportunities come now, you may have difficulty making up your mind. An activity with children may be a top priority now. A sudden inspiration leads to redecorating.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The week begins on a romantic note. You'll be tackling a home repair also. A partner is a source of inspiration now. Avoid weekend overspending on pleasure pursuits. Do your best not to become moody or temperamental.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Some good news comes now, but there are mix-ups in communications as well. Concentration still is not at its best in work interests. Try to minimize distractions. A business hunch looks very promising. Home life is accented this weekend.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Good news about a financial matter should not be taken as a signal that you can spend wildly now. Judgment is likely to be faulty this week where money is concerned. You're making progress now on a work-related project. Romance is a plus, but keep your feet on the ground.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You start the week off in a positive frame of mind, but dealing with the idiosyncrasies of people around you can be a handful now. Others want to call the shots this week. Romantic introductions are likely for travelers. Social life is iffy this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You'll get the peace and quiet you seek for a while this week, but then others make demands on your time. You may not accomplish as much as you would like. You'll find a solution now in a domestic concern. Further thought is needed about a business matter.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Judgment may be off this week in spending matters, especially with regard to pleasure. You'll be giving helpful advice to a friend now. You're on a roll where business interests are concerned. Follow your intuitions. Togetherness is the theme this weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You'll hear of a new business opportunity now, but you're not quite ready to make up your mind about it. Early in the week, you may be a bit restless and unconventional. Your social graces are an asset later in the week where business interests are concerned.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You'll be dealing with people now who just don't see things the way you do. Try to avoid disputes about ideology. Someone asks for your advice this week. Financial backing is available to you. Don't talk business with loved ones.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Some financial benefits come now, but you still need to be careful in your use of credit. It's not your fault, but social life may not meet expectations. An unfinished task is easily dealt with now. Couples will be visiting friends this weekend.

Fine dining a family tradition at Bill's

For over 35 years, the Kwiatkowski family has been serving up fantastic food features at Bill's Pizza and Pub. From their humble beginnings in 1957, the restaurant has expanded considerably.

From carry-out to a complete lunch and dinner dining enjoyment, expect only the best at Bill's Pizza and Pub.

The restaurant is located on the corner of Route 45 and Diamond Lake Road in Mundelein. Bill's Pub moved into the current location in 1967 and has done extensive remodeling since.

The restaurant is decorated in a north woods motif with many fish and animals adorning the walls. The wood burning fireplace only adds to the rustic atmosphere.

Mary Ann Rouse, one of the family members managing the restaurant says, "My dad caught many of the fish you see on the walls."

The restaurant is famous for its pizza and pizza puffs. Now, a frozen version of these delights can be found in at least 10 local grocery stores.

The Pub offers two kinds of pizza. The thin crust pizza has a golden flaky crust that is out-of-this-world. For a more hearty appetite, the double decker pizza is for you.

Besides pizza, Bill's Pub also has many appetizer selections. Onion blossoms, jalapeno cheddar poppers, fried zucchini and mushrooms, are just the thing to start off your meal. The flowering onion is the latest taste treat to be added to the menu.

All of Bill's pizzas are made fresh to order. And, they use the highest quality ingredients available. For something unusual, try Bill's Mexican pizza. This 12" or 14" favorite has taco meat, mozzarella and cheddar cheese, green onion, tomato, black olives, and the optional jalapeno peppers.

Kids of all ages enjoy the electronic game room and complimentary peanuts. Shells on the floor, please.

Stop on in to enjoy the comfortable rustic ambiance or call 566-5380 for delivery or carry-out. Either way, it's delicious!

Capo's Cove offers Italian cuisine in lakeside setting

For an exciting imported evening, filled with an abundance of irresistible food overlooking beautiful Pistakee Lake on Kings Island, Capo's Cove is it!

The newly opened eating establishment has so many good things on the menu to offer for lunch or dinner.

"It's not a matter of choosing what to get," said owner Lori Parker, "but what not to get!"

Everything on the Italian/American bill of fare is fresh, made daily, presenting various gastronomic delights such as beef, veal, chicken, fish and pastas.

From Capo's famous stuffed pizza to their Scampi Paisano, to their huge buffet bar, every dish is made with amore.

The veal is a specialty item at Capo's because it is all hand-trimmed off of the leg, and never processed.

A unique and palatable way to fill a hungry appetite for two is by enjoying the Zuppa De Pesci, brimming with lobster, shrimp, clams, white fish, red snapper, calamari and mussels in a zesty tomato sauce.

Lori runs the spacious establishment up on the hill, along with other family members including Dave, MaryAnn, and Sheila, better known as "The Parker Family."

Capo's, like the Parker family, is a combination of Sicilian and Anglo-American influence, featuring recipes from "Nanny Borrelli" and "Grandma" Parker, who taught their children and grandchildren that good foods and good times should be shared with family and friends, and no one should go away hungry!

The lunch menu offers an extensive array of sandwiches and fabulous omlettes from $3 to $6.95, and lunch hours begin at 11:30 a.m. each day Monday through Sunday.

Dinner prices vary from about $7.95 to $20.95.

So come by boat or by car to the cozy windowed ristorante on Kings Island at 510 S. Park Avenue, Fox Lake Illinois.

Another day off

I am frustrated with our Grayslake School calendar this year. It seems like the kids have more and more days off. Out of the first 14 weeks of school, eight of these weeks are not full weeks. Also, in that time, a bunch of tests are given. That just takes away more time to educate students. Do we really need all these days off?

No burning throats

I want to know if you think it is right if a fire department should have an open bar in their basement below the fire station? Volunteers are allowed to drink and then respond to fire calls. I don't think that is right. No fire station should have a bar.

It's the '90s

How can affluent communities like Antioch, Lake Villa, and Lindenhurst not be able to support a comprehensive athletic program? It is unheard of and insane.

Safe balloons

Trinity's balloon release is to spread the word of God. And, all the balloons are biodegradable. Thank you.

Votes yes

I think it is great that only the education fund is on the ballot this year in District 117. Good job. I'll vote yes.

Not ducky

Now that hunting season is upon us, I would like to make some comments to duck hunters on Wooster Lake. Do you know that the lake is used as a wildlife refuge? Many of the waterfowl on the lake are here because they were injured in the spring.

Pleased customer

Customer service lives! I went to Round Lake Muffler for a repair. They had me in and out of the office in 15 minutes, did not charge me, and also pointed out a problem that may need to be repaired in the future. Hats off to them.

Library responsible

Attending several meetings of the library and the park district , it is obvious that the library, not the park district which has decided they need five times the space. The "Working stiff" should not be blaming the park district and should be careful before he lets his lips do the talking.

No thanks

You can tell that the elections are over in Ingleside when a trustee refuses to talk or return a phone call. Thanks a lot.

Lots of time off

To the so-called businessman involved with the school district, I just want to know where a teacher in the private sector could find a job where they would get three months off in the summer, two weeks off at Christmas, and one week off in the spring? What businesses close down and pay all their employees for Pulaski Day? How would you feel if you went to the local grocery store and discovered they were closed for Martin Luther King Day?

Grateful taxpayer

Thank you Avon Highway Department for taking such good care of the rural roads in unincorporated Grayslake.

Not at her school

I like to know where a teacher puts in approximately 12 hours per day equaling 60 hours a week. I'd like to know where that is because I would send my child there. Maybe there the teachers could not tell my junior-high student how their school is rated in the lower 10 percent in education. If our teachers spent 60 hours a week with our students, the level of their education would be better. I am calling from the Grayslake School.

Sad story

I want to thank everyone including Murphy School and the officers for helping to find my dog Critter, who is unfortunately no longer with us.

Out of the mouths

I am calling about "Let them pay tax." I am a Round Lake High student. I don't think we need a new school. We don't need to be paying high taxes and that. If you think it is necessary to get a new school, go somewhere else.

Crazy building

In trying to stop noise from traveling to the Grayslake Library from the park district with their $11 million proposed building, they have ended up with a hodge-podge design of tacked on rooms. These taxing bodies should know better than to combine these rooms. They just don't mix. It has not been done anywhere else in the U.S. and it should not be done. Don't put this ugly monstrosity in our beautiful park.

Bring back sports

We would rather have our extracurricular activities and stuff than a new school in Round Lake.

An opinion

Being pro-life is being able to live with yourself and your past. Having an abortion is not an easy choice. The memory of murdering your own child will never go away. Thousands of couples want to adopt a child, just look at the personal advertisements. There is no good reason to get an abortion.

Any suggestions?

I am calling about District 118's referendum. All these people who say they do not want to build a new school, are advising people to just vote no. Instead, why don't they go out to the school board and offer some realistic solutions.

Upsetting pictures

I am talking about this Somalia thing. I was wondering how the people felt when they saw that horrible picture on television. Our boys bodies were being dragged down the road. I think this is a disgrace and a slap in the face to all Americans. This is what we get for trying to be good joes. What else can you expect from cannibals.

Near miss

But, for the grace of God, I would not be here making this call. I have finally stopped trembling and am now getting angry. An older Volvo, traveling eastbound on Rollins near the Frigate's at approximately 11 a.m. very nearly caused a head-on collision. Driver, your immature lack of concern very nearly made my three young children orphans. The next time you pass someone, obey the passing rules. Were you in that much of a hurry that the consequences of your stupid actions were worth it? You could have killed me and spent the next few years in jail for manslaughter.

Too late

I am tired of Long Grove complaining about Route 53. They had every chance to do something about it in the early '60s and did nothing. The 1968 Chicago Tribune clearly showed the Route 53 road map. I think they should just shut up.

Worried citizen

In regards to melting pot, you are right. The American Indians did migrate to North America. I also agree with your remarks about how most of us are as native today as any Indian. But, I do not think that anyone is looking at the big picture of what is going on right now in this area.

No freebies

I am a member of the Wauconda Park District. Some things that I have been hearing have not been too good lately. I have heard that some of the friends of politicians have been getting free memberships in the fitness center. I do not think this is right. Let's crack down on those folks getting freebie memberships.

Doomed proposal

If we put a referendum on the ballot to build a new addition to Robert Crown School in Wauconda, why must the referendum include a proposal for year-round schools? Is it because the folks that want a new Island Lake school know that it will not pass because no one wants year-round schools. That way, they can get their new school. I think an addition to the Robert Crown School is a good idea.

Support freshman

I am concerned about the lack of support our area is giving our school's sports teams. There are never any information in the papers. And, when I called the school to get the homecoming agenda, they did not even tell me about the freshman football. I find this unacceptable.

Worth more than money

This is to the person who referred to the $21.50 that teachers receive and then went on to say that teachers lose five years of wages to get an education. There is nothing better than an education. You certainly don't lose five years wages to get an education. I 'm sure you have gotten more than that back.

We hope the tradesperson

Boy are you misinformed. To become an Illinois Certified Plumber you must attend school while you are an

FOOT FACTS From The FOOT DOCTOR

The Foot Care Specialist
DR. GRIFF J. WINTERS
FOOT SURGEON

Dr. Griff J. Winters & Assoc.
Specializing in Reconstructive Foot & Ankle Surgery

PLANTAR WARTS

Warts are caused by a virus infection and are often mistaken as corns and calluses. Warts on the bottom of the foot penetrate deep under the skin like a mushroom, because of pressure in standing. Unlike corns and calluses, the center encapsulated area usually has rust-colored spots that are small blood vessels and nerves that supply the wart. For this reason warts are more painful with side to side pinching.

Warts are contagious to susceptible people and are usually found in adolescents.

If the plantar wart is small and discovered early, prescribed chemical agents often times are all that are needed. For large or resistant warts, we often time use Laser surgery that gives good results with minimal discomfort. This is done on an out-patient basis and the patient loses no time off his feet.

If you have the above symptoms or any other foot discomfort, you may contact Dr. Winters for a NO COST CONSULTATION to see if there may be an answer to your foot pain.

An Area Guide to Home Design, Remodeling and Real Estate

Remodeling do's and don'ts

When it comes to remodeling, homeowners and home seekers tend to be motivated by the same goals: greater comfort, greater pleasure and greater value.

However, those goals don't necessarily complement each other and experts caution that before you tackle any remodeling job you should understand that they don't offer the same rewards.

"A remodeled older home can be a smart idea for some families, but the reasons can vary. The house may simply need cosmetic improvements because it is aging. A growing family may need another bedroom or bathroom. Or the owners may decide that they can finally add a family room or install a swimming pool," notes Stephen W. Baird, president of Baird and Warner.

Their primary motivation is comfort and pleasure. If their mission is to increase the value of the home for eventual resale—which is sometimes the goal of buyers shopping for older homes with fix-up potential—they should realize that remodeling changes have different values in the marketplace.

For example, according to studies by government agencies and the National Assn. of Remodeling Industry, Chicago-area homeowners can expect to recover as much as 98 percent of the cost of a major kitchen remodeling project.

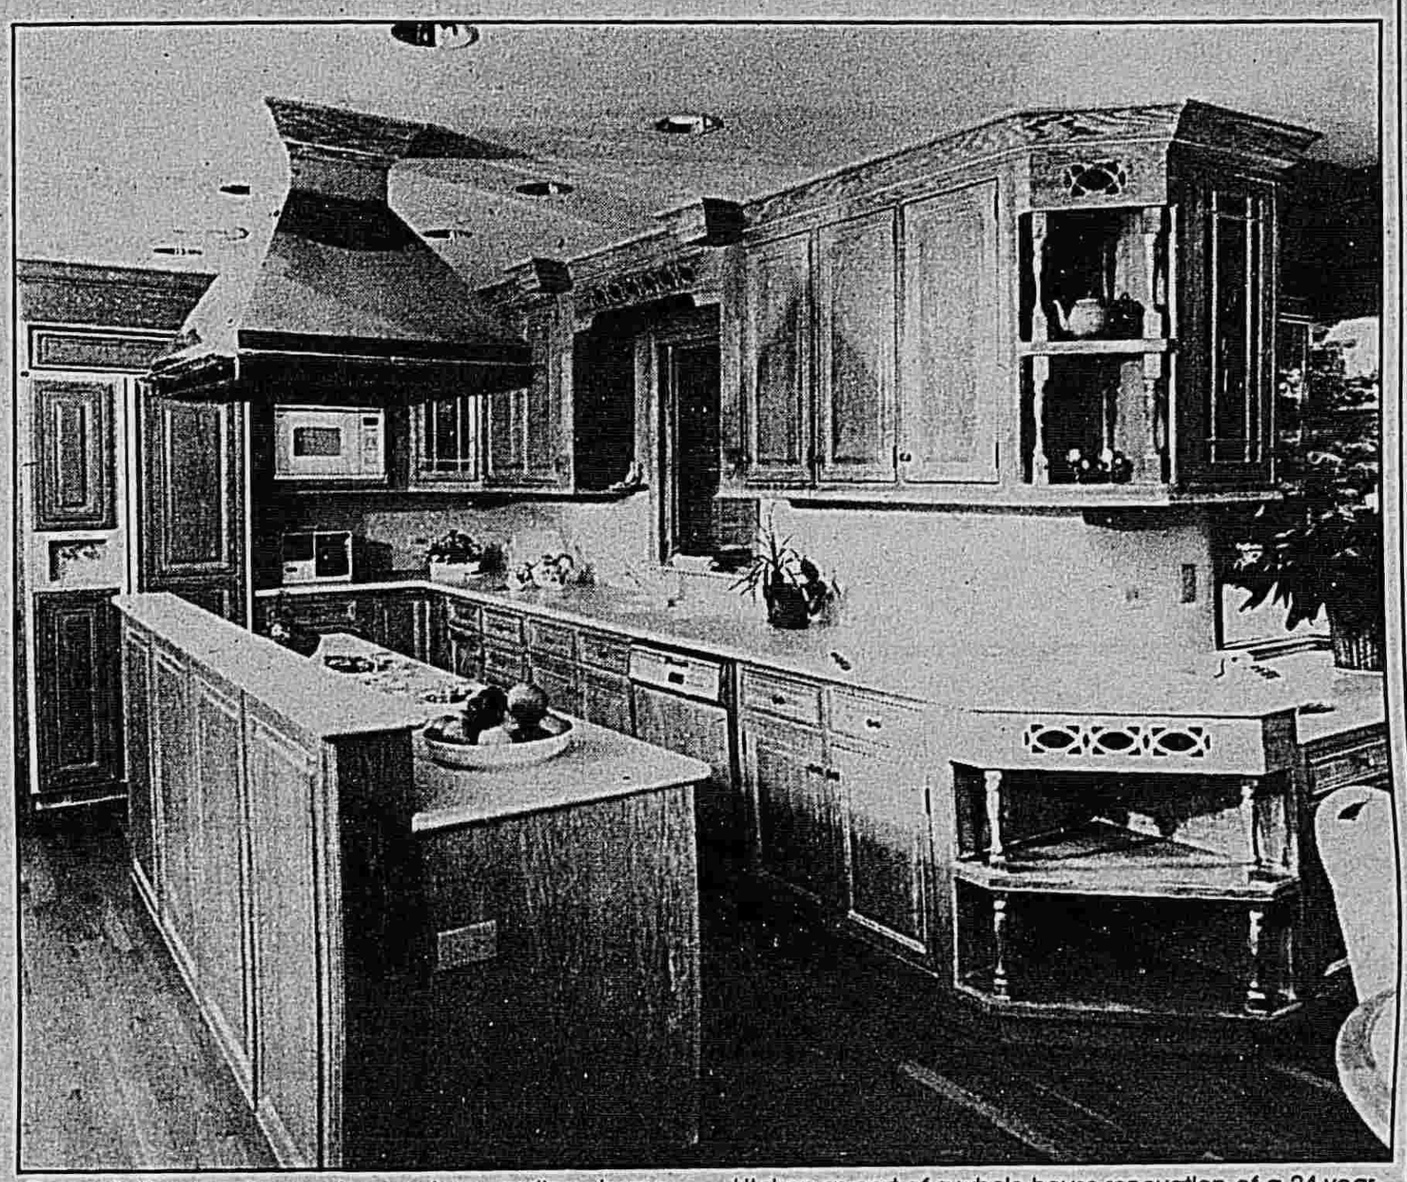

On the other hand, those studies, which include evaluations by the U. S. Dept. of Commerce and the Bureau of the Census, show that you will get less than half your money back (45 percent) when you replace windows.

And real estate experts tell you that if you install a swimming pool in this area you'd best enjoy swimming.

"You're lucky to recoup a portion of that cost in the Midwest," Baird observes. "In fact, it can be a detriment because the presence of a swimming pool automatically eliminates every potential buyer who doesn't want a swimming pool.

Another high risk is over-improving a house.

"Adding a fourth bedroom might make sense, but not a fifth. If you are in a neighborhood where three or four bedrooms is the norm, few shoppers will be looking for the fifth and even fewer willing to pay extra for it," Baird said.

One of the most popular and rewarding home improvement projects is a major kitchen remodeling. Experts say homeowners can expect to recover 98 percent of their investment for major kitchen remodeling. Bongi Development Corp. completely remodeled this kitchen as part of a whole-house renovation of a 24-year-old home in suburban Park Ridge. The makeover included new cabinets, counters, appliances and curved windows and even new oak hardwood floors.

Besides educating themselves on the potential returns for renovating a home, owners and bargain-hunting buyers also need to guard against underestimating costs, advises Baird.

He offers this general advice:

• The house should be structurally suitable for what you have in mind. You may have visions of tearing out walls, here, putting windows there, rearranging plumbing, etc. "Before you start anything of a major nature, hire an architect or consulting engineer to review your plans and determine if the house is suitable for such adaptation," says Baird. For example, an expert may discover that supporting beams are not in the right place for alterations you plan, or that additional supports are necessary, adding to the cost.

• Get an expert's estimate of the cost of the changes you envision. Remodeling experts observe that most homeowner's intuitive estimate of costs is off the mark by up to 60 percent.

• Be prepared for surprises. For example, it is not uncommon to plan replacing just a portion of the plumbing, and then find that you have to replace it all. Also, when you begin tearing down walls you may discover structural defects that must be corrected.

• There are few remodeling projects that pay off dollar-for-dollar in the short term. Most changes pay off immediately in use and satisfaction for the owner, but a home seeker with a different personality and lifestyle may not be willing to pay the premium that your remodeling costs. And the newly remodeled home must fit the location, a prime reason for many sales. A rule of thumb applied by both real estate brokers and remodelers is that an improvement that brings a home to the level of similar houses in the neighborhood is a good one. Going beyond that can be financially risky.

Carl Bongi, president of Bongi Development Corp., a Palatine based home builder and remodeler, agrees.

"Catching up with other houses in the area can be cost-effective, but overbuilding for an area can be personally costly, he says.

In this chart Bongi offers estimated cost ranges for typical home improvements.

Bongi also notes that there probably is no such thing as a "typical" home improvement and prices will vary with the quality and quantity of work to be performed.

"The best advice we can give is that you establish a close working relationship with the remodeler of you choice, much the same as a doctor/patient or attorney/client relationship. We like to walk through a project with clients from their original thought concept to job completion to assure that there is clear communication about the client's desires and satisfaction with our performance," Bongi said.

According to the U.S. Dept. of Commerce, Census Bureau and National Assn. of the Remodeling Industry, here are examples of what you can expect to recover on typical remodeling projects in the Chicago area:

Project	Cost Recovered
Major kitchen remodeling	98%
Minor kitchen remodeling	88
Bath addition	85
Bath remodeling	76
Family room addition	102
Sun room addition	59
Deck addition	81
Remodel master suite	80
Attic bedroom addition	80
Replace windows	45
Replace siding	61

Job	Cost Range
Replacing hot-air furnace	$2,500 to $3,500
Reroofing over existing shingles	$95 and up per square foot, depending upon the pitch
Upgrading electrical service to 150 or 200 amperes, with breakers	$1,450 to $2,000
Sanding and Refinishing wood floor	90 cents per square foot
Installing new bathroom	$10,000 to $15,000, with today's features
Remodeling existing bath	$7,000 to $10,000
Installing tile shower	$1,200 to $1,500
Installing complete central air conditioning	$3,000 to $5,000, double with new ductwork, wiring
Remodeling kitchen (cabinets, floor, appliances, countertop, plumbing, wiring, decorating)	$20,000 to $30,000
Adding second story to one-story house	Variable per plan
Finishing attic into a room	$40 to $50 per square foot
Finishing basement into recreation room	$18,000 to $25,000
New two-car garage	$15,000 to $19,000
Adding two car-garage to existing home	$15,000 to $25,000

A handyman special—Not!

The Fox Lake Youth Club has transformed a picnic shelter into a haunted house that will thrill and spook, if they choose, youngsters of all ages.

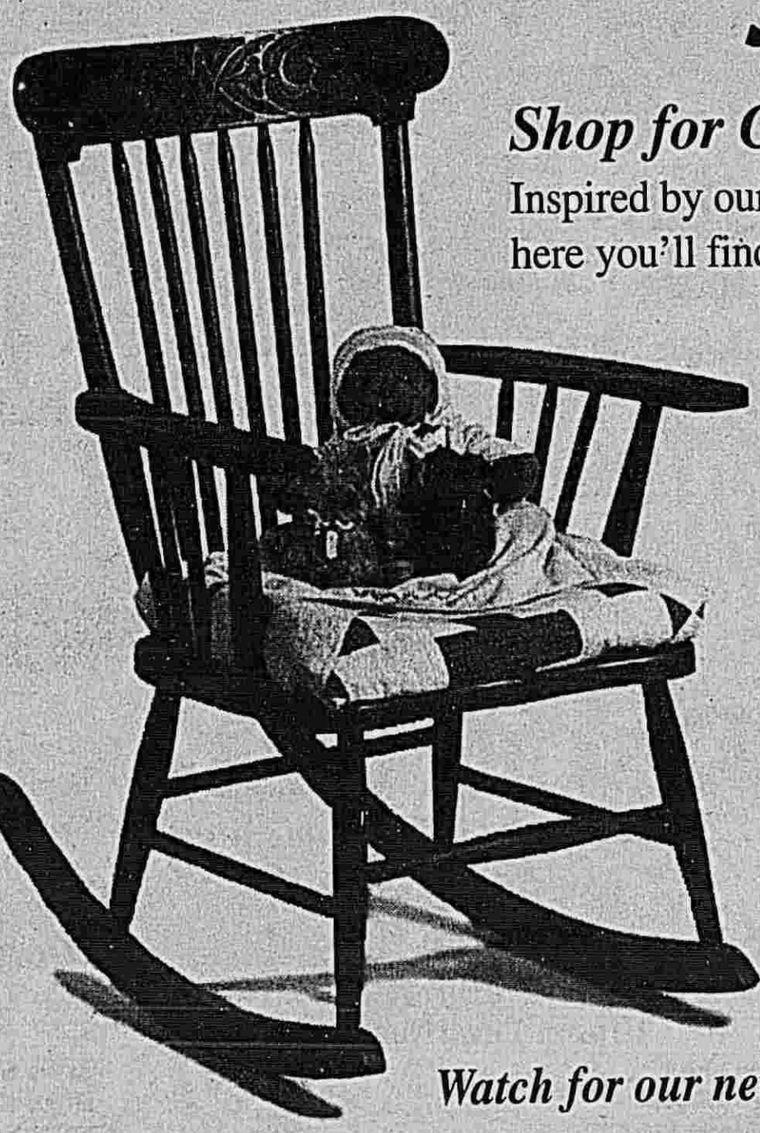

"We are offering any one going through the house the opportunity to request not to be scared," said John Cavaliere, project chairman. "We will also have set friendly monster hours. This is a no-touch haunted house. Guest traveling through the maze will not be touched by those working inside."

More than 30 members of the youth group, which is open to children ages 10- 18 .have been spending weekends and after-school afternoons working on transforming the picnic shelter. When complete it will include: music, lighting, several static sets with moveable creatures and a welcoming party of spooky volunteers.

The Haunted House will be open Oct. 25 -31. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children. The spooky event is located behind the Fox Lake Fire Department on Washington Street.

Cracker storage

When purchasing crackers in the box with four individually wrapped packages and taking out a stack of crackers and eating a few, fold the wrapper over the remaining crackers and store them in an empty, tall cylinder-shaped potato chip can. It keeps them fresher. You can cover the container with decorative paper to make it more attractive.

Soap film removal

To remove white soapy film from glassware that was left behind from the dishwasher try pouring white household vinegar onto a clean, damp sponge and wipe it over the glass, inside and out. Then rinse it in water and let it dry.

Plant clippings

To keep short plant clippings from slipping around in the jar of water use two pieces of florist's tape (transparent tape will also work), crisscross the tape over the top of the jar, in an X pattern, and let it stick to the side, then insert the clippings into the hole this makes. It's an old florist's trick that works great.

Cobweb buster

To dust away those pesky cobwebs, cover a broom with a piece of cloth. Then simply brush them down. This works great on textured ceilings and keeps it from shedding.

Handy mop

When cleaning out the bottom of kitchen cabinets take everything out and instead of bending down to wash them use a sponge mop! Works great. For paneling that needs cleaning use the mop again, no bending or stretching. If you have carpet, be sure to cover edges with plastic to catch any excess water drips. Try using a sponge mop, with no sharp edges, to clean out the bathtub!

Toothbrush holder

Keep loose pens and pencils for your purse in a plastic toothbrush travel holder. It will keep the lining of your purse from getting stained with ink marks and it's easy to get to when needed.

Autograph tablecloth

To make a birthday party fun, purchase an inexpensive white tablecloth and have the guests sign it! To make it last through the years you can embroider each name in different colors.

Easy country living plan includes four bedrooms

FLOOR PLAN

Cross the large country styled front porch and enter this home through a long formal entrance foyer. The dining room is through a cased opening and it features a bay window. Another cased opening leads directly into the activity room, or to the stairs up to an undeveloped attic area. The ceiling in the activity room is a stepped tray, providing an elegant feeling.

The kitchen and breakfast room open to the activity room, also contributing to the feeling of spaciousness. The breakfast room has a bay window and overlooks the sun deck which is accessible either from the master bedroom or the activity room.

The kitchen includes all the modern conveniences. An extra touch for the cook is that the sink is located overlooking a snack bar between this area and the activity room.

The master bedroom is located off a hall which connects to the laundry room and oversized double garage. A half bath is located here as well for daytime use.

The master suite includes another stepped tray ceiling and a lavish bath including separate glass shower and garden tub. A closet with abundant hanging space is coupled with the bath area.

The three remaining bedrooms, which utilize a central bath are accessible from a hall of the activity room.

The exterior is country with triple dormers, a covered front porch and horizontal wood siding.

Plan number 2558 is a computer generated plan drawn in accordance with FHA and VA requirements, and contains 2,595 sq. ft. For further information, write W.D. Farmer Residence Designer, Inc., P.O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 30345.

Electronic homes offer wide range of conveniences

The "electronic house" is a term that is becoming more familiar to homeowners. New systems have been developed offering a wide range of conveniences.

These systems can be separated into three classifications; power and lighting systems, security and telephone systems and home entertainment.

Lighting systems allow the homeowner to control various lights and electrical equipment from a single control point. For example, a control panel located in the master bedroom could turn on all of the exterior lights, first floor or hallway lights.

More advanced systems provide a portable control panel, which when plugged into any outlet, can also control the same commands.

Installation of this system normally occurs during construction where extra wiring is provided for the designated light and power circuits.

Security and telephone systems have also advanced in sophistication. Besides the high-tech motion and vibration detectors for home security, closed circuit TV cameras using economically priced components offer both visual and sound security.

A common doorbell can now be replaced by a camera tied to your TV, with a microphone connected to your TV or telephone system. When a visitor reaches your door, you may speak to them via any telephone, or visually see who is there by simply changing the TV channel.

Telephone systems have also replaced the old intercom systems by providing paging and two-way internal conversations, similar to that used in office environments. Music can also be delivered to each room equipped with a telephone through its speaker.

Home entertainment or theater systems are gaining in popularity as prices for equipment becomes more reasonable.

Many new homes have very small but highly effective speakers installed for a sound system in designated areas, controlled by the central unit. Even VCR's can now route cable or video signals such as movies from one master to any other TV in the house. All of the above can be controlled through infra-red remote control technology.

Save money and landfill space with this sturdy and roomy compost bin. Made from standard size Western lumber, it is simple enough to build in an afternoon, using only a saw, hammer and level.

Easy-to-build composter

This two-bin composter, easily constructed from pressure-treated Western Lumber, is designed to turn yard debris and vegetable scraps into a rich garden mulch quickly, easily and at virtually no cost (you need add only water). In doing so, it will save you money by reducing your trash hauling fees and it will protect the environment by conserving landfill space.

The advantage of a two-bin system is you can periodically transfer material from one bin to the other, exposing the well rotted compost at the bottom. And because the front panel of each bin is removable, this design allows easy access to the bottom of the pile. Boards on the sides and ends are spaced to provide ample air circulation, helping to speed decomposition. To build the bin, which measures eight feet long by four feet deep and four feet high, use this shopping list:

Western Lumber pressure-treated for ground contact, 3 eight-foot 4x4s (have the lumber yard saw them each in half), 14 12-foot 1x6s (these will need to be sawn into various smaller pieces), 3 eight-foot 2x4s, Western Lumber untreated, 8 four-foot lengths of 1x1, 1 six-foot length of 1x1, Assortment of 4d, 6d and 10d hot-dipped galvanized nails, small tube of outdoor-use glue.

Tools list:

Hammer, portable power saw or hand saw, carpenter's leve.

For maximum durability be sure to specify Western Lumber that has been pressure-treated for ground contact for the 2x4s and 1x6s. (Note: Always wash hands after handling treated wood and never burn scraps in the fireplace or wood stove.)

Form a frame for the front of the bin by nailing (use 10d nails) an eight-foot 2x4 across the outside face at the base of three of the 4x4 posts. Repeat this step to begin building the back wall. Connect these two frames by nailing four-foot 2x4s to the outside end faces and to either face of the center section at the bottom. For all steps, use a carpenter's level to be sure the structure is level and adjust accordingly.

Complete the back wall with seven eight-foot 1x6 boards. Space them 3/4 of an inch, level and nail to the outside of the posts with 6d nails. Similarly, complete the two ends and the center piece with 21 four-foot 1x6s. You will need to saw 2-5/8" off the end of the seven boards used for the center section.

To form guides for the removable front pieces, cut the 1x1s into eight four-foot lengths. Using two per post and keeping them level, space the guides one inch apart and attach them to the inside of each post, flush with the face, using 4d nails.

For the removable front sections, cut the remaining 1x6s into 14 lengths, each 42-3/4 inches long. You will also need 24 three-inch lengths of 1x1 for the spacers. Glue and nail the spacers to the bottom edge of all but one of the 1x6s, near the ends, two per 1x6. Slip the 1x6s into place (the first one will have no spacers) between the guides and start mulching! Tip: to speed the composting process, turn the pile frequently—once or twice a week—cover it and keep it damp.

What's your lighting I.Q.? Take this test and find out

When it comes to understanding lighting, do you feel like you still live in the Dark Ages? Do you know the difference between a lamp and a lumen? How about halogen and halide?

Does all this confusing terminology give you a dim view of the subject? Don't worry. The American Lighting Association has designed the following quiz to enlighten you.

1) What is the most energy-efficient form of lighting you can use in your home?
a. Incandescent
b. Fluorescent
c. Tungsten-halogen

2) A light source is. . .
a. An electrical outlet
b. A ceiling fixture
c. An electric bulb, tube or lamp.

3) A watt is. . .
a. The amount of electricity consumed by a light source.
b. The amount of light generated by a light source.
c. The amount of light reaching a subject.

4) What is a lumen?
a. A table lamp.
b. The amount of light generated by a light source.
c. A floor lamp.

5) A tungsten-halogen lamp is. . .
a. An incandescent bulb that produces a warm, yellow light.
b. An incandescent bulb that produces a soft, blue light.
c. An incandescent bulb containing a gas that burns bright white when ignited by a metal filament.

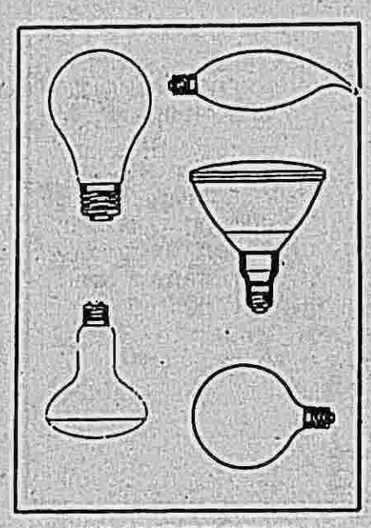

6) Accent lighting is. . .
a. Light coming from a hanging lamp or pendant.
b. A decorative form of lighting that spotlights treasured objects such as paintings, sculptures and house plants.
c. Light that enables you to see and walk about safely.

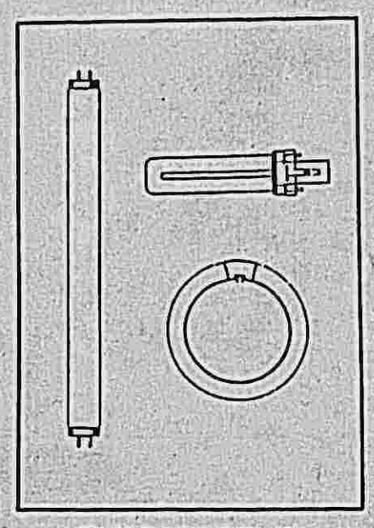

7) Low-voltage lighting is. . .
a. Lighting positioned close to the ground to illuminate plants and pathways.
b. A light management system that digitally dims groups of lights to preset levels.
c. A lighting system that utilizes 12-volt current instead of regular 110-volt household current.

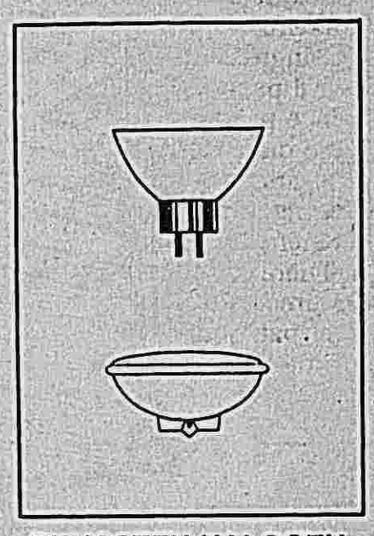

8) What is a reflector lamp?
a. A mirror surrounded with softly-glowing bare bulbs such as those used in theater dressing rooms.
b. A lamp with a shiny metal interior that either floods or concentrates light on a subject.
c. A crystal chandelier.

9) Grazing is. . .
a. Positioning a light closer to an interesting surface to bring out its texture.
b. Mounting lights high up in trees or on the house to cast broad illumination over wide areas.
c. Lighting an object from two or more sides to reveal its three-dimensional form.

10) High-intensity discharge lighting is. . .
a. Lighting that focuses a controlled, intense beam on an object.
b. Light that focuses on a specific task such as reading, cooking or sewing.
c. Light emitted by an electric lamp containing either mercury vapor, low-pressure or high-pressure sodium or metal halide.

INCANDESCENT

TUNGSTEN-HALOGEN

ANSWER KEY

Give yourself three points for each correct answer.

1) b. Fluorescent lighting saves energy by using one-fifth to one-third as much electricity as regular incandescent lighting while providing the same amount of illumination. Fluorescent lighting is also more efficient than tungsten-halogen, which is another form of incandescent lighting.

2) c. The light source is the bulb, tube or lamp that is either screwed or mounted into a lighting fixture.

3) a. The wattage of an electric bulb, tube or lamp determines how much energy it uses.

4) b. The number of lumens generated by an electric bulb, tube or lamp determines how bright the light source is. This information is usually listed on the outside of the package.

5) c. The bright white light emitted by a tungsten-halogen lamp makes it ideal for use in accent lighting.

6) b. Accent lighting can be achieved with track, recessed or wall-mounted fixtures that cast directional light on a particular object.

7) c. Low-voltage lighting produces superior accent lighting when used with a tungsten-halogen lamp with a built-in reflector.

8) b. Reflector lamps direct light forward, providing twice the light output of a regular incandescent lamp of the same wattage.

9) a. Grazing is an excellent way to highlight the texture of trees, stone or brick walls, wood shingles, draperies, or an interesting door.

10) c. High-intensity discharge lamps are extremely energy-efficient and are most often used outdoors for street lighting and other industrial and commercial purposes.

How to measure your lighting IQ.

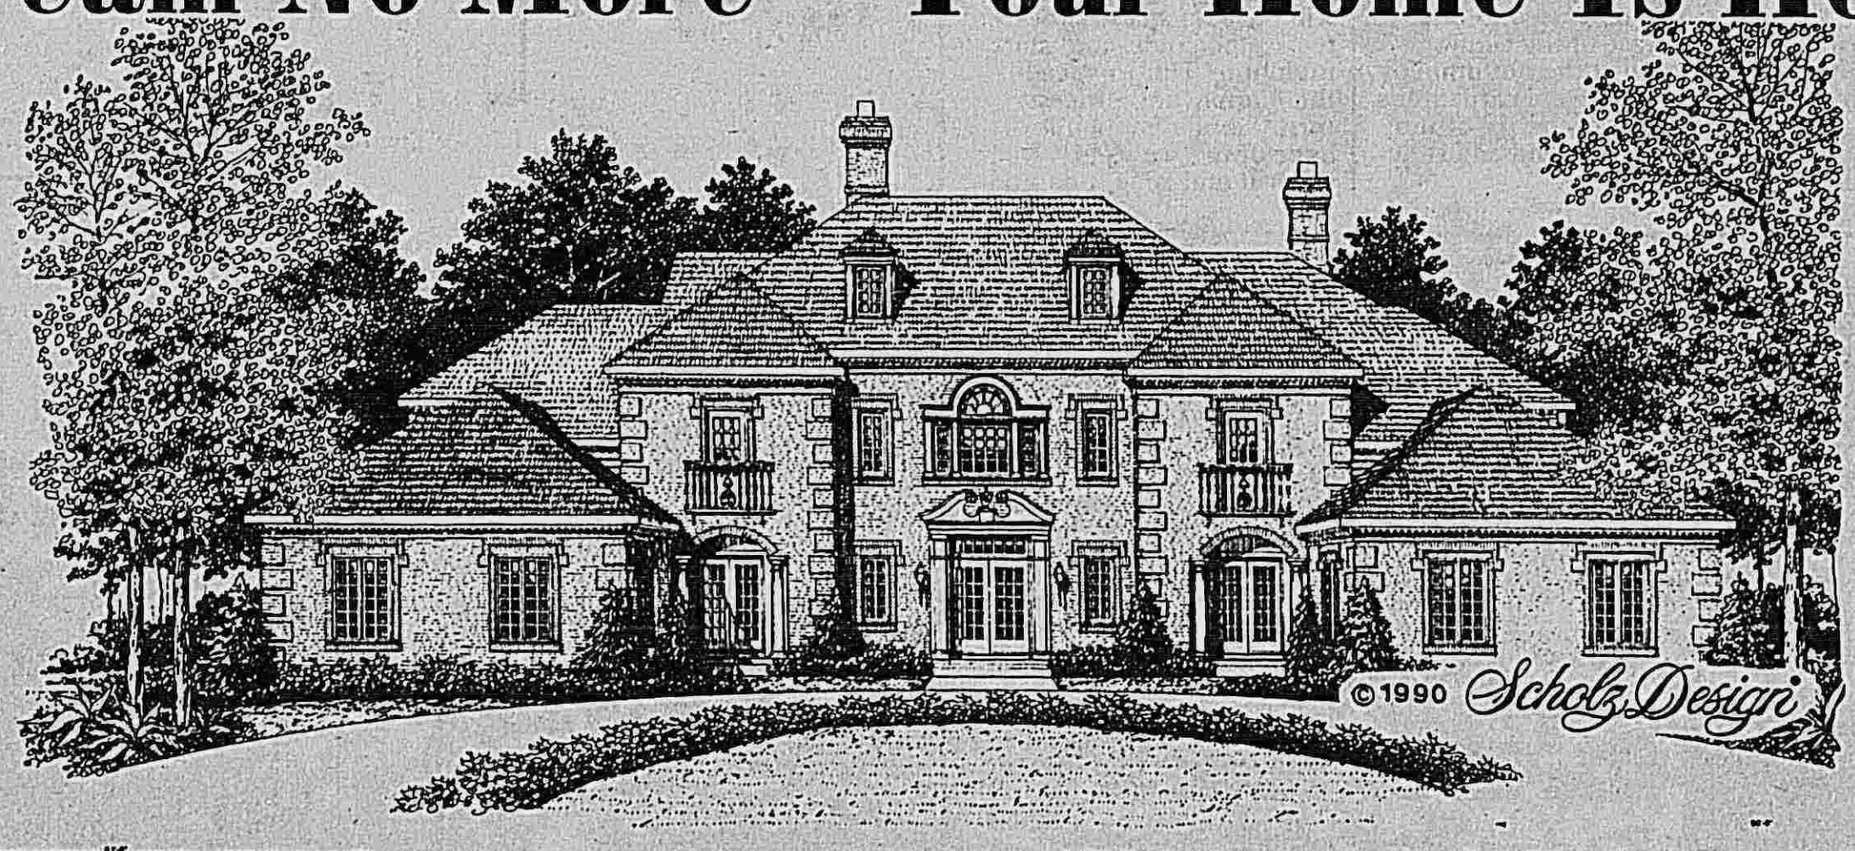

Point Score:

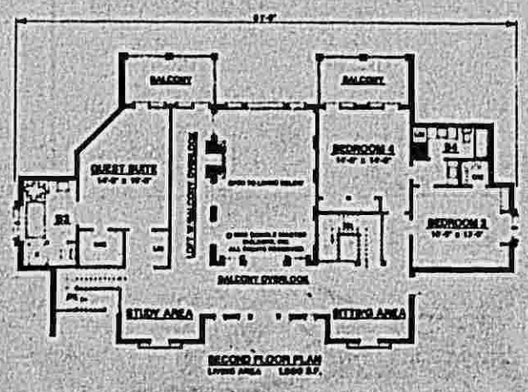

27-30 Congratulations! You're a lighting whiz.

Follow these simple steps for ladder safety

The informed do-it-yourselfer knows all the right ingredients for a successful paint job: good surface preparations, use of top quality paint and tools, and tackling exterior painting under the proper weather conditions.

There are certain general precautions to follow when painting with the aid of a ladder. The following safety tips pertain to both interior and exterior painting:

•Inspect your ladders before you use them. Make sure the rungs are intact and free of dirt and excessive paint buildup that could interfere with footing.

•Place the ladder at the correct angle. For every nine feet of height up the wall, the base of the ladder should be three feet away from the wall.

•Ensure that the ladder reaches at least three feet higher than the highest level at which you want to stand. Never stand above the third-highest rung.

•Wrap cloth around the tops of the ladder to protect the wall and help prevent slipping.

•Before attempting to climb a stepladder, make sure it is full opened, with the shelf pushed all the way down.

•Before mounting any type of ladder, empty your pockets of knives, scissors, and other pointed tools.

•Always face the ladder as you climb and dismount.

•Once you are on a ladder, keep your hips between the rails to avoid falling.

•Wear rubber-soled or non-slip shoes on any type of ladder.

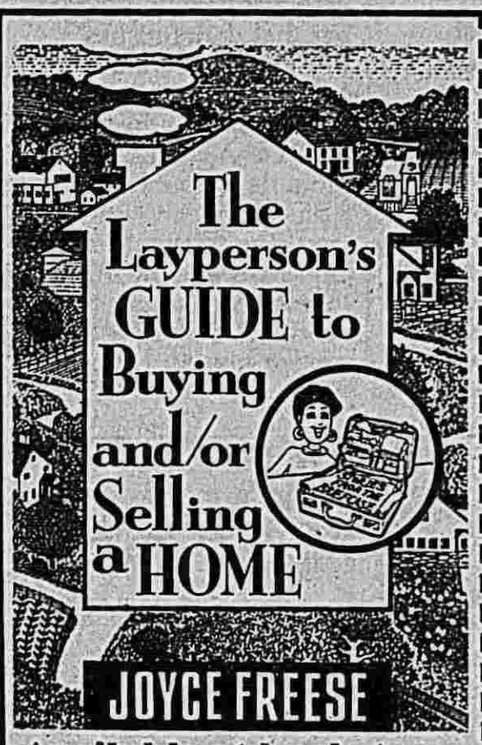

•Avoid working in wet or windy weather. Do not, under any circumstances, climb a wet ladder.

•When raising the ladder to paint, make sure the base is level an see that it sits firmly on solid ground.

•Support ladders with strong boards, or attach rubber pads to the feet, to keep them from sinking into the ground.

•For added safety, consider tying your ladder to a large eye bolt fixed in the wall or fascia board.

Find right furniture fit—take LIFE quiz

There's a reason why wood furniture comes in such a tremendous variety of materials, styles and price ranges. Everybody's needs are different. What works for Aunt Ida might not necessarily be attractive or practical for you.

To determine what's best for you, take this L.I.F.E. (Lifestyle Inventory and Furniture Evaluation) Quiz from the Hardwood Manufacturers Association. Your answers will help you identify a furniture style that meets your needs and fits your lifestyle, letting you make the most of your furniture investment.

1. How many people live in your home? What are their ages? Estimate how often each piece will be used and the ages of those using it. For example, a young, active family is tough on furniture, so avoid fragile pieces or delicate fabrics.

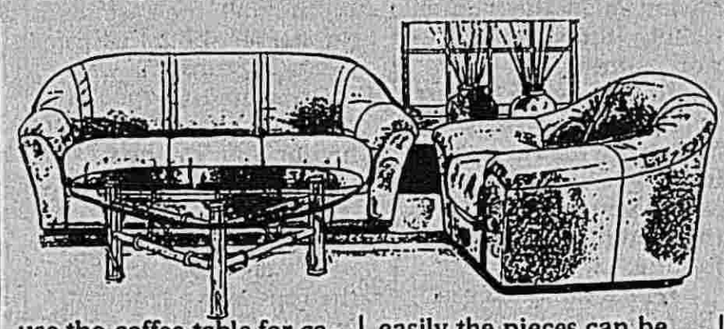

Also remember that elderly adults need furniture that's easy to maintain and poses no physical challenges or hazards.

2. Do children or grandchildren visit frequently? Kids run, jump, collide, trip and crash. Solid hardwood furniture's rounded corners minimize bumps and bruises and can be repaired easily. Choose fabrics that resist stains and can be cleaned easily, as well as finishes that resist sticky fingerprints and dirt.

3. Do you have pets? Muddy paws and dog or cat hair are a fact of life for pet owners. High-maintenance fabrics such as velvets or light colors could be trouble if your pets also use the furniture.

4. How much time do you have for cleaning? These days, probably not a lot. Look for furniture that can be waxed occasionally and kept clean with a soft cloth. Remember that dark finishes show dust, dirt and fingerprints more readily.

5. How will the room be used? A child's bedroom does double duty as a playroom and study area. The family room often serves as a sewing or TV room or as a guest bedroom. Should the sofa convert to a bed? Do you use the coffee table for casual dining? Do you move the chairs around frequently? Choose furniture that serves multiple purposes and offers flexibility.

6. Will you be moving soon? If you're contemplating a move or face frequent job transfers, reconsider that purchase of fragile, oversized or complex furniture groupings. Think about how your furniture will fit your new home or apartment floorplan, as well as how easily the pieces can be moved.

7. Do you have antiques or heirlooms? Old pieces and those with sentimental value can serve as a room's focal point or make wonderful accents. Be sure to tell your furniture salesman, or decorator, about these treasures and how you want them to fit into the overall decorating scheme.

8. Will the room be used for entertaining? Whether your gatherings are relaxed and casual, or elaborate cocktail parties for dozens of people, your furniture should adapt to your social style. If pieces will be exposed to numerous spills, look for a durable surface that wipes clean easily.

Consider whether chairs will be used in conversation groupings or as stand-alones. Will they be moved often to make room? Are they sturdy enough to withstand continual changes in weight from use by different people?

In time, solid hardwood pieces purchased for your home will become tomorrow's heirlooms, the focal points for your children's and grandchildren's decorating.

Electric water heater timers can cut water-heating cost

A study conducted by Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT) confirms that homeowners with electric water heaters can slash their water heating bills up to 26 percent by using an electric water heater timer. Based on these results, the timer could pay for itself in less than one year.

Although electricity rates vary significantly across the nation, an electric water heater timer can provide a quick payback to homeowners virtually anywhere. For example, in a typical household paying an 8 cent per kilowatt hour rate (about the national average) the 26 percent energy cost reduction translates to an estimated annual savings of $106. Consumers paying a 14 cent per kilowatt hour rate would save about $186 per year.

In addition to the local utility rate, other key factors affecting the actual savings are the household's water usage and the water temperature setting.

The IIT study, which was conducted in conjunction with Intermatic Inc., used a standard 52-gallon electrically heated water tank. Forty gallons of water were drawn twice each day, early in the morning and in the evening. The electric power consumption and water temperatures were recorded for several days while the tank operated with and without an electric water heater timer.

"Electric water heaters are among a household's bigger electricity users," says Bruce Oellerich, Intermatic marketing manager. "The test results demonstrate that an electric water heater timer offers and effective means for reducing your energy bills."

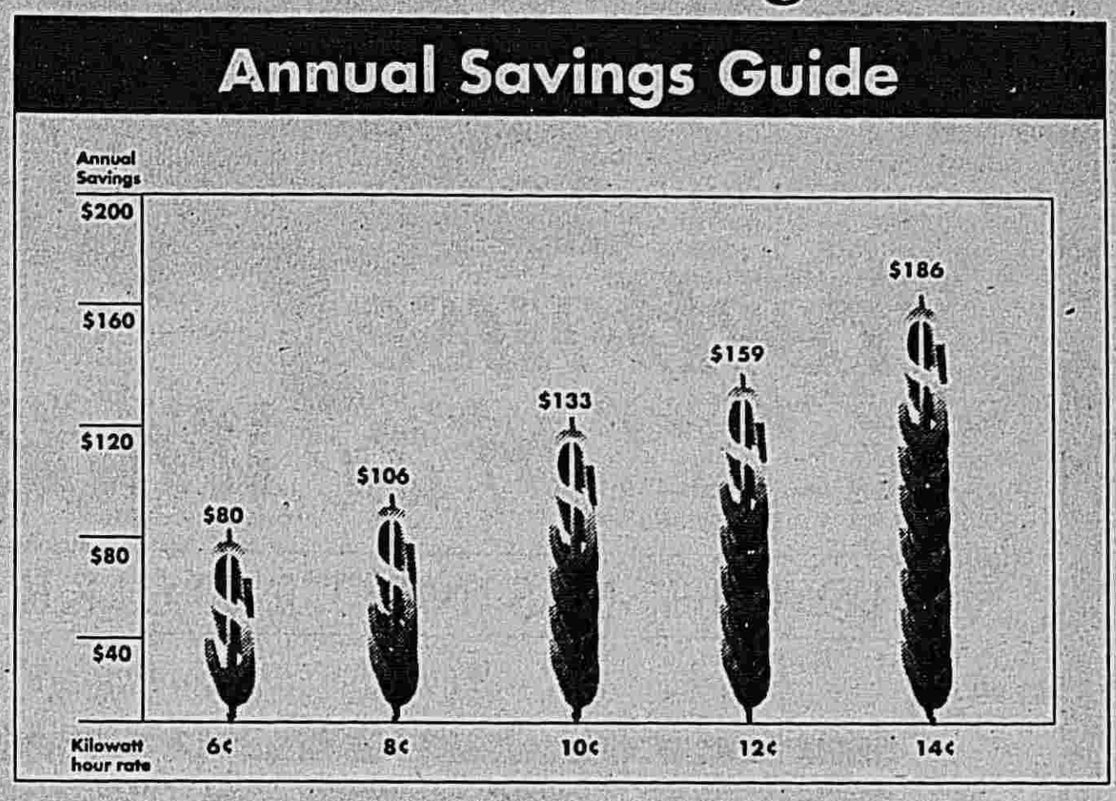

Conventional water heaters are set to maintain a consistent water temperature throughout the day. When the temperature drops below a pre-set value, the electricity turns on and energy is supplied to the water until the desired temperature is regained. However, hot water is needed only for limited functions during certain key time periods.

According to Oellerich, the key element in reducing electric water heater usage is matching the hot water supply to heavy-use periods, such as morning showers and evening dish washing. A water heater timer achieves this objective by letting users select the time periods when hot water is available, such as from 6 to 8 a.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

An electric water heater timer can be installed by an electrician or avid do-it-yourselfer in about 30 minutes.

Most models can be programmed for up to 12 on/off operations daily. Popular features include a external override switch that allows homeowners to schedule more hot water if it's needed and a "seven-day skipper" that permits 24-hour operation of the water heater on selected days (such s during weekends).

An electric water heater timer lets users immediately stop spending money heating water unnecessarily.

Super Saver—An Intermatic electric water heater timer can save homeowners up to 26 percent on their water heating costs.

Lifeline

Beta Sigma Phi comes to aid of ALS victim

Amyotrophic lateral sclerosis victim John Eckhardt and his family were featured in two articles in Lakeland Newspapers earlier this year.

The family has been mired in red tape trying to get financial assistance. John has not been able to work for three years. His wife Joann gave up her job over a year ago in order to take care of him.

An emergency fund was set up at the Fox Lake Bank, but donations have not kept up with their expenses.

The Chi Epsilon Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority learned of the Eckhardts' plight. Although it is not a service organization, the sorority members "experience the joy of helping others."

Jean De Stefano, treasurer of the organization, said that her mother-in-law had died of ALS and she had been involved with the Chicago chapter of the ALS Association.

"If I can do anything to help them, I'll do it," she said. "They have been neglected in a lot of way. We can help financially as well as psychologically."

The chapter has contributed $50 to the Eckhardt family.

At the Beta Sigma Phi state convention Oct. 22-24 the chapter will hold a raffle to benefit the family. A table will be set up with various craft items.

The Chi Epsilon chapter is also sending letters to other chapters in the area, explaining the disease and the problems that the Eckhardt family faces.

They are selling "Gold C" coupon books for $10; $1 of each sale will be given to John Eckhardt. De Stefano is also going to call on volunteers from the ALS Association and bring the Eckhardt family to their attention.

"Maybe they can assist them," she said.

De Stefano is also concerned that John doesn't have a hospital bed or an electric lift chair.

"They need a van with a lift," she said.

She and her sorority sisters are considering a fund raiser for that.

"They need just to be cared for," De Stefano said.

Good Shepherd accredited by blood bank association

EHS Good Shepherd Hospital has been granted renewal of accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB).

Accreditation follows an intensive on-site inspection by specially trained representatives of the association and establishes that the level of medical, technical and administrative performance within the facility meets or exceeds the standards set by the AABB. By successfully meeting those requirements, EHS Good Shepherd joins more than 2,000 similar facilities across the United States and abroad.

"The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary," said Diane Hunt, director of EHS Good Shepherd's laboratory. "EHS Good Shepherd has sought AABB accreditation because this program assists facilities around the country in achieving excellence by promoting a level of professional and medical expertise that contributes to quality performance."

Since 1958, the AABB has been engaged in the voluntary inspection and accreditation of blood banks and transfusion services. The Inspection and Accreditation Program assists blood banks and transfusion services in determining whether methods, procedures, personnel knowledge, equipment and the physical plant meet established requirements. These standards not only set the level of professional proficiency for blood banks and transfusion services in the United States.

Blood needed

Chicagoland's two largest blood centers have issued a joint plea for volunteer blood donations.

The chief executives from LifeSource Blood Services of Glenview and United Blood Services (UBS) of Chicago have announced that blood supply levels across the six county area surrounding Chicago have reached dangerously low levels. Donations are far below anticipated need and not expected to return to normal levels until late October.

Supplies of all blood types are low, but types O and B blood are at critical levels. To alleviate the depleted blood supply, both blood centers urge all eligible donors to donate.

Volunteers interested in donating are urged to call their local donor center for the most convenient donation location: LifeSource Blood Services: 298-9660, 14 donor centers; United Blood Services, (312)751-1701, eight donor centers.

HEART TO HEART.

Often, the fear that you may be having a heart attack is more frightening than the physical pain itself. That's why it is reassuring to have a hospital like Victory Memorial in your community. We have the expertise that is needed in life-threatening situations, yet, we also understand the anxiety that is felt by the whole family in a crisis. We treat everyone with dignity and compassion. This total approach encompasses every facet of cardiac care.

Is your heart calling for help?

Knowing the danger signals of a heart attack may save your life. These signs include severe pain in the chest or an uncomfortable fullness or pressure that lasts for more than two minutes, dizziness, fainting, heavy sweating, pain that radiates down your arm and / or up to your jaw, shortness of breath, nausea or vomiting associated with any of the above.

Split-second timing.

Minutes count when you may be having a heart attack. That's when Victory's Emergency team swings into action. Board-certified emergency physicians, using sophisticated monitoring and diagnostic equipment, come to your rescue quickly and efficiently. They may administer a wonderful new medication which dissolves blood clots and often stops a heart attack in progress.

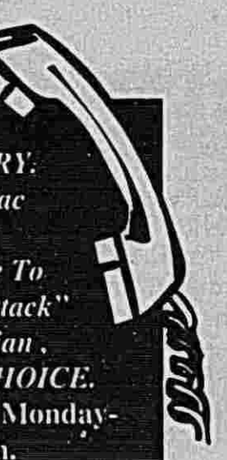

Cardiac catheterization.

The Cardiac Catheterization Lab at Victory is second to none in Lake County. Here, you will receive the finest care, provided by board-certified Victory cardiologists and specialists from the renowned heart center at St. Luke's Hospital in Milwaukee. These physicians have successfully performed thousands of these procedures to detect a variety heart problems. An individualized patient education program, administered by a skilled staff of nurses and technicians, provides ongoing cardiac catheterization support and information for the whole family.

Get well, stay well.

Hundreds of satisfied patients attest to the excellence of our cardiac rehabilitation and wellness programs. Our rehabilitation department is easily accessible with plenty of free parking. The latest equipment and knowledgeable professionals work with your physician to develop an individualized program especially suited to your needs. Our wellness programs include computerized health risk appraisals and a host of educational programs and support groups.

EHS family care network offers parenting sessions

EHS Family Care Network will present a six-session "Active Parenting of Teens" series from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Saturdays, Oct. 16 through Nov. 20.

The group sessions will be presented in Conference House A at the hospital, 450 W. Highway 22, Barrington. There is a $150 fee per family for all six sessions.

To register, call the EHS Behavioral Health Referral Service at 456-4444.

The "Active Parenting of Teens" series offers parents of teens sound, practical communication skills and techniques designed to help them through the most demanding and challenging years of parenting. The program contains 60 slice-of-life, teen-specific video vignettes that hit close to home with wit, sensitivity, encouragement and realistic application.

Group leaders include Thomas M. Holden, D.Min., and Shirley Dorough, Psy.D. (candidate), EHS Family Care Network therapists.

"The series is designed for parents who want to understand teens, win cooperation and learn how to instill courage, self-esteem and responsibility in their children," explained Dr. Holden. "It also will help parents as their teens face the challenge of alcohol, drugs and their growing sexuality."

EHS Good Shepherd Hospital, which is part of EHS Health Care, is located north of Barrington on Highway 22, two miles west of Route 59.

Academy will host an open house for treatment center

Forest Academy, a residential treatment center and therapeutic day school in Wonder Lake, will host an open house on Wednesday, Oct. 27 from 3 to 5 p.m.

Sponsored by Forest Health Systems, the open house is an opportunity for educators, doctors, social workers and other professionals, as well as interested parents, to learn more about the opportunities and programs available at Forest Academy.

Forest Academy's residential treatment program is designed for young women aged 11 to 19 suffering from social and emotional disorders.

The Academy also offers McHenry County's only private children's therapeutic day school, serving boys and girls aged 5 to 12. Children who have experienced difficulty in a conventionally structured school setting receive comprehensive behavioral treatment, along with a flexible curriculum and personal attention designed to meet individual academic needs.

Forest Academy is located at 3116 Thompson Rd. in Wonder Lake. For further information about the open house or academy programs, call (815)728-0463.

Serving the northwest suburbs for more than 35 years, Forest Health Systems is a group of behavioral health facilities, including Forest Hospital in Des Plaines, that offers treatment programs for children, adolescents and adults suffering from mental and emotional disorders. Forest also offers comprehensive programs for eating disorders, dual diagnosis, substance abuse and partial hospitalization, as well as a range of outpatient programs.

Older adults hold food drive

Clients and staff of the Victory Adult Day Care Center (Waukegan) are collecting canned and packaged foods to support the Catholic Charities Food Pantry, which serves Lake County. The Victory Adult Day Center, associated with Victory Memorial Hospital, provides structured activities, exercise and social interactions for older adults in the north Lake County area. "The older adults who attend our center enjoy staying involved in the community. Our clients decided to help their neighbors by pitching in and collecting food for the pantry, which is currently running low on supplies," says Pearl Watts, manager of the adult day center. The food drive is being held now through Oct. 22. Donations may be made 7 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, at the center located in the Lake County Family YMCA, 2000 Western Ave., Waukegan. For more information, call Pearl Watts, 360-9860.

apprentice to another plumber for five years. That's right, the same number of years as teachers! For carpenters, you are a gopher, then a journeyman, then a carpenter, then a master carpenter, then a craftsman. A total of 20 years of experience. The men and women who work in the trades wish they could work a 60 hour work week. That would be considered a vacation. When the pipes break during your holiday dinner, who will be making the housecall? The teacher or the tradesperson?

Not amused

I am calling from Island Lake. I have been a teacher for five years. I have spent many a sleepless night worrying about my students and so have the other teachers here. I resent your title, "Married to a teacher." You don't have to be married to a teacher to appreciate one.

Forced fundraising

I am a parent of a child in District 114. The other day, the PTO had a fund-raiser presentation to the students. The children were told that if they did not sell three items they would not be able to attend the Valentines Dance. I think that is a little dirty. Many parents do not allow their children to sell anything. I do not think it is fair to penalize these children.

Please respond

For over two weeks I have been trying to get a run-over deer off the pavement in the town of Mettawa. I cannot get anyone from the township, village, forest preserve, or county to respond.

Wants a warning

This is "Clean but not shiny." I want to thank "Clean advice" and "Scratch free wash" for their advice. However, due to the careful editing of Lipservice my original intent was diverted. My car is a '91 and I went to a new soft car wash. But, the cloth had metal bits on it which caused damage. I had wanted to warn others about this particular car wash. My insurance will pay but the car wash owners will not until others come forward. I am calling from Mundelein.

Editorial note: Dear reader, we are sorry that we can not specifically name the car wash. I realize your intent is not malicious but we do not print consumer complaints.

Teen hang-out

As a Round Lake resident and a mother of teens, I am disappointed that the proposed teen center will not be built. I would rather have my teens in a supervised center than hanging out in the streets. I, for one, am for the teen center. A cost of $6 a month is less than a new mailbox.

Wants seat belts

There seems to be a lot of concern about school bus safety. And, I totally agree with "Priority confusion." I mean, cameras on the buses and no seat belts? If someone thinks that high seats will protect a child when the bus turns over, they are crazy. Priorities sure are confused!

Leave a tip

I am calling about the inconsiderate people who go into restaurants, are waited on hand and foot, and then stiff them on a tip. Come on people. The employees need these tips. They have families to feed. Spare them a couple dollars and show your appreciation.

Clumsy not mean

The girls on the first grade soccer team were not being malicious. They just don't have the coordination to kick the ball. We all feel bad when they kick someone down, but, they even trip over their own feet. It is not their fault.

Rollerblader problems

Me and my friend rollerblade uptown in the main street of Grayslake. The police often come up to us and threaten to give us a $75 ticket when there are real crimes taking place around us. People are speeding, stealing, and getting high in Grayslake. Still, the cops insist on bothering two harmless kids. There is no need for the cops to be jerks.

Get a life

The two gentlemen that are causing problems in Round Lake Beach because they are disappointed they were not given jobs by Mayor Davis after they worked on his campaign. Now, they are taking it out on everyone. It is plain revenge. They should get a life.

Failed to check

In response to man in Gurnee who does not like to see boats and recreational vehicles parked in the yards and driveways, he should move to a neighborhood that is more controlled. Lake County has traditionally been an area where younger people live. These people like to enjoy their yards and put things in them like boats and vehicles. And, didn't you evaluate the neighborhood before you moved in?

BEST comments

Since being unable to have any of my letters to editors printed due to my strong positions and mounting pressure put on this publisher by newspaper subscribers, I will try Lipservice. Antioch Community High School is on the brink of state watchlist placement, was the headline of the school's newspaper, the Tom Tom. Since the states warning letter to control spending or else, the board spent $425,000 on wall paper, carpeting, and moving expenses for management. Plus, hiring a public relation directors to combat bad publicity. I suggest readers pick up a copy of the Tom Tom. I am Vern Holmes, an Antioch Community High School parent.

Building not planned

On November 2, the voters in Antioch's District 117 will be asked to increase the education fund tax rate by $.27. This money will go to hire more teachers, purchase computers and new equipment, and provide for extra-curricular activities. This money will NOT be used to build a new school. We need this tax increase to provide for a quality education for the children of Antioch. If you can bring yourself to do it for the children of Antioch, Lake Villa, and Lindenhurst, do it for your property values. Who wants to buy a new home in an area with a substandard school system?

Stupid person trick

Apparently there are many brainless people. On Oct. 2, I saw two grown men crawl under a train in order to get on. They were on the wrong side. I also wonder how stupid can anyone be?

Permit or board

Why does the pharmacy in Vernon Hills have to close. Is it because officials don't care if the residents have prescriptions there or not. Give them their permit and let us get our medications there for three weeks instead of forcing to drive to Buffalo Grove. I guess we need a new village board.

Huh?

I am a student at Grayslake High School. I think that teen sex is wrong. We must stop killing children today.

Voter knowledge needed

The biggest problem of the previous referendums at Antioch High School is that the citizens did not know what they were voting for. This referendum is for money to run the school, not to build a new one. As citizens we need to have this referendum pass to give our kids the same chance for a good education as we had.

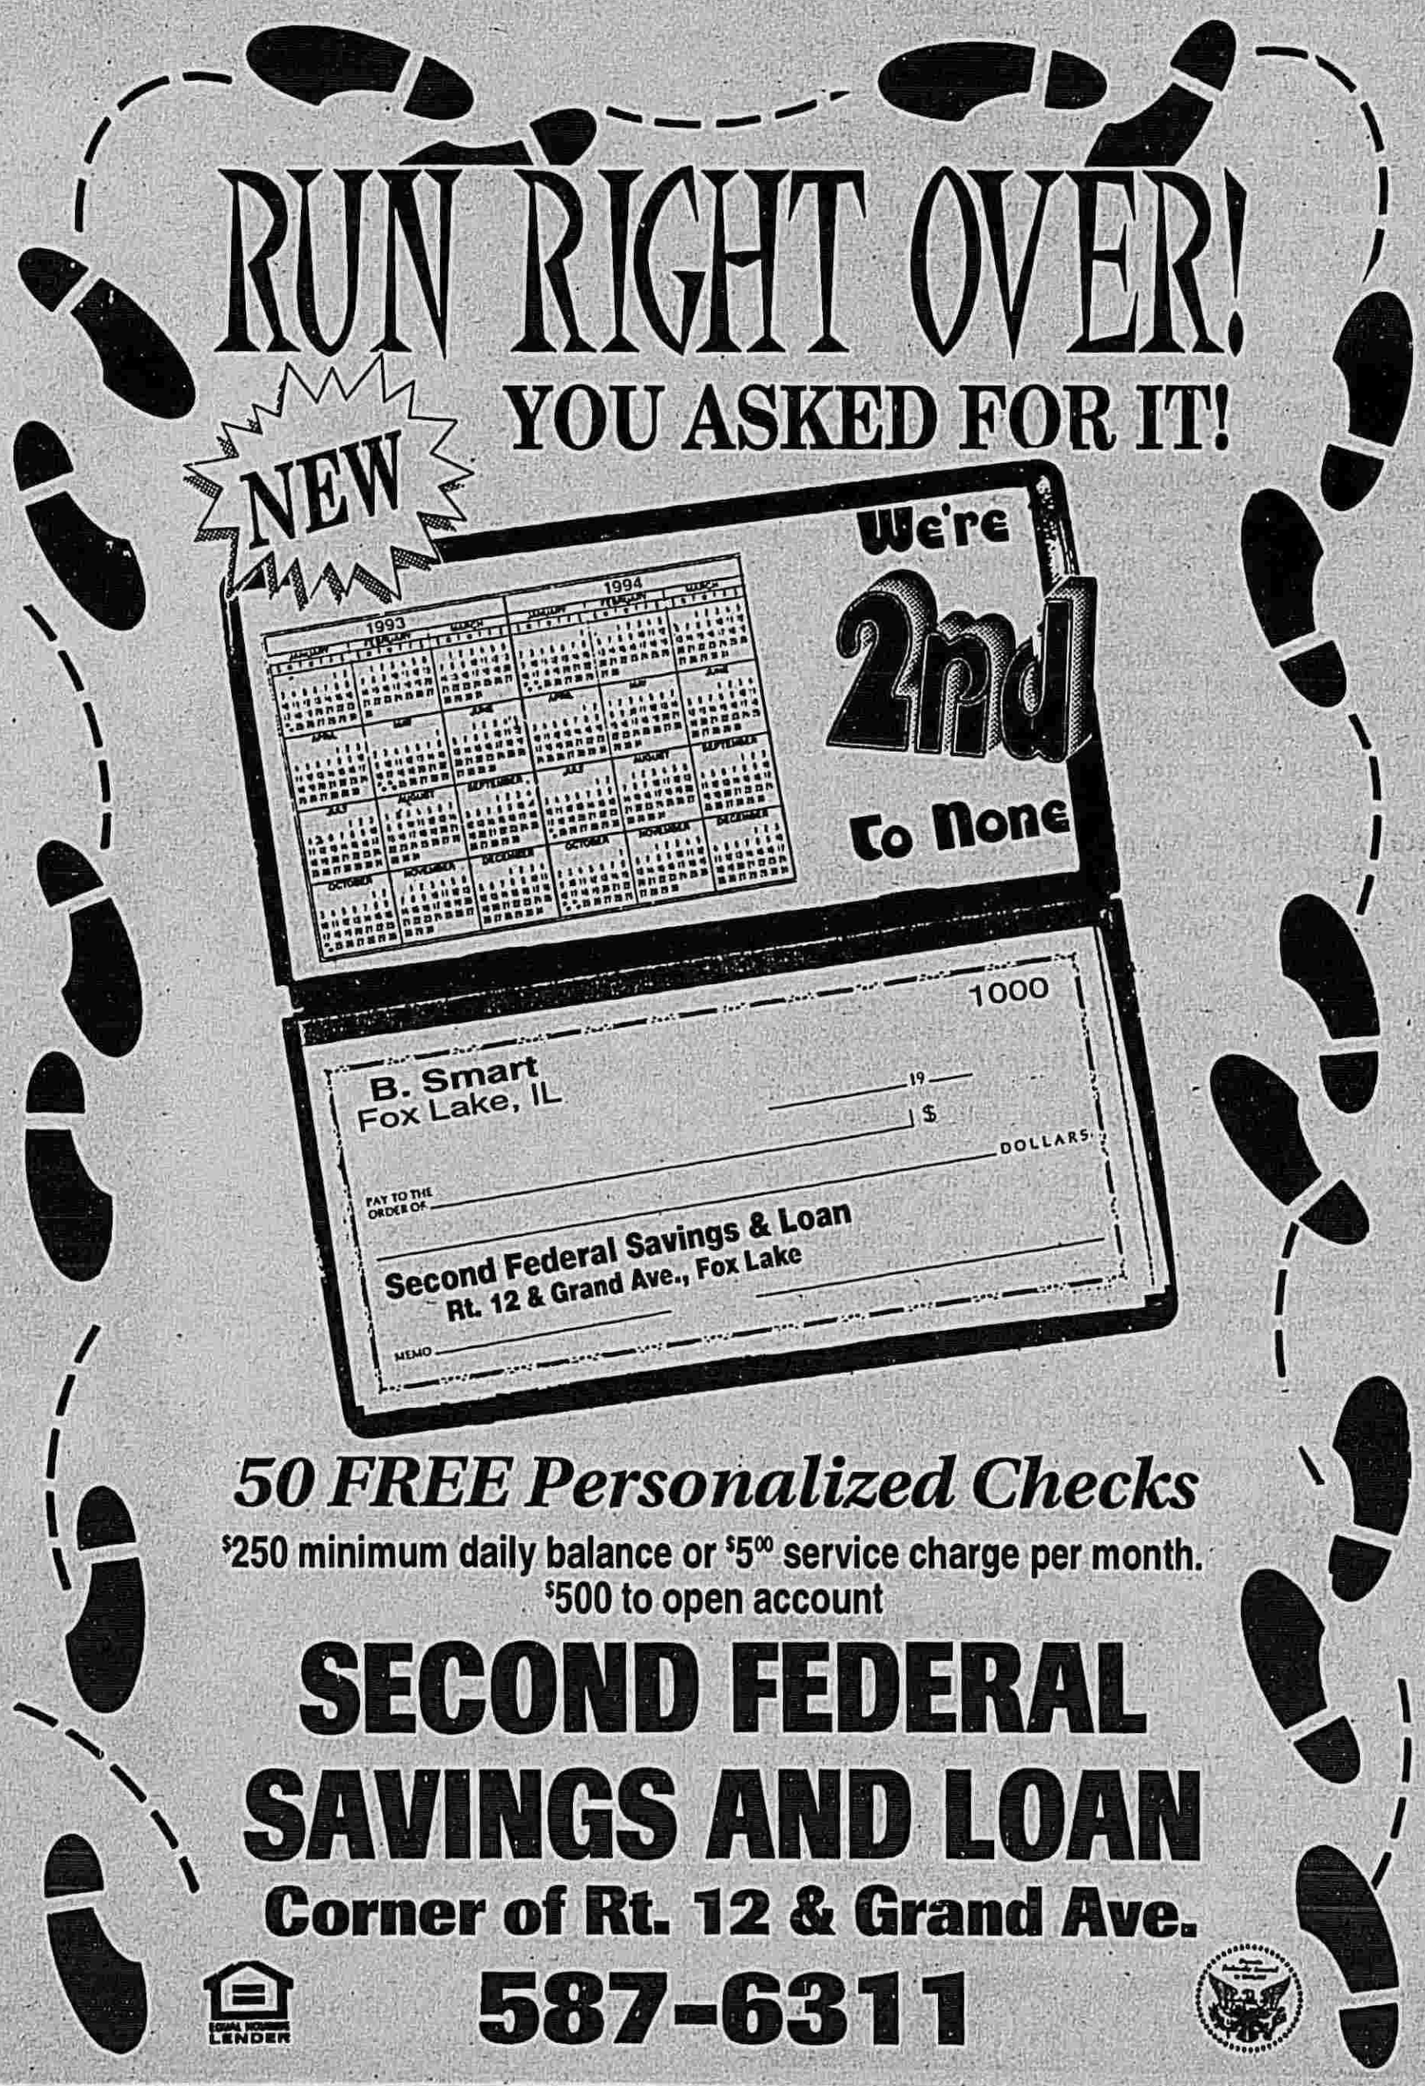

Not much

I just spent an hour along Route 12 holding a sign that says abortion kills children. The responses were interesting. Half the people waved or gave me a thumbs up sign. Another 40 percent had no reaction. About 10 percent gave us the thumbs down sign, gave us the finger, or spit on us. What does that tell you about the pro-choice people?

Pleased senior

I must applaud the recreation supervisor at the Mundelein Senior Center. We had a pinochle and bridge tournament and it was absolutely superb. Everyone enjoyed themselves and they went out of their way to provide snacks and coffee. There were about 40 seniors that really

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I applied for a position doing straight data entry. I was pleased that I was hired on the spot knowing my qualifications were exactly what the company was looking for and that I could without a doubt handle the job. I quit another job for the sole purpose of taking this new position. On my first day of work I was surprised to see that this company had a much different way of doing the same applications for which I was all too familiar with my prior employer. I made a simple suggestion to my new manager regarding the extra two steps it is taking to do this application and he jumped all over me. "This is the way we do things around here," he said. Immediately he copped an attitude with me to a point where I could have walked off the job then and there. The next day I was doing another project and realized that information that was pertinent for this project was missing and the manager again jumped all over me telling me that "you seem to be resourceful enough, find it". Well, I just about lost it. I held back for the remainder of the day and never returned the next. I did however get a call the next day from the owner of the company concerned of my whereabouts. I explained to him the attitude that I had received for both my first and second days on the job and that I was appalled that any manager would go out of their way to make a new employee feel so unwelcome. He asked me to come in and speak with him personally which I did. We spoke at great length about many policies and procedures and I felt quite comfortable answering questions regarding the manager's attitude. What happened next shocked me when I received a call the next day from the owner informing me that the manager was no longer employed there and would I like to come back. He told the owner that I came in and wanted to change the world. I believe that he felt threatened by my presence. Was I wrong for offering constructive changes? I fell guilty for being the reason for this fellow now being unemployed. Thanks for your help. L.P. - Libertyville.

A: Dear L.P. First of all I would not feel guilty over his unemployment. Both of you could have started off on the wrong foot quite possibly by him feeling threatened. Most importantly, having just come in to the company trying to make changes in the first two days is usually too soon to be acceptable unless posed the right way. Chances are he felt his methods were good enough and who were you to judge otherwise. Obviously after speaking with the owner, his feelings were, that you were right for the job. And that is the person you answer to now. Prove to him that he was right!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

NATURE'S BOUNTY

Cranberry apple bread

2 cups peeled, chopped baking apples
3/4 cup sugar
2 Tbls. oil
1 egg
1 1/2 cups flour
1 1/2 tsps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup fresh or frozen cranberries
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease a 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 inch loaf pan. Combine apples, sugar and oil in a medium mixing bowl. Add egg, mixing well. Combine dry ingredients in a separate bowl. Add to apple mixture, mixing just until dry ingredients are moist. Stir in cranberries and walnuts.

Spread batter evenly in pan. Bake one hour or until a toothpick inserted into bread center comes out clean.

Make one loaf.

Apple pie á la zing

4 cups pared, sliced baking apples
2 cups fresh or frozen cranberries
3/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup sugar
1/3 cup flour
1 tsp. cinnamon
3/4 cup chopped walnuts
Optional pastry for a 9-inch two crust pie

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Combine all ingredients, except pastry, in a medium mixing bowl. Mix well. Pour into a pastry lined pie plate. Cover with top crust. Seal edges and cut several slits in top crust. Bake 50 minutes or until golden brown. Cover edges with foil if they brown too quickly.

enjoyed themselves. They made the senior citizens feel wonderful.

Traffic trouble

On Friday, a member of the Lions Club had traffic backed up for over a mile on Route 134. I waited 10 minutes to get through. When I got up there I told him we all had to get to work and that he was responsible. He said that it was just the usual heavy traffic. I have passed through that intersection every day for over seven years and have never seen it so backed up. I suggest if that very worthy cause wants us to contribute they should let us get to work on time.

The point is?

In 1985 architects received $90,860.90. In 1986 $36,673.31. In 1988, District 118 borrowed $5 million. and the architects were paid at a rate of 8 percent. At this rate, the proposed new school would give them over $400,000. And did you know that you will pay for this school for over 30 years? This is from Wauconda.

Slow down

This is to all the people who use Old Rollins Road as a shortcut between Route 83 and Rollins Road. There is a new home development at the top of Old Rollins Road. A community of people, children, and pets. Please take care when speeding down this old two lane farm road. The speed limit is 25 mph. If people cannot slow down, maybe a three-way stop is needed.

Elvis sighting

Well, how about some good news? I actually saw Elvis shopping at the Four Squires in Antioch. Really.

Where's the maps?

This is in reference to last week's paper about Jim Semmerling by Alec. When we have gone to a budget meeting for Jim Semmerling and the people with flooding problems attended, Sue Hanson several times offered maps. This is on the cassette tapes of the meetings. Semmerling should pay more attention, and listen to the tapes.

Feeling crowded

What this area needs is more houses. Just more houses. Don't widen the roads, don't build new schools, just more new houses. City planning. Now that's a contradiction.

Homecoming complaint

I have a gripe. I get the Fox Lake Newspaper. Last week was Grant High School's homecoming and as far as I could see there was not one thing about the homecoming at all. There was an article about Johnsburg. Who is at fault? Didn't the high school notify the paper or did you just not put it in? Whoever is at fault, shame on you. How can people come out to the parade and rally if there is nothing in the paper about it?

Editorial note: Dear reader, on page 9 of the Fox Lake Press there was a short article about the homecoming plans. In the article, the date and times of the events were listed. Sorry you missed it.

Hates new policy

I am calling from North Chicago concerning the fact that restaurants do not need to permit smoking in order to stay in business. I have been to the restaurants you mentioned, and while the food was good I will not be returning. This is simply because I would like to have a cigarette after a meal. They are discriminating against smokers and I will not return for that reason.

Really concerned citizen

I am not married to a teacher. I am simply a citizen who has gotten tired of the teachers striking so I investigated the situation at the school. I decided that anyone in the private sector would not put up with the conditions of teachers. So, you were wrong about your label. Also, if you choose to edit, shorten, or censure messages, as you did with me, you should make note of that. People need to know that what they are reading is not necessarily the message called in.

Editorial note: Dear reader, we do make note of the fact that we reserve the right to edit copy or refrain from printing a message at the beginning of every Lipservice column.

Wauconda's Freund works plan to rule NWSC tennis

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Jenny Freund had a plan when the 1993 Northwest Suburban Conference tennis season began.

"Last year I only lost to one girl, from Marian Central and she graduated, so I figured I would take conference," Freund said.

The senior did just that, improving to 16-1 overall by winning the No. 1 singles title. She had no trouble with Grayslake soph Sarah Lesinski, beating her 6-1, 6-1 as Wauconda won its second straight conference title.

"She has made her game multi-dimensional. She has a good net game and much harder hitter and she can control the hard hits from other players. Last year, she only had a few key things that helped her win a lot of matches. This year she has expanded her game," Wauconda Coach Jackie Jabcon said of Freund.

The Bulldogs won the league title 19-17 over second-place Grayslake. Wauconda won the tourney by a larger margin, 30-19. Finishing third in the tournament was Marian Central with 13 points, followed by Johnsburg with 10, Grant six and Round Lake two and two-thirds.

In final standings, a combination of the tournament and duals, third place went to Johnsburg and Marian Central with 10 points. Grant had four points and Round Lake was last.

"My coach, Jabcon, has helped me a lot this year. She has helped me with an all-around game. Before, I would never come to the net," Freund said. "It takes a lot of confidence."

Freund has earned the respect of opposing coaches as she cruised to a 14-1 mark overall.

"She is tough. She just refuses to make errors," Johnsburg Coach Rick Bailey said.

The Bulldogs had several key players back from the 1992 championship year. "That helped a lot. Plus, we had a lot of good players coming up," Freund said.

Wauconda and Johnsburg are at the Cary-Grove sectional Oct. 15-16.

"We are in a tough sectional and we are going to play our best. We've done everything we can do. We have put in some summer work, gone to camps, you just go out and play," Coach Jacbon said.

Denise Elsner of Wauconda was second to Becki Ziolek of Grayslake at second singles, losing 6-2, 6-2. Grace Alaimo provided the Panthers with their highlight with a 7-6 (7-5), 7-6 (7-3) third-place win at second singles over Grant's Kelli Gratz.

Frosh Lisa Szarek won the third singles title for Johnsburg with a 6-0, 6-0 win over Lisa Boehmer of Wauconda. Jennifer Keselica gained fourth for Grayslake.

Wauconda swept the doubles titles.

At first doubles, Becky Stevic-Jessica Jabcon downed Kristin Lightbody and Susan Whitte of Marian Central 6-2, 6-2. Kristin Bruley and Karen Leckman downed Amy Garlanger and Megan Ferrell of Johnsburg 6-3, 6-3.

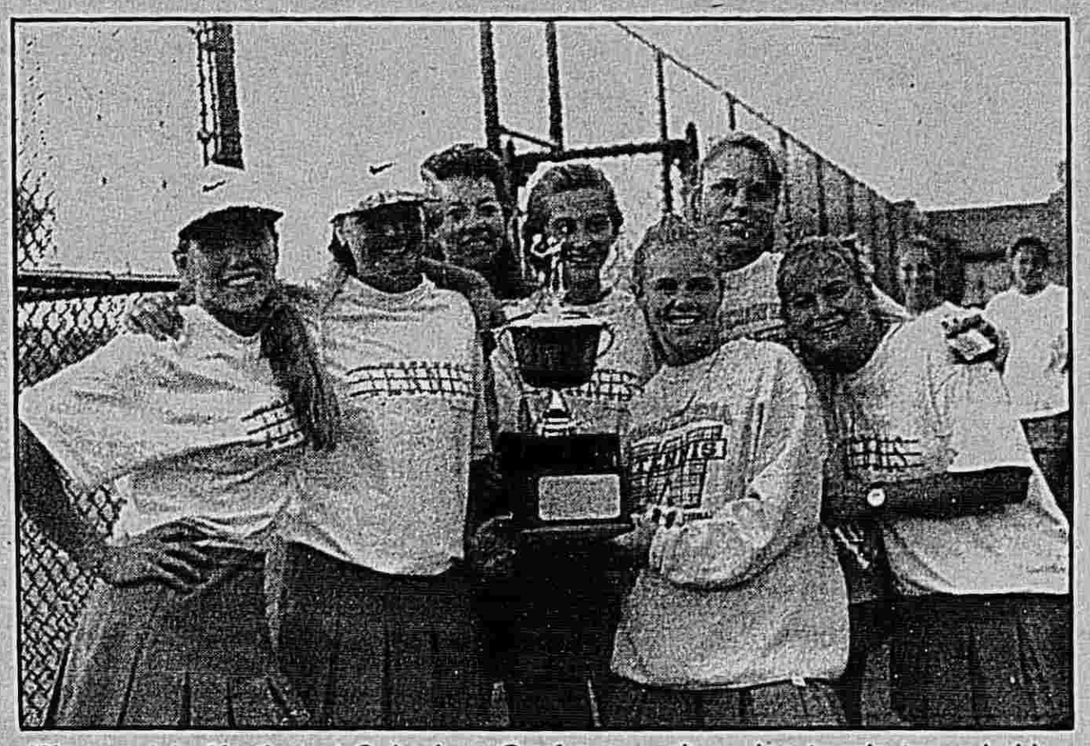

The Skyhawks also had their second doubles team reach the finals. Wauconda's Jessica Albritton and Heather Thoene downed Nicole Mineo and Dawn Pelczynski 7-5, 5-7, 6-2.

Bailey believes his Skyhawk program is back on track, led by freshman Szarek. "She has exceeded expectations. She is a very steady player," Bailey said.

Round Lake Coach Pat Costello has similar views of Alaimo. "She is a sophomore, and has a lot of great tennis ahead of her," he said.

Of the Johnsburg doubles teams, Pelczynski was termed a "great competitor" by the coach and won six matches in a row despite her first season with partner Mineo.

Grayslake's second doubles team, a new combination of Lori Olson and Rachel Harnagel outlasted Lorrie Linott and Maureen O'Donell of Marian Central. The Rams prevailed 6-2, 6-7 (4-7), 7-6 (7-4).

Big weekend for area playoff hopefuls on 'the bubble'

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

More teams are in the running for the playoffs than not as races for the conference titles heat up.

Father and son duo Dale (left) and Reed Christensen lead the area's best team into football post season play with an undefeated record in the North Suburban Conference at 5-0.– Photo by Gene Gabry Gone are the lofty predictions of August, replaced by the reality of October. The haves have certainly been separated by the have-nots.

Assuming a 6-3 record is good enough for the post-season dance, only one team, Libertyville, has clinched the berth with a 6-0 mark. Three others are at 4-2, while three more are on the "bubble" at 3-3 and need a miracle finish. Then there is the weird, weird, weird world of the Northwest Suburban Conference. There, 2-4 overall is good enough for first - if you have won the first two conference games as Grant and Wauconda have.

A look at how the playoff contenders stand after six weeks:

The Libertyville Wildcats have combined the always tough traditional defense with offense which is an explosive one behind soph QB Todd Fullbright.

Comment: in like flint. Quarterfinalist potential.

Carmel is 4-2, 3-1 East Suburban Catholic Conference after a strong 27-21 win over Marist. "We talked to the kids after the loss to Joliet Catholic and readjusted our goals. Now our goals are different. We want to be in the playoffs," Carmel Coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

Remaining games: at Holy Cross Oct. 16; Notre Dame at home, Oct. 22; Benet at home, Oct. 29.

Comment: home schedule favors Corsairs. Kenye Pendleton keys the offense. Big factor is QB situation: if J.R. O'Campo returns or if soph Nick Yeager continues to develop.

Stevenson is riding the wave of its running game led by Faraji Leary and Robert Liszka. They combined for five touchdowns against North Chicago.

Remaining games: at Antioch Oct. 16, home against Lake Forest Oct. 22 but finish the season home against Mundelein Oct. 29.

Comment: Can't look past lesser opponents, but 6-3 looks good even if the Pats don't upset Lake Forest.

NWSC: Grant and Wauconda won their first two league games to become favorites in six-team league. Grant is led by QB Sean Powers while Kevin Cajda, running back, is Wauconda's big backfield threat.

Remaining games: Wauconda hosts Round Lake Oct. 15 and can knock the Panthers out of the running; is at Marian Central Oct. 22 and Grant and Wauconda clash at Round Lake Oct. 29. Grant is at Johnsburg Oct. 15, and hosts Round Lake Oct. 22.

Comment: Don't count those pesky 3-

Wauconda tied in Northwest Suburban race after big win

Wauconda 40, Johnsburg 0

The Wauconda Bulldogs, after a 0-4 non-conference record against some of the strongest teams in the area, are now 2-0 in the Northwest Suburban Conference after a 40-0 blowout over Johnsburg 1-5 (0-2). The Bulldogs were lead by Pete Cebulka, who scored two touchdowns of 65 and 48 yards. Also scoring for Wauconda were: Cory Kazimour, a 54-yard pass from Todd Van Alstine, Van Alstine, a nine-yard run, Kevin Cajda, a one-yard run, and Jim Schmuck, a 25-yard run. The Bulldogs will face the defending conference champion Round Lake Panthers on Oct. 15.

Marian 27, Round Lake 14

The defending Northwest Suburban Conference champion Round Lake Panthers hoped to remain undefeated in the conference in an effort to repeat as champions. However, a determined Marian Central team deflated Round Lake's hopes of remaining undefeated, while still keeping their own playoff hopes alive with a 27-14 win over the favored Panthers. Bobby Tellez, a two-yard run, and Jason Morse, a 56-yard run, scored touchdowns for the Panthers. The Panthers face undefeated Wauconda in a must win game for both teams on Oct. 15.

Warren 35, Mundelein 14

Warren ended its three-game losing streak and ruined Mundelein's homecoming with a 35-14 win, which kept the Blue Devil's hopes of a playoff berth alive. Senior Quentin Jackson, who was named Lakeland Newspaper's Prep Player of the Week, scored three touchdowns, including two fourth quarter scores and 122 yards rushing on the evening. Also scoring for the Blue Devils were: Tim Marabella, a 30-yard run, and Mark Sabor, a 53-yard pass from Tony Largo. Scoring for Mundelein were: Doug Healy, a 10-yard pass from Mike Hodges, and Tim Akins, a 37-yard pass from Hodges.

Stevenson 42, North Chicago 6

The Stevenson Patriots improved their season record to 4-2, 3-2 in the North Suburban Conference, with a 42-6 defeat of the North Chicago Warhawks. Faraji Leary scored three touchdowns, while Robert Liska added two and Roger Radman added another in the Stevenson romp. Scoring for North Chicago was Caius Swoopes, a 89-yard pass from Martel Dixon. Stevenson plays Antioch this weekend.

Football Standings

Lake Forest 24, Antioch 7

Lake Forest's tough defense smothered Antioch's running attack and held the Sequoits to only one touchdown for a disappointing Antioch homecoming. Mike Stephenson scored on a two-yard plunge on the third quarter to end the Sequoit scoring.

Grant 40, Grayslake 7

Grant's explosive offense lit up the score board for 40 points on visiting Grayslake and cruised to 40-7 win to remain in a tie with Wauconda for the Northwest Suburban Conference lead. Scott Goodale and Dave Stone each scored two touchdowns to lead the Bulldogs to victory. Grayslake's only score can on a 22-yard touchdown pass from Jason Lake to Jay Horvath.

Libertyville 27, Harlem 7

Libertyville continued its undefeated season with a non-conference homecoming win over Machesney Park Harlem 27-7. Wildcat quarterback Andrew Robertson scored three touchdowns to lead the Wildcats to 6-0 on the season, 5-0 in the North Suburban Conference. Libertyville travels to Warren on Oct. 15 for another NSC showdown.

Lake Zurich 35, Woodstock 6

Lake Zurich won its first Fox Valley Conference game of the season by defeating Woodstock 35-6. Leading the way for the Bears were Mike Stumpp, who run for two touchdowns and quarterback Brian Haigh, who threw two touchdowns in the Lake Zurich victory.

Knights hope second season brings victories in playoffs

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When Ray Jones was running pass routes for the North Chicago Warhawks football team, loftier levels than semi-pro football may have occurred.

"For now, it is just for fun," Jones said.

Jones, 34, showed he can still fake out players 10 years his junior when he put a curl move on a DuPage Eagle defender at the end of a 91-yard touchdown pass from Matt Wickline.

Although coming to within a point a minute later, the Lake County Knights fell 28-13 to DuPage. The loss, Lake County's second in a row after four wins, drops the team to 4-3. The Knights were expecting to makeup a game with the Chicago Bulldogs Oct. 13 before learning their playoff assignment this week.

Jones sees progress.

"The guys are starting to come together a little bit. It is starting to come now. He (Matt Wickline) is a young quarterback learning to read the secondary," Jones said.

Jones played his college ball at the University of Nebraska. "I was a little faster then. I ran a 4.4 40 yard-dash," he said.

The Knights came to within 14-13 as Craig Freeman scored on a 66-yard reverse play early in the third quarter.

"Not just for this team. It is just part of the standard. Practices have been so erratic early in the summer we were not able to expand on a lot of plays. Now we are up to 30 plays. We did work on that reverse pitch this week," owner Tom Nelson said.

George Scott scored the other Eagles TD, on a five-yard run.

Mike Lettecci, a Stevenson High School graduate, is a member of the University of Wisconsin-Stout football team.

Jasmine Strange of Park City is a member of the University of Illinois-Chicago women's basketball team. Strange is a sophomore on a team which was 15-13 last year.

A Libertyville High graduate contributed in a 3-1 win over Western Michigan University. Andrew Manton scored one of the three goals.

Butch Bendry had a big part in Lake Forest College's 22-21 football victory over Grinnell. Bendery scored on a 36-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jim DeLisa. Bendry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bendry, is a Wildwood resident and Warren Twp. High graduate.

Bill Brown of Buffalo Grove caught the game-winning TD pass.

In an earlier game, Brian Rafferty, a Mundelein graduate, had two interceotions in a 44-7 LFC loss to Wheaton College.

Bendry scored a two-point conversion in a 20-19 loss to North Park. Rafferty also had an interception.

Bryan White of Grayslake is a member of the Missouri Southern State College soccer team. He is a freshman fullback.

Toni Loizzi, a Lake Zurich resident, is a member of the Augustana soccer team. He is a freshman fullback.

Dave Dupor, a Libertyville High graduate, is a member of the University of Illinois-Chicago Flames soccer team. He is a freshman fullback.

Rick LaCroix of Grayslake is a junior on the University of Illinois-Chicago hockey team.

Mike Duchane, a Grayslake High graduate, had 10 solo tackles and eight assists for the Northern Illinois University football team before this weekend's tilt with New Mexico State. The junior had two tackles for loss for a total of 10 yards.

Nate Schroeder, a Wauconda graduate, had one solo and one assist in two games at Augustana.

Glenn Graham, a junior, was named player-of-the-week for defense at University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. Graham, from Antioch, plays linebacker. He had one tackle, a fumble recovery, and one pass break-up in a 14-7 win over UW-Stout.

Jeff Fuller, a Mundelein High graduate, has 13 receptions in four games for 120 yards for the Northeast Missouri State Bulldogs. The Bulldogs were 2-3 heading into this week's contest against Emporia State.

Two area players are contributing at Marillac High girls volleyball squads. Amy Sobarina of Lake Zurich is on the varsity team, while Maggie Litgen of Long Grove is on the junior varsity team. Marillac is located in Northfield.

Rob Boydston of Grayslake is an offensive lineman on the Culver-Stockton College football team. The school is located in Canton, MO.

Kristy Twarogowski, a graduate of Lake Zurich High, scored four goals in a tournament for the Lewis University women's soccer team.

Melissa Ventrone, a Lake Zurich graduate, is a fullback for the Millikin University women's soccer team. She is a freshman at the Decatur school.

Ozzie Young was named special teams player-of-the-week in leading the Valparaiso University football team to a 43-6 thrashing of St. Xavier. Young, a North Chicago High grad, returned a punt 51 yards for a touchdown. The sophomore also had 676 yards and one kickoff for 35 yards. He rushed for two touchdowns and had 166 all purpose yards. He averages 10.4 yards per punt return, is first in total yardage (179 yards a game), first in kickoff returns (24 yards per return and first in scoring.

Joel Greene, a senior and a graduate of Libertyville High, plays sweeper for Illinois Wesleyan University's men's soccer team.

Big plays from linebackers key defense for Corsairs

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Senior linebackers Joe Tilton and Shannon Santos came up with the biggest of plays for Carmel's football team in a 27-21 thrilling win over Marist.

"Tilton stopped them on a fourth-and-one play and Santos recovered a fumble," Carmel Coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

The defense had an "outstanding" night overall, according to Fitzgibbons and was sparked by yet a third linebacker, Charles Burgoon, in the second half.

The Corsairs with the win improve to 4-2 overall and 3-1 East Suburban Catholic Conference. Carmel, back in the running for the playoffs, is at Holy Cross Oct. 16.

Soph quarterback Nick Yeager guided Carmel to a 395 yard total offense night. He was six-for-11 for 70 yards passing and Kenye Pendleton had another huge night out of the backfield, entertaining the home crowd with 240 yards and caught two touchdown passes from Yeager.

"Yeager got better as the game went on," Fitzgibbons said. He said Yeager, a product of the Warren Packers youth football program, will likely get his second start since replacing injured J.R. O'Campo, against Holy Cross.

"He had a lot of long runs, but the first TD pass from Yeager was a great play," Fitzgibbons said of Pendleton's nine-yard pass catch.

Marist scored first on an eight-yard run by John Zintak.

Pendleton brought Carmel to within 7-6 at halftime on the nine-yard pass.

Pendleton capped a drive in the third quarter with a five-yard catch from Yeager for a score before his 74-yard jaunt and a three-yard run by Titus Mason put the Corsairs ahead 27-7.

Marist answered with two fourth quarter touchdowns, one as Carmel special teams could not stop Jimmy Blackmore on a 75-yard kickoff. The other was on a one-yard run by Jeff Studnicka.

In Holy Cross, the Corsairs will be looking to not look past an 0-4, 1-5 team. "They run a pro I offense with a double slot and want to throw the ball," Fitzgibbons said.

Chances are, the Carmel defense will be ready. Just ask Marist.

Vikings brace for challenge from Midwest rival Palos

The waiting is over for the Lake County Vikings.

"We had a lot of our team missing during practice. No one wanted to play this team (Indiana Renegades). Everyone was waiting to play Palos and Racine," team owner and player Rick Starosta said.

The 7-1 Vikes get their chance against Palos Orland Force at 6 p.m. Oct. 15 at Round Lake High. The next week, the Vikes conclude by hosting Midwest Football League leader Racine Oct. 23 at RL High.

The Vikes had a workmanlike, if not perfect, 16-0 win over the first-year Renegades. Wes Quist directed the offense in the absence of QB Jon Shoemaker, who is expected for the Palos game.

"I have worked with them. I am very comfortable with them and I was told they were comfortable with my style," Quist said. "Once I got in the first series, I settled down and felt great. The offensive line did an excellent job."

There was not much offense this cool night in Round Lake as the only first quarter score was a Vikings safety on a bizarre play.

The Vikings enjoyed good field position all night but the first TD came from their own end.

Quist hooked up with Carey Haigth for a 70-yard TD pass on a screen play.

The defense set up the next score. After the Renegades were stopped on fourth down and a Quist pass, Chris Tavajian scored on a 25-yard run.

The Vikings were again without Coach Julian Tucker, who is recuperating.

Now the Vikings have that chance.

-4 Panthers out of it yet. Robert Swanson directs a high-powered option offense, but defense has been problem at times. Round Lake was 2-4 last year but won the last three games for the league title. Don't look for league winner to get past the first round.

Warren and Lake Zurich's playoffs, in some respects, start Oct. 15 at Gurnee and Algonquin, respectively. Both are 3-3 as Warren takes on Libertyville, Lake Zurich is at Jacobs.

Which Blue Devil team will show up for the must-win against unbeaten Wildcats is the question. Is it the team which went 2-0 to start the season? Or the team which lost three straight. Or the Quentin Jackson-Tim Marabella led team which crushed Mundelein 35-14. Stay tuned.

Of note: unfortunately, high school football is beginning to follow the collegiate example. There was a needless altercation following Stevenson's 42-6 win over North Chicago. It got to the point where both teams had to take different routes to the locker rooms. There was also more than a dispute late in the Warren-Mundelein game. Has the fun gone for these guys, too?

ACHS lady golfers gain experience in youthful year

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch Community High School girls head golf coach Steve Wapon really didn't know what to expect with his team when he had only one senior and two sophomores returning to his team this fall.

However, after the team shot a whale of a tournament at the Waukegan regional, Wapon is really looking forward to future years with his young team.

"Going into this season, only senior Sarah Murphy has played on the team before," said Wapon. "She was the only one with any type of experience."

ACHS shot the fifth best score (494) out of 18 schools at the Waukegan regional and Murphy only missed the cut to go to sectionals by two strokes with a 113.

"I feel good about the potential of this group," said Wapon. "The future is really bright for these young ladies."

Returning for next year will be S. Murphy (120 season average), Kelly Periman (130 season average), Lisa Murphy (138 season average), Sarah Rockow (138 season average) and Angie Pederson (147 season average).

Senior Heather Lafferty (123 season average) will Wapon's only loss with S. Murphy and Periman only going to be juniors and L. Murphy, Rockow, Pederson, and Erika Francisco (134 season average) as returning sophomores next year.

'I feel good about the potential of this group. The future is really bright for these young ladies.'
—Steve Wapon

"I feel really confident about the team next year because every player cut match strokes in the regional compared to their conference tournament scores," said Wapon. "As a team we were inexperienced. But, next year we will be older and more experienced and ready for even better play."

Antioch tennis team drops match to Mustangs, 4-1

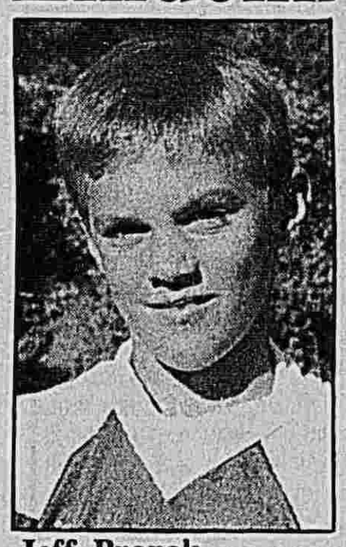

The Antioch Sequoit tennis team dropped its match against Mundelein 4-1, with only Antioch's number two doubles team of Kristin Jensen and Molly Cox winning against Mundelein's Jennie Johnson and Yada Mak 6-2, 7-5.

The Mustangs were lead by number one singles Iris DelRosario, who defeated Jenny Allen 6-0, 6-1. The Mustangs swept the singles and split the doubles matches to defeat the Sequoits.

The Under-13 Lindenhurst Eagles were inventive and inspiring as they registered a 3-1 win over the Hononegah Lions. Playing shorthanded and without their first-line goalkeepers, the Eagles got big games out of several players. Vijay Kumar stepped up to score the Eagles' first goal and then paired with Brian Prior to mind the nets and hold the Lions to only one goal. Joey Fusz and Carl Wheeler dominated the defensive half of the field, and Juan Alvaraz and Alex Berger finished off the scoring.

Defense and penalty kicks were the keys as the Under-10 Royal Eagles battled the Fox Valley Strikers to a 1-1 tie in Batavia. Adam Jordan anchored the aggressive Lindenhurst defensive corps of David Calvert, Kevin Mark, Matt Boller, Kevin Mathewson and Kaleb Barrett. In the first half Boller rejected a Strikers' penalty kick, and later in the contest the Eagles' Tom Woodruff blasted one in to secure the tie.

The Under-12 Lightning saw their undefeated record being threatened as they trailed at half-time against the Mundelein Lasers. But the Lightning struck in the second half as Keli Owens recorded a 3-goal hat trick along with goals from Quinn Gooch and Andy Lyons for a final score of 5-1. The Lightning extended their season record to 5-0-1.

The Under-14 Lindenhurst Lazers fell to the Mundelein Blasters 3-1. Aaron Mortenson scored for the Lazers off an assist from Phil Fries.

The Under-11 Lindenhurst Turbos visited Crystal Lake and came away with a 6-0 win. Two first half goals were scored by Adam Schuster and Jeff Prorok. The second half goals were scored by Adam Finney (2) and Prorok completed his hat trick with two superb solo goals from mid-field. Coach Nigel Wheeler was overjoyed with all of his players who played superbly. The Turbos are in first place with a 4-1 season record.

Lindenhurst girls traveling teams have a tough weekend

The U-19 Enigma faced Barrington at Polley Field taking a tough loss 2-1. The lone Enigma goal was scored by Kelly Langren.

The U-15 Blitz traveled to Darien to play the Darien 79ers. The game featured end to end action with Allison Earl having a brilliant game in goal, but the score ended in a 0-0 tie. The Blitz defense was strong all day. Jessica Haynes had the best scoring chance of the game on a direct kick that hit the cross-bar. The Blitz remains in first place and keeps their unbeaten streak alive at 22 games (there have been three ties). The Blitz is 3-0-2 on the season.

At Polley Field the U-13 Power met the Glen Ellyn Lakers and came away with a 3-2 victory. The midfield had a dominating effect on the game with Amber DeWald having a strong performance. Goals were scored by Sarah Richardson (2) and Kristen Gamlin (1), with assists credited to Jamie Wismer (2) and Gamlin (1). The Power is 3-1-1 on the season.

The U-13 Stars remained undefeated in this their first season as a team by beating the Lombard Rangers 2-0 at Lombard. Amy Scmit, Samie Korbal, Elly Elfering and Megs Kotlarz all had an outstanding game. The Stars are 5-0-0 on the season.

The U-11 Lightning were also 3-1 winners.

Warren Class AA volleyball regional set for Oct 26, 28

The pairings for the Warren Township High School IHSA Class AA girls' regional volleyball tournament, set for Oct. 26 and 28, have been set with Antioch facing Warren and Waukegan facing Zion-Benton at 6:30 p.m. in the Warren Twp. High School gym. The winners of those games will meet in for the regional championship on Oct. 28 at 7 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door at 5:45 p.m. on Oct. 26 and at 6:15 p.m. on Oct. 28. There will be no advance sales. The ticket prices are $1 for grade school students, $2 for high school students and $3 for adults. The winner of the regional championship will be presented a trophy at the conclusion of the championship game on Oct. 28. Fan parking will be available in either the North or South parking lots off of O'Plaine Rd. For further information, call Warren Athletic Director Mike Kunkle at 662-1400, ext. 12 or 19.

Antioch girls golf falls to Waukegan

The Antioch Girls Golf team's record dropped to 4-12, 1-6 in the North Suburban Conference, after a loss to Waukegan 194-228. The team score of 228 was the lowest of the year for the Lady Sequoits. Sophomore Sarah Murphy lead the way for Antioch with a team low 54, while Kelly Periman (59), Erika Francisco (56), Angie Pederson (63) and Sarah Rockow (72) scored for the Lady Sequoits. Francisco and Pederson scored their lowest scores of the season against Waukegan. On the junior varsity level: Heather Ronoske (58), Marissa Blasko (69), Colleen Mc Candless (77) and Emily Johnson (93) participated for the Lady Sequoits.

Area golf team takes tourney

A three-way chip-off between three teams, each with an 18 hole score of 62, determined the first place team in the second annual Friends of Renwood Tournament held at Renwood Golf Course on Sept. 26. The winning team was made up of Mike Perez of Lindenhurst, Jill Koch of Grayslake, Homer Jenkins and Mike Hahn, both of Round Lake Beach.

Tying for second place were the teams made up of Craig and Kathy Kressner of Lake Villa, John Sweeney of Fox Lake and Zvi Polster of Grayslake and Jim Kowalczyk and Joe Jeschawitz of Round Lake, Tony Carey of Glen Ellyn and Larry Szczepanik of St. Charles.

The low gross scramble event, held to raise funds for projects at Renwood Golf Course, is presented each year by the Friends of Renwood, a citizen's advisory committee that works with the Round Lake Area Park District Board of Commissioners. Approximately $5,000 was raised at this year's tournament.

Former Sequoit Passarella named to Carthage golf team

Freshman golfer Jennifer Passarella earned a spot on the Carthage College women's golf team, shooting a year best 94 at the St. Ambrose Fighting Bee Invitational. Passarella's per round average is a team third best at 103.88.

As of Lakeland Newspapers press deadline, the Lady Red golfers were 1-3 on the season.

Two Antioch golfers chase dream of state championship

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch Community High School golfers Chris Passarella and Charlie Miles competed well enough in regional competition to reach the sectionals at Lake Bluff Golf Club in Lake Forest.

Passarella, a junior, shot a regional best 74 to take the medal for the Waukegan regional. Miles, a sophomore, shot an 80 to tie for seventh place and to advance to the Oct. 12 sectional in Lake Forest.

"Both of these fine golfers made to the sectionals last year," said boys golf coach Roger Alm. "They will have to shoot under 80 to make to the state tournament. I think they will do fine, but the competition gets tougher as they continue to progress."

Alm said the ACHS team shot a 339, just seven strokes off of sending the entire team to the sectional competition.

"We have 10 strokes off of our conference tournament result," said Alm. "I'm very pleased with our season and the progress our golfers made."

Garbacz runs to ACHS honors

ACHS Athlete of the Week for Sept. 25

Congratulations to Jeremy Garbacz for being selected Athlete of the Week for the week ending Sept. 25, 1993. Jeremy lead the boy's cross country team to victories over Warren and Mundelein and a fourth place finish at the Belvidere Invitational. The First Chicago Bank of Antioch will make a donation to the high school scholarship fund in Garbacz's name. Congratulations also to Jason Breek, Jessica Kane and Beth Lennon for being nominated for Athlete of the Week.

Coach Dave Judson congratulates Jeremy Garbacz for being selected ACHS Athlete of the Week.

Bears help Allendale golf outing net $23,000

Allendale's "Strokes for Hope" First Annual Benefit Golf Outing netted $23,000 for Bradley Counseling Center. The event was held at Bull Valley Golf Club in Woodstock.

A number of current and former Chicago Bears participated in the event: Wendell Davis, Jerry Fontenot, Mike Pyle, Emery Moorehead, Ron Rivera, Glen Kozlowski, Peter Tom Willis, Thomas Sanders and Tom Waddle. Davis' wife, Patricia Pierce-Davis, co-chaired the event and Stephanie Fontenot and Stephanie Rivera attended the golf outing.

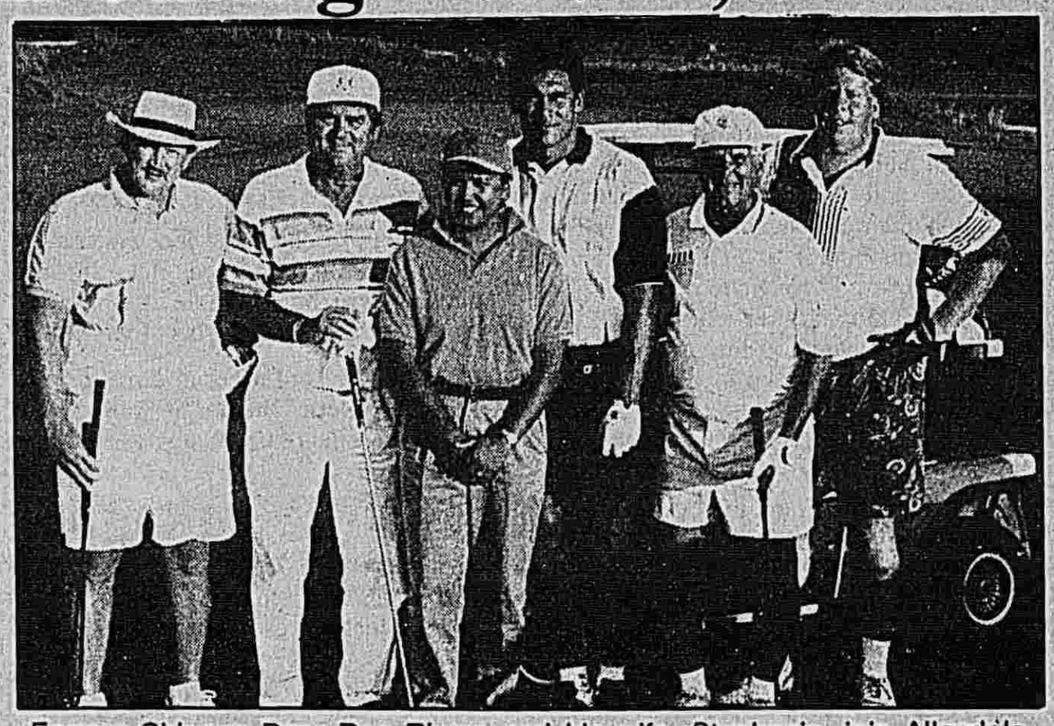

"It was a fantastic day. We're thrilled to have such a successful first year," according to Co-Chairman James F. McKinley, Jr., president and CEO of Scot Forge in Spring Grove. "The Bears' participation really enhanced the event."

"Many of the Bears' wives look for worthy causes to support and some of us felt strongly about Allendale," Pierce-Davis said. "Julie Kozlowski, Stephanie Fontenot, Kandie Morris, Sheri Wojciechowski, Kim Willis and Stephanie Rivera are all interested in Allendale's efforts to help abused and neglected children."

Allendale Association, located in Lake Villa is a treatment center for emotionally disturbed children. Many of them were physically or sexually abused or neglected. Other children suffer from severe behavior disorders such as schizophrenia or autism. Through residential care, day education, foster care and out-patient counseling, Allendale helps more than 650 children and their families each year.

Bradley Counseling Center is Allendale's out-patient mental health clinic. Staff help children and their families deal with problems such as loneliness, depression, suicidal feelings, marital conflict, difficulties in school, divorce and abuse. The center has locations in Lake Villa and Waukegan.

For more information on Allendale, or Bradley Counseling Center call 356-2351.

Former Chicago Bear Ron Rivera and his wife, Stephanie, join Allendale supporters Kenn Ketter, Leo Carvis, James Carvis and Rich Holway at Allendale's "Strokes for Hope" golf outing.

County assist

Antioch Village Police were dispatched to North Avenue on Oct. 10 to assist a Lake County deputy with an alleged fight between Thomas Krueger and Mark Crawford of Antioch. According to the report, the fist fight was over a duck blind on Loon Lake.

Disorderly conduct

Catherine Fall, age 57, of Antioch was arrested on Oct. 9 for disorderly conduct after she allegedly made repeated phone calls to the police department concerning a non-police matter. Fall was released on bond.

Battery/Domestic

Lawrance Davis, age 43, of Antioch, was arrested on Oct. 8 for allegedly striking his wife and stepdaughter during an altercation. Davis was released on bond and all parties received a copy of the Illinois Domestic Violence Act.

Domestic

Village police responded to a call on Oct. 1 on the sidewalk of the Village Pub. The complainant allegedly became involved in a verbal argument with Kenneth Vos of Antioch. Vos allegedly left the area after being advised the police had been called. No arrests were made and a copy of the Illinois Domestic Violence Act was provided to the complainant.

No Valid DL

Donald Day, age 48, of Antioch was stopped when allegedly traveling at a high rate of speed on North Avenue. After stopping Day, it was discovered he had no valid drivers license. Day was ticketed for speeding, uninsured vehicle, and no valid drivers license. He was released on bond.

Indecent exposure

Jason Druktanis, age 21, of Lindenhurst was arrested on Oct. 8 for allegedly exposing himself in the rear lot of the Las Vegas Restaurant to an employee. Druktanis allegedly told police he was attracted to the complainant and wanted to impress her by exposing himself. Druktanis was released on bond.

Suspended DL

Ronald Wagner, age 46, of Miami Beach, Florida was stopped on Oct. 10 for traveling at an excessive speed on Route 83. At that time it was discovered that Wagner's Florida drivers license had been suspended. Wagner received a ticket for speeding and suspended drivers license. He was released on bond.

DUI

Sixto Leal, age 25, of Antioch was stopped on Oct. 7 for traveling 20 mph in a 30 mph and swerving on Route 83 in Antioch. Leal was ticketed for DUI and illegal transport of alcohol. He was later released on bond.

Vandalism

Person(s) unknown spray painted a pitchfork and an obscene word on garage door in Antioch on Oct. 7. An extra watch has been ordered.

Damage to property

On Oct. 3, person(s) unknown smashed approximately 35 pumpkins and broke a car mirror in Antioch.

LAKE VILLA

Illegal engine

Todd Reis, 27, 215 W. Crest, Bensenville, was arrested on Oct. 6. for having a boat engine over the 6 horsepower limits. He was spotted by residents of Water's Edge Apartments launching a jet ski with an engine above a 6 horsepower motor.

Troop 92 Scouts serve 33rd annual spaghetti dinner

The Boy Scouts of America Troop 92 annual "all you can eat" spaghetti dinner will be held on Sunday, Oct. 17 at the Loyal order of Moose Lodge 525 at 884 North Main St. in Antioch. Dinner is served between noon and 7 p.m.

The donation is $4.50 per person with children under 6 eating free. Tickets may be purchased at the door and carry-out service is available.

Guests are eligible to win door prizes with dinner ticket stubs and purchase raffle tickets. Proceeds are used to finance troop camping events and field trips.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC QUESTION(S)

Notice is hereby given that at the November 2, 1993 Election, the following public question(s) will be submitted to the voters of the following named political subdivision(s). The polling places will be open from 6:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. on that day.

The following proposition(s) will be submitted to the voters of:

ANTIOCH COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT #117

PROPOSITION TO INCREASE THE ANNUAL TAX RATE FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS: Punch the number opposite 'YES' or 'NO' to indicate your choice.

Shall the maximum annual tax rate for educational purposes of Antioch Community High School District No. 117, County of Lake, State of Illinois, be increased and established at 1.59 percent on the full, fair cash value of taxable property as equalized or assessed by the Department of Revenue instead of 1.32 percent, the maximum rate otherwise applicable to the next taxes to be extended for said purpose?

◆ 102 YES

◆ 103 NO

The approximate amount of educational taxes extendible under the maximum rate now in force in said School District is the sum of $5,795,505.

The approximate amount of educational taxes extendible under the proposed increased rate is the sum of $6,980,949.

The total amount of the most recently approved annual budget of the School District is $10,944,600.

The total amount of the budget if increased by the amount of additional tax which may be levied if the proposition is approved is $12,130,044.

The percentage of increase in the total dollar amount of the most recently approved annual budget of the School District if such total dollar amount were increased by the amount of additional tax which may be levied if the proposition is approved is 10.83 percent.

The percentage increase between the maximum rate at which the tax for educational purposes may be levied and the annual rate which such tax currently is levied is 20.45 percent.

Lindenhurst Soccer plans annual appreciation blast

The Lindenhurst Soccer League Board will present "World Class Blast," their 12th annual Soccer Dance to be held at the Lake Villa VFW on Nov. 6 from 7 p.m. to midnight.

K-Ace Band will provide entertainment for the evening. Door prizes, dancing, hot food and great music for $9 a person. All proceeds will benefit the Youth Soccer League and will fund the purchase of equipment and field development.

"The World Club Blast" originated 12 years ago when the soccer board came up with the idea to have a dance to encourage coaches, spouses and parents to attend as a gesture of thanks for all their hard work and devotion to the children in the soccer program.

"Keeping our children in a safe, structured sport, well supervised and happy is our goal," said Wilma Wetzel. "We could not have done it without the help of all of our volunteers."

The event is dedicated to all soccer parents to celebrate the season. Tickets are available now by calling Wilma Wetzel, 356-6580.

Don't neglect woody plants in winter preparations

Now that winter lurks around the corner with frigid winds and six-feet snow drifts, you start thinking about new antifreeze for your car and weather-stripping your front door. Don't neglect the woody plants in your landscape when making all of these winter preparations.

The most important aspect in avoiding winter damage is selecting hardy plant material. Observe other home landscapes and area parks to get a general idea of plants that perform well. If you notice an unfamiliar or unusual specimen, investigate it thoroughly before planting.

Pruning late in the season may instigate tender, lush growth. For spring-flowering plants, pull out the pruning tools in June; those that bloom in summer and fall are best pruned in February or March when they are dormant.

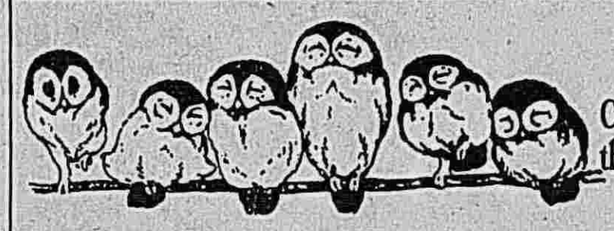

Woody plants need to go into the winter with adequate soil moisture. Water trees and shrubs with one to two inches of water until frost if rains fail to give you that amount.

Two to three inches of mulch around tree roots help keep soil moisture and temperature levels even. Use shredded hardwood bark, ground corn cobs, or compost, and avoid burying the crown, which may rot or rodent damage.

Anti-transpirants work especially well in protecting new plantings, evergreens, and broad-leaved evergreens from browning due to desiccation. Apply these according to label directions before severe weather sets in to prevent rapid moisture loss caused by winter winds.

Alternative freezing and thawing cause cracks in tree bark, an attractive entrance for insects and diseases. Your best solution? Paint the southern and western sides of the trunk and the top of lower branches with white paint. Mix one part indoor latex paint with nine parts water, and brush it on the main trunk from the ground up to the bottom branches. Use white paint on a smooth trunk, not on older trees with fissured, plated, or peeling bark.

Thiram for rodent control lasts longer when added to the paint mixture and applied as described.

Protect landscape from 'Old Man Winter'

Believe it or not, before we know it, winter will hit us from behind. As the seasons change once again, Lake County homeowners will witness the slow and inevitable deterioration of beautiful spring and summer landscapes. This year, however, why not take a few simple steps in fall to prepare your yard for the coming cold weather and ensure a much healthier appearance next spring.

As weather conditions change and time passes, trees and shrubs will naturally acquire their share of dead twigs and broken branches. So, perhaps one of the easiest steps you can take to help rejuvenate the natural beauty of your landscape is pruning. To start, remove all of the dead or injured branches using pruning scissors, being sure to trim any weak, spindly growths. If a shrub is seriously overgrown and needs to be cut back dramatically, additional trimming may be necessary. A "thinning" cut removes old limbs at the base of the shrub, allowing light to reach the interior of the plant and encourage new growth. A "heading" cut takes the branch only as far back as the bud, which stimulates side branching, enabling the plant to grow more compactly.

An important step to remember when pruning plants is to apply an antitranspirant spray after making the appropriate cuts. Using an antitranspirant spray, decreases the amount of water lost by newly pruned shrubs. Simply apply these water-based formulas to leaves and branches. A clear film will form, providing protection against the danger of winterkill. A thorough spraying should last approximately three months.

As temperatures continue to drop and the ground begins to freeze, evergreens may begin to acquire brown foliage, an indication that thirsty plant roots are not receiving water. Though all plant life suffers through winter conditions, evergreens tend to be hit the hardest . Trees and shrubs transpire year round, meaning they release water through pores in their leaves—water which continually needs to be replaced. Plants depend on the soil for this moisture supply but encounter difficulty when faced with the frozen conditions. To help your plants survive, it is a good idea to water the soil several feet deep in the late fall. Deeply watered soil tends not to freeze all the way through, allowing roots to reach needed moisture, which will protect shrubs from the damage of dehydration.

In the search for a product that helps protect and maintain landscapes through the winter months, more and more gardening homeowners are turning to landscape fabrics. Landscape fabrics are designed to help prevent weed growth while working to retain moisture in the soil at the same time. Most importantly, landscape fabrics reduce the amount of water lost to evaporate and help moderate temperature fluctuations, making it more difficult for the soil to freeze solid.

Simply lay overlapping strips of the fabric atop the prepared area. Then, using scissors or a knife, cut holes or X's in the appropriate spots and pull the fabric down around the plants, pushing the loose flaps of fabric back under the plants.

After installing their landscape fabric, many gardeners apply a two-or-three-inch layer of mulch around the plants. This provides a more decorative look to the garden and helps prolong the life of the fabric for an indefinite number of years. Whether it's pine bark or shredded leaves, mulch helps keep the soil around plants, trees and shrubs both moist and warm. Like a warm blanket, mulch helps protect plant roots against the damaging effects of severe winter weather.

The onset of autumn means the outdoor growing season is drawing to a close. But it doesn't mean all those beautiful annuals in your garden must be left to the ravages of ol' man winter.

Many annuals, such as vicas, geraniums, tuberous begonias, ferns, coleus and spirea, can be potted and brought indoors in fall. But the time to begin is now, advise the container gardening experts.

There are several things to consider before transplanting annuals. For instance, only bring in as many plants as you can care for or have room for. Consider where these plants will reside in your home. Also, choose only the hardiest plants.

Next, consider the light, both amount and intensity, the plant will receive. It should be about the same as the plant received outdoors. Is the area free from both cold and warm drafts? And what about humidity levels, especially during heating season.

Finally, when transplanting, it's recommended you use plastic containers. Plastic planters won't chip, crack or fade, nor leak water onto carpets or furniture. They hold moisture longer than other containers. And plastic planters come in a variety of shapes and sizes, and a rainbow of colors to please the most demanding interior decorating scheme.

When potting, use new potting soil and a new or clean planter. Be careful to take the plant's entire root ball. Cutting into the root system can damage the plant.

Once potted, plants should be sprayed with an insecticide for indoor plants. Follow the manufacturer's directions, but be sure to wet both the top and bottom of leaves, the stem and the top of the root ball. This should take care of any pests planning to spend the winter in your home, munching on your plants!

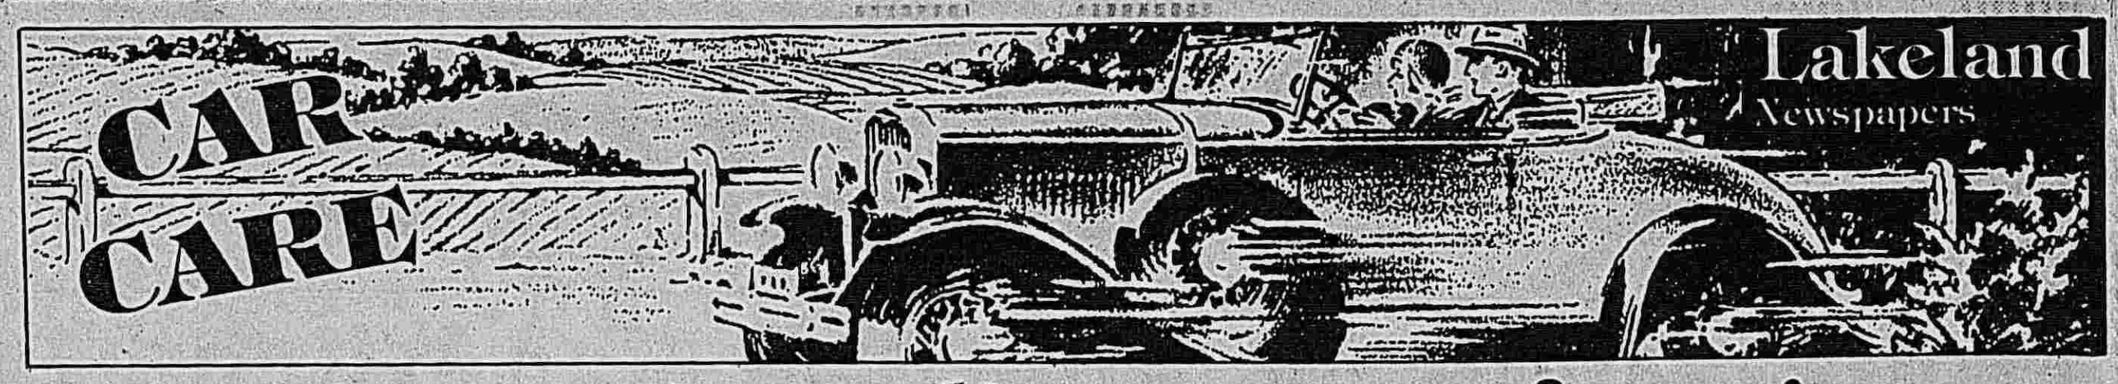

Once sprayed, isolate the plants for a few days on your patio or deck before bringing them indoors. And be sure they receive only filtered sunlight.

Your newly potted plants can now be brought indoors, and will continue to give you pleasure throughout the winter season. Be sure to check them for moisture frequently, and fertilize every month. This will allow you to enjoy summer—all year long.

Prepping car's cooling system for winter

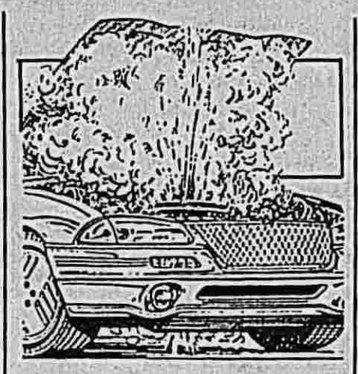

Winter has an uncanny way of creeping up on even the most efficient, most organized car owner. Every car, even a new one, is a candidate for thorough cooling system inspection.

Here is a systematic checklist that you can do in your own driveway, in about an hour.

Inspect for cooling system leaks by starting the car and allowing pressure to naturally build up in the system. After warming up the engine, the radiator hoses will become noticeably stiffer, indicating adequate pressure in the system. Turn off the engine.

With the aid of a flashlight, inspect the exterior of the radiator, and the upper and lower hoses connected to the radiator. Check all the other smaller, cooling system hoses, connected by clamps, to the front of the engine. You should immediately replace any hoses that have cuts, abrasions or bulges.

Most cooling system hoses fail from the inside. So, to avoid an unexpected burst or pinhole leak, replace the hoses—especially the upper radiator hose—every four years.

Before inspecting the antifreeze/coolant, make sure the system's pressure has dropped. (The upper radiator hose will feel soft and lukewarm). Do no let the system become cold, however, because any sediment will settle to the bottom of the radiator, and corrosion will be hard to detect.

Wear protective glasses and, using a heavy rag, slowly turn the radiator cap halfway. Do not remove the cap entirely until you are sure there is no pressure. Once it has been removed, inspect the cap's rubber gasket for any signs of cracking. Replace the cap if its condition is questionable.

Inspect the antifreeze. If it has an oily, reddish-brown foam, it may be contaminated by leaking transmission fluid. If the antifreeze is rusty, the cooling system may need a chemical cleaning and flushing. Do-it-yourself kits are available at parts stores, or professional service will cost under $50. You should flush the system every two years.

Once the flush is complete, refill the system with a mixture of antifreeze and water that is at least 50 percent, but no more than 70 percent, antifreeze. This recommended mixture will offer freeze protection to at least 10 degrees below zero, and will provide boilover and anticorrosin protection in most cases.

Do not mix different brands of antifreeze. Some brands are not fully compatible with other brands.

Complete the cooling system service by checking the condition of all drive belts. Several V-shaped belts, a single, long V-ribbed belt, or a combination of both, may be required to turn the cooling system water pump and other accessories. Twist the belt to look for excessive cracks, fraying of the reinforcement, glazed sidewalls (if it's a V-belt), and missing chunks of ribs if it's a V-ribbed belt.

The replacement recommendation is the same for belts and hoses—every four years—or immediately, if damage is severe. A car owner with average mechanical skills can change the modern V-ribbed belt in less than an hour.

To complete your pre-winter check list, you should check several other car parts. Inspect the depth of the tire treads, check the windshield wiper blades for tears, cracks and uneven wear, refill the windshield washer reservoir, and clean off the battery cable terminals.

Preparing your car for winter driving this autumn is a good investment in carefree driving. Easy-to-perform preventive maintenance can save you the cost and inconvenience of a break-down, or the torment of a no-start on a frigid winter morning.
